REDS RAID JAPANESE

Crisis Brought on in Manchuria

Russians Invade Consulate in Hunt for Evidence of Asserted Smuggling

Wild Scene of Riot as 1200 Coolies Strive to Seize Province Head

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)
HARBIN, May 18. (Exclusive) A serious crisis between the soviet authorities and the Japanese in Manchuria has resulted from the raid of the soviet Cheka in raiding and searching the Japanese consulate located at Blagovestchensk. A dispatch from Harbin says that the Japanese have dismissed the Consul from Harbin to investigate the situation.

The reason for the soviet raid is said on the information supplied to the Cheka that the Japanese Consulate was engaged in the smuggling of foodstuffs and manifests into Siberia across the river from the Chinese town. The Japanese charge is false and no evidence was found as a result of the raid.

A Japanese News Agency dispatch from Harbin today states that there have been serious riots among Manchurian farmers and laborers with the soviet marine police in the vicinity of Khabarovsk as a result of a serious food crisis. The report also says that all trains have arrived behind the railway stations in order to obtain food while en route. In several instances it is said the peasants are reported to have held up the transports and removed the food.

Harbin further asserts that a panicky atmosphere is prevailing not only in the villages in the vicinity of Khabarovsk due to the shortage of food throughout Manchuria as a result of the Red occupation at Vladivostok has resulted in order to cope with the situation.

OFFICIALS ARRESTED

MOSCOW, May 18. (AP)—Chinese officials in the Manchurian area announced the confiscation of confiscated documents has revealed that Communists were directed to find agitations in China proper.

Arrests are said to have followed the sending money to various parts of China, especially Shanghai. The authorities said further that the documents revealed partial plans of the kidnapings of foreigners and wealthy Chinese executed by the Communists in order to obtain, from ransoms, finances the Communist party in China. Documents which are yet to be examined, the dispatch announced, are expected

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 18. [To the Editor of The Times:] Been reading these Frenchmen's books they leave after they are dead. It looks like some of 'em died just to start an argument. France awaits the death of each one to find out what he thought of the others. A "best seller" is the one that can dig up the most dirt. There ought to be a law in every country making a man read his autobiography out loud before his enemies and see what happens. As it is now a fellow can call you anything he wants to and make you still madder by dying before you can get at him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, May 18. (Exclusive) (By Wireless) After a quick and easy start we made a very slow voyage until we passed Basle, Dr. Eckener heading the ship, with his fine weather instinct, around three heavy thunderstorms.

We reached the French frontier at sunset and are now making better speed en route to Besancon and Lyons, from which cities good weather is reported, and we ought to reach Marseilles in the small hours of the morning.

Since the ship steadied down after the first rocking the passengers have heartily enjoyed their first dinner of venison with real Spanish noodles.

Since passing Chalons we have been flying under clear skies and speeding up, and we are now at 10 p.m. traveling at well in excess of seventy miles an hour. Thus we should reach the Mediterranean aft-

JAPANESE CRAWLS INTO ENGINE FIRE BOX

SPOKANE (Wash.) May 18. (AP) After worrying two days over disciplining given him by his superiors, Y. Nagasaka, a Japanese employee in the Great Northern repair shops, crawled into a roaring firebox of a boiler and was cremated last night, Dr. I. S. Collins, deputy Coroner, said.

FLOCK LOSES SHEPHERD

Mrs. McPherson Missing

Leader Fails to Meet Her Party and Whereabouts Left in Mystery

Evangelist Last Reported in Istanbul With Daughter; Pilgrims in Paris

PARIS, May 18. (Exclusive)—Some forty or so of Aimee McPherson's pilgrims arrived here today minus their shepherd who, when last heard of, was somewhere east of Suez accompanied by her daughter and a pair of guides.

It seems that the Los Angeles evangelist and her daughter, Roberta, quit the tour they were conducting in Palestine in the middle of April and headed for Istanbul to write a series of oratorios. Mrs. McPherson was scheduled to rejoin the party at Oberammergau to attend the Passion Play, but when the group arrived there it received a wire stating that Mrs. McPherson had been detained in Istanbul, presumably by the illness of her daughter.

NO WORD RECEIVED

Since then no word has been received from the leader as to her whereabouts and the pilgrims have not the slightest inkling of her plans.

Inquiries at the pilgrims' hotel regarding Mrs. McPherson at the time it was generally believed that she was en route to Paris were met with baffling and vague answers.

One group of women pilgrims who were questioned exchanged significant glances and finally a gray-haired, spectacled woman replied in acidulous tones. "We really do not known. Mrs. McPherson has not informed us of her movements. We cannot say whether she plans to come to Paris or not."

SEVERAL WORRIED

Nobody in the party, even the managers of the tour, could state whether Mrs. McPherson is still in Istanbul. Some of the members of the flock are worried about her and expressed the hope that her daughter is well by this time.

Most of the pilgrims agreed that the trip was "perfectly lovely." Further questioning revealed that the pilgrims were incensed at "utterly false" news stories sent from Jerusalem. They denied that the party had been expelled by the Jerusalem authorities for wearing Arab costumes, and also denied that they were shadowed by detectives or molested in any way by the natives. The pilgrims seemed particularly perturbed at a report that soldiers were needed to protect them during a baptism ceremony in the Jordan River.

Two Killed and Twenty Injured in Bus Collision

CANTON (O.) May 18. (AP)—Two passengers on a Detroit-to-Pittsburgh motor bus were injured fatally, two more passengers and the driver were injured dangerously, and eighteen other occupants of the bus were hurt, some of them seriously, in a collision between the bus and a truck and trailer, fifteen miles north of here today.

The dead were: Jake Hubbard, 32 years of age, of Alliance, O., a passenger, and Mrs. W. M. Emery, Bellevue, Pa.

Those believed dying in hospitals at Akron and here tonight, are Edward Bioshear, 29, of Pittsburgh, driver of the bus. He has a fractured skull and internal injuries; Mrs. Delia Welch, 34, of St. Albans, Vt., she has a fractured skull and lacerations, and W. M. Emery, 51, Bellevue, fractured skull and internal injuries.

MASS JUMPING RECORD SET

Twenty Bail Out of Plane Over Roosevelt Field; Photographer Works on Way Down

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) May 18. (Exclusive)—A world's record for massed parachute jumping was established over this field this afternoon when twenty jumpers left the cabin and wing of a twin-motored Curtiss Condor while a crowd of 5000 persons watched. The jumpers "bailed out" of nacelle and cabin so fast that they were all in the air together.

Armand Lizette, news reel photographer, one of those who jumped, rode out on a wing and kept his camera grinding as his fellow-jumpers shot downward from the speeding machine. When all but one had jumped Lizette, still clutching his camera went over the side of the turret in which he had been riding and after pulling his rip cord and settling comfortably under the silken umbrella he again started making pictures as he floated downward.

Henry Bushmeyer, the last to leap, made a "delayed" jump and fell several thousand feet before opening his 'chute, catching up with the others.

The plane was flying at about eighty miles an hour and the jumpers after their white parasols had caught the air were spread out on an uneven line against the sky for a half-mile. A stiff south wind was blowing above 1500 feet and carried the dangling parachute troupe northward across electric wires beyond the confines of Roosevelt Field to an open meadow close to the Long Island Railroad right of way.

It had been planned to take up twenty-two jumpers but Orwin Harwood, Department of Commerce inspector at the field, ruled that twenty was enough. The previous record for a group jump at Roosevelt Field was sixteen.

TRAINMEN KILLED IN CRASH

Engineer Sacrifices Self and Fireman in Vain Attempt to Avoid Hitting Boy in Stalled Car

HAMMOND (La.) May 18. (AP)—The engineer and fireman of the Illinois Central Railroad Panama Limited were fatally injured, a 14-year-old boy was seriously hurt and three passengers, including a woman, were slightly injured early today when the boy's automobile stalled on the track at Tangipahoa Station and was hit by the train. The locomotive and tender overturned and three cars were derailed.

Leon (Bud) Ford, 56 years of age, engineer, of Hammond, and Harry Watts, Negro, fireman, of McComb, Miss., died of steam burns.

J. P. Wall, Jr., 14, of Hammond, driver of the car, was taken to a New Orleans hospital, seriously injured.

ENGINEER'S SACRIFICE

If the boy lives it will be because Engineer Ford sacrificed his own life and that of his fireman to save him.

Scalded and dying, in the arms of his old friend, L. M. McLaurine, who for years had been conductor of the trains Ford ran, he whispered that he had tried to live up to his pledge never again to drive his engine into another accident.

Ford had had an accident before and its horror preyed on his mind. Investigation proved him blameless.

Seeing young Wall struggling frantically with the levers of his stalled car at the crossing, Bud Ford yelled a warning to his fireman and jerked his brake handle down to "full" knowing well that it would throw his engine off the track.

HURLED FORTY FEET

The engine failed to jump in time to avoid the car, which was knocked forty feet.

Ford and his fireman were thrown clear of the engine, but not until steam had scared their bodies. Among the first to reach the engineer was Conductor McLaurine.

"Well, Mr. Mac I'm done for," mumbled the engineer. "I wasn't going to add another to the list so I tried to save him by applying the brakes." Then he died.

The engine carried four coaches with it off the track, but the coaches remained upright and only a few passengers were injured, none seriously.

FOUR DIE IN CUBAN DISORDER

Score Injured as Result of Clash Between Troops and Nationalists

ARTEMISA (Cuba) May 18. (AP)—Four persons were killed today and twenty others severely injured when soldiers broke up a Nationalist mass meeting. Shots were exchanged between the troops and the Nacionalistas, who are opponents of President Machado.

Those killed were Lieut. Alberto De Silva and Corp. Leon of the army, Manuel Arozamena, retired captain of aviation, and Miguel Serra, a concession owner.

The rioting started shortly after Col. Carlos Mendieta, leader of the Nationalist organizations, arrived at the meeting. The crowd was assembling around the speaker's platform to hear a speech, when Lieut. De Silva leaped on the stand. He warned the orator not to mention the name of Julio Mella, Cuban student who was killed in January, 1919, at Mexico City and then took a place among the listeners.

A quarrel broke out and a captain of the rural guards came through the crowd with a troop of twenty-six men. A sudden burst of fire, said to have come from the belfry of a near-by church, then threw the massed men and women into panic.

WOMAN DIES IN CRASH

OLYMPIA (Wash.) May 18. (AP)—Mrs. H. Perry of Tacoma was instantly killed today when the car in which she was riding was struck and overturned by a machine driven by Miss Caroline Kiel of Seattle.

HOOVER AND PARTY HUG FIREPLACE

Chilly Rains Keep Most of Presidential Group at River Camp Indoors

ORANGE (Va.) May 18. (AP)—Persistent chilly rains kept President Hoover and a party of friends grouped around a blazing log fire today in the communal hall of the Presidential camp on the Rapidan River.

After the bleak mountain air of the President's retreat had been chilled by the continual downpour of last night, the group did not feel like engaging in the customary outdoor activities. Only one or two of the hardiest undertook brief hikes, while the President and the majority of the group of thirteen discussed events of the day or chatted of their hobbies.

With the unpaved mountain roads approaching the camp slippery and treacherous from the rain, the party left the camp earlier than usual this afternoon for the return trip to Washington.

Race Track Trio Burn to Death in Motor Crash

COLLINSVILLE (Ill.) May 18. (AP) Jimmy Shelton, 23 years of age, veteran jockey at Fairmount race track; James Eaton, 25, an exercise boy, and Randall Smallwood, 37, a jockey's agent, burned to death early today, when their automobile caught fire after crashing into a concrete abutment on a road three miles northeast of this city.

They were apparently stunned by the crash and trapped in the car.

The three were returning from a dance hall near Troy, Ill., when the accident occurred. Smallwood was driving.

Children Guests at Capone Pool

MIAMI (Fla.) May 18. (AP)—Al Capone, Chicago gang leader, who has been in Miami Police Court recently, took a new role in playing host to fifty boy and girl schoolmates of his 11-year-old son at a swimming party at his Palm Island (Miami Beach) estate.

J. P. Simmons, boys' work and athletic director of the school, presented to Capone the request from the youths who said they wanted to swim in Capone's pool. Capone said he was willing to entertain his son's friends providing they obtained the written consent of their parents.

TORNADO KILLS SIXTEEN, INJURES 100 IN ARKANSAS

Southwest Area Floodswept With Great Numbers Homeless; Red Cross Renders Aid

Storm and flood, terrors of the Mississippi Valley, visited two sections of Arkansas Sunday, a tornado causing the loss of sixteen lives, and the flood evicting from their homes about 2500 persons in an area of thirty square miles.

Another tornado was reported in Pennsylvania, injuring eight persons. Three other persons were killed in a Texas storm.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) May 19. (AP)—A tornado striking in East Arkansas early today killed at least sixteen persons, all Negroes, and injured perhaps a hundred, while flood waters swept over a vast area in Southwest Arkansas, leaving hundreds homeless in the oil fields section and causing huge property damage.

The tornado fatalities were in the town of Elaine, near Helena, and on the levee-inclosed Lambrook plantation, owned by Gerard B. Lambert, a St. Louis pharmaceutical manufacturer. Eleven negroes were killed on the Lambrook plantation, on which virtually all buildings were demolished; two were killed at Elaine; two were killed on the Howe brothers' rice farm, two miles west of Wabash, and one on a plantation between the rice farm and Elaine.

Smackover Creek overflowed in the oil field section near Eldorado, which, together with a flood from the Red River, brought one of the most serious flood situations Southwest Arkansas ever has known.

TOWNS UNDER WATER

Many persons are reported marooned and rescue parties are searching the flood waters in boats.

The oil field towns of Kenova, Griffin and Louann are under water and the residents are being taken to Smackover, which is partly inundated, and to El Dorado.

The American Red Cross has begun rescue and relief work, establishing headquarters in the City Hall at Smackover.

Midwestern headquarters of the Red Cross at St. Louis are rushing relief workers to the section.

Measles already has broken out in the refugee camp at Smackover and fear of an outbreak of typhoid resulted in a hurried call for serum.

The Red River is on a rampage in Southwest Arkansas and Northeast Texas, demoralizing rail and highway traffic.

Hundreds of persons north of Texarkana are moving out of the lowlands, many of them taking household goods with them. Rescue work is under way also in that section.

No loss of life is reported either in the Eldorado or Texarkana flood sections.

HEAVY RAINFALL

Although the Elaine section is the only place in Arkansas known to have been struck by a tornado, one struck the town of Somerville, Tenn., injuring persons.

The floods in Southwest Arkansas followed several days of heavy rainfall, which also has brought serious high water situations in other sections of the State. Highways in many sections of the State are under water, bridges have been washed out and rail traffic in some places has been interrupted.

Highways in the Elaine section also are in bad condition, which handicapped tornado relief work and made it difficult to determine whether there were any fatalities in addition to the sixteen Negroes or to determine the number of injured.

The known dead as a result of the tornado include: David Hannon and Minnie Robinson, Elaine; Pearl Williams, Andrew Atkins, Emma Kirkwood, Alec Moore, Maggie Moorehead and L. Fitzpatrick, all adults, and May and Eunice Kirkwood, children, on the Lambrook plantation; Mary Perry and her brother Glenn, on the farm near Wabash, and four unidentified.

ENGS TRAIL UNCOVERED

Hundreds Hunt Missing Judge

Man Answering Description Reported Seen in Hayward

Store Proprietor Tells of Stranger on Way to San Jose

OAKLAND, May 18. (AP)—Superior Judge Edward W. Engs of Oakland and Downieville is still missing tonight after sixty hours of fruitless search.

A hunt participated in by hundreds of police, Boy Scouts and posses of citizens succeeded only in deepening the mystery of the jurist's disappearance.

Judge Engs left his home in the Oakland hills early Friday morning, only a few hours before he was to preside over the final day's session of a graft conspiracy trial involving three former deputy sheriffs and an asserted bootlegger.

Although searchers, spurred to intensive efforts by offers of $1000 in rewards, had traced down scores of possible clews as daylight waned tonight, they met only with failure

TWO THEORIES ADVANCED

Two theories have been advanced to explain Judge Engs's absence. Many of those closest to him believe he will never be found alive, that he succumbed to a nervous breakdown which has been impending for months and was brought to a crisis by the trial's strain. Some hint that Judge Engs may have ended his own life.

Others believe the jurist simply wandered away from home after suffering the breakdown and will be found alive. This belief was expressed by Dr. W. L. Porter, Judge Engs's personal physician, and by James E. Drew, Chief of Police, and Commissioner Frank Colbourn.

Police dogs were put on the scent today. Taken to the judge's home, where they picked up the trail, the dogs followed it to Ocean View, thence to Acacia street, to Contra Costa Road, thence to Lake Temescal, across the dam to the Sacramento Northern Railroad tracks and down the tracks to Canyon Park. The trail ended on a road leading to Pinehurst, about six miles east of Oakland. The road continued to Hayward.

SEEN IN HAYWARD

A man answering Judge Engs's description was seen in Hayward, Oakland police were told today. Hal Angus, Alameda county deputy clerk at Hayward, reported Mrs. Daniel Cline had seen this man at the end of the Key System street-

FLIVVER CITY SHIFTS TO HIGH

Dearborn, Mich., Makes Greatest Population Gain in 50,000-to-100,000 Census Class

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—Dearborn, Mich., showed the most spectacular gain among sixty-odd cities of 50,000-to-100,000 population thus far reporting in the 1930 census.

Henry Ford's city, over the dividing line with sixty to spare, is about twenty-five times as large now as its population was printed in the 1920 book of census.

Glendale, Cal., 62,807 population, has increased by 363.5 per cent. Two North Carolina towns have made the mark by more than doubling: Greensboro, population, 53,422, coming in on a 188.9 per cent increase, and Durham, population, 52,028, on a 139 per cent increase.

Seven cities showed decreases.

MANY NEWCOMERS

Seventy-five cities were in the 50,000-to-100,000 class in 1920. Ten of these have been graduated into the "more than 100,000" class. But twice as many newcomers have entered on their heels.

Shreveport, La., 164th city in 1920, went farthest up the list, taking position just behind Binghampton, N. Y., 105th city in 1920. Shreveport's present population is 76,207, a gain of 74 per cent.

Right behind Shreveport came three consistent gainers, Pasadena, Cal., 75,875; Huntington, W. Va., 75,727, and Niagara Falls, N. Y., 75,306—158th, 143rd, and 139th, respectively, in 1920—and all take precedence over East St. Louis, Ill., and Troy, N. Y., 106th and 98th, respectively, ten years ago.

Quincy, Mass., with a 50.3 per cent gain, totals 71,965, counteracting Massachusetts decreases of 3.8 for Brockton and 6.2 for Holyoke, both in the 50,000 class. Newton, Mass., 65,285, with a 48.1 per cent increase, is also repared to make good on some of the reported losses of that State's industrial centers.

MONTGOMERY CLIMBS

In Alabama, the city of Montgomery, increasing by 51.1 per cent, totals 65,801, almost catching up with Mobile, population 65,817 on an 8.2 per cent increase.

Terre Haute, Ind., decreasing by 5.4 per cent, 108th city in 1920, with a population of 62,453, now stands just ahead of Wheeling, W. Va., 132nd in 1920, population 61,572 on a 9.8 per cent increase.

Charleston, W. Va., and San Jose, Cal., 190th and 191st cities, respectively, in 1920, both went up the list with increases of 52 and 48.1 per cent, respectively. Charleston's population now is 60,411, San Jose's 57,547.

Austin, Tex., 219th city in 1920, moved up on Galveston, 163rd at that time, to the tune of 48 per cent increase as against 17.3 per cent increase. Austin now has 51,435 population, Galveston, 51,930.

FREUD TELLS WHY MODERN LIFE BRINGS DISCONTENT

Failure of Reality to Gratify Our Instincts Basis of Misery, Says Psychoanalyst

In the first of the six daily instalments into which the latest book "Civilization and Its Discontents" by the celebrated psychoanalyst has been divided for publication here, Dr. Freud described the means by which human beings seek to ease the pain of civilized existence—such as powerful diversions of interest, substitute gratifications which lessen misery, and intoxicants, which make men less sensible to their discomforts. The next instalment, the second, elaborates on these methods and takes up other influences on happiness.

BY PROFESSOR SIGMUND FREUD

The complicated structure of our mental apparatus admits of a whole series of other kinds of influence than those previously discussed. The gratification of instincts is happiness, but when the outer world lets us starve, refuses us satisfaction of our need, they become the cause of very great suffering.

So the hope is born by influencing these impulses one may escape some measure of suffering. This type of defense against pain no longer relates to the sensory apparatus; it seeks to control the internal sources of our needs themselves.

EAST KILLS INSTINCTS

An extreme form of it consists in annihilation of the instincts, as taught by the wisdom of the East and practiced by the Yogi.

The same way is taken when the aim is less extreme and only control of the instincts sought. When this is so, the higher mental systems which recognise the reality principle have the upper hand. The aim of gratification is by no means abandoned in this case; a certain degree of protection against suffering is secured, in that lack of satisfaction causes less pain when the instincts are kept in check than when they are unbridled.

On the other hand, this brings with it an undeniable reduction in the degree of enjoyment obtainable. The feeling of happiness produced by indulgence of a wild, untamed craving is incomparably more intense than is the satisfying of a curbed desire. The irresistibility of perverted impulses, perhaps the charm of forbidden things generally, may in this way be explained economically.

ANOTHER PAIN GUARD

Another method of guarding against pain is by using the libido displacements that our mental equipment allows of, by which it gains so greatly in flexibility. See footnote.) The task is then one of transferring the instinctual aims into such directions that they cannot be frustrated by the outer world.

Sublimation of the instincts lends an aid in this. Its success is greatest when a man knows how to heighten sufficiently his capacity for obtaining pleasure from mental and intellectual work. Fate has little power against him then.

This kind of satisfaction, such as the artist's joy in creation, in embodying his phantasies, or the scientist's in solving problems or discovering truth, has a special quality which we shall certainly one day be able to define metapsychologically.

Until then we can only say, metaphorically it seems to us "higher and finer," but compared with that of satifying gross primitive instincts its intensity is tempered and diffused; it does not overwhelm us physically.

AVAILABLE TO FEW

The weak point of this method, however, is that it is not generally applicable; it is available only to the few. It presupposes special gifts and dispositions which are not very commonly found in a sufficient degree. And even to these few it does not secure complete protection against suffering; it gives no invulnerable armor against the arrows of fate and it usually fails when a man's own body becomes a source of suffering to him.

This behavior reveals clearly enough its aim—that of making oneself independent of the outer world, by looking for happiness in the inner things of the mind; in the next method the same features are even more marked. The connection with reality is looser still; satisfaction is obtained through illusions, which are recognized as such, without the discovery between them and reality being allowed to interfere with the pleasure they give.

These illusions are derived from the life of phantasy which, at the time when the sense of reality developed, was expressly exempted from the demands of the reality-test and set apart for the purpose of fulfilling wishes which would be very hard to realize. At the head of these phantasy-pleasures stands the enjoyment of works of art, which through the agency of the artist is opened to those who cannot themselves create.

ART MILD NARCOTIC

Those who are sensitive to the influence of art do not know how to rate it high enough as a source of happiness and consolation in life. Yet art affects us but as a mild narcotic and can provide no more than a temporary refuge for us from the hardships of life; its influence is not strong enough to make us forget real misery.

Another method operates more energetically and thoroughly; it regards reality as the source of all suffering, as the one and only enemy, with whom life is intolerable and with whom, therefore, all relations must be broken off, if one is to be happy in any way at all. The hermit turns his back on this world; he will have nothing to do with it.

But one can do more than that; one can try to re-create it, try to build up another instead, from which the most unbearable features are eliminated and replaced by others corresponding to one's own wishes. He who in his despair and defiance sets out on this path will not as a rule get very far; reality will be too strong for him. He becomes a madman and usually finds no one to help him in carrying through his delusion.

RELIGION MASS DELUSION

It is said, however, that each one of us behaves in some respect like the paranoiac, substituting a wish-fulfillment for some aspect of the world which is unbearable to him, and carrying this delusion through into reality. When a large number of people make this attempt together and try to obtain assurance of happiness and protection from suffering by a delusional transformation of reality, it acquires special significance.

The religions of humanity, too, must be classified as mass-delusions of this kind. Needless to say, no one who shares a delusion recognizes it as such.

Footnote:

When there is no special disposition in a man imperatively prescribing the direction of his life interest, the ordinary work all can do for a livelihood can play the part which Voltaire wisely advocated it should do in our lives. It is not possible to discuss the significance of work for the economies of the libido adequately within the limits of a short survey. Laying stress upon importance of work has a greater effect than any other technique of living in the direction of binding the individual more closely to reality; in his work he is at least securely attached to a part of reality, the human community. Work is no less valuable for the opportunity and the human relations connected with it, provide for a very considerable discharge of libidinal component-impulses, narcissistic, aggressive and even erotic, than because it is indispensable for subsistence and justifies existence in a society. The daily work of earning a livelihood affords particular satisfaction when it has been selected by free choice, i.e., when through sublimation it enables use to be made of existing inclinations, if instinctual impulses that have retained their strength, or are more intense than usual for constitutional reasons. And yet as a path to happiness work is not valued very highly by men. They do not run after it as they do after other opportunities for gratification. The great majority work only when forced by necessity and this natural human aversion to work gives rise to the most difficult social problems.

Marriage Bureau Stays Open Late Waiting for Girl to Be 21 Years of Age

NEW YORK, May 18. (AP) The marriage license bureau usually closes at noon on Saturdays, but it was kept open for an extra fifteen minutes yesterday while a clerk waited for Eva Unrath, Philadelphia nurse, to come of age.

Miss Unrath and Carl W. Backus, chemist, appeared in the morning and asked for a license, but Miss Unrath hadn't a parent's written consent and her birth certificate showed she wouldn't be 21 until a few minutes past noon, so an employee stayed at his desk until 12:15 to issue the license.

GIRL FLYER ARRIVES AT SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE (Straits Settlements) May 18 (AP)—Miss Amy Johnson, 23-year-old British aviatrix, made a perfect landing at the Singapore air base today, talked for a few minutes to those who met her there, and then went away for a square meal of British cooking. The officers here entertained her at their mess hall.

Landing after a 480-mile trip from Singora, on the east coast of the Malay Peninsula, she waved cheerfully to the crowd about her and announced that mishaps on the latter part of her flight have made it impossible for her to beat Bert Hinkler's fifteen-day record from England to Australia, but that she will go on just the same.

"I hope to reach Australia in two and a half-days' time," she said, "but if I have a head wind it may take three or three and one-half days."

She said the worst part of her flight had been from Calcutta to Singora, where rainstorms and poor visibility compelled her to land more than she had considered necessary. She took tix hours to reach here from Singora.

HUNT FOR KIDNAPED BABY FAILS

California Trains Watched For Woman and Child She Stole in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 18. (AP)—The search for 2-year-old Mary Agnes Moroney, kidnaped Thursday, was still fruitless tonight, police said, after receiving reports from various western points where fifteen Chicago to California trains had been searched.

The baby was taken by a woman who called herself Julia Otis, social worker. Mrs. Moroney and her husband, in straitened financial circumstances, had written to a philanthropic column in a Chicago newspaper, asking aid. Julia Otis responded. She bought garments for Anastasia Moroney, 1 year of age, and supplies for the child, Mrs. Moroney expects soon. Then she asked to take Mary Agnes to a store for outfitting. She has not been seen since.

A letter was received yesterday by Mrs. Moroney purporting to have been written by Julia Otis, informing her that she was on her way to California with the baby and a nurse and not to worry because she would return in two months.

The mother, however, is near collapse, in care of relatives.

Schedule Calls for Landing at Seville This Evening

First Stop to be Made There on Journey to Brazil

er midnight and Barcelona at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Sun squalls are prevailing at the landing field in Seville, preventing a landing before sunset tomorrow and Dr. Eckener has just promised us a long extra promenade over the North African coast.

START MADE UNDER MURKY SKY

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN (Germany) May 18. (AP)—Under a glowering, murky sky the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, sailed from this city late today on an 18,000-mile cruise which will take it twice across the Atlantic and, for the first time, south of the equator.

The ground crew, relieving the huge craft at 5:18 p.m., (11:18 A. M. E. S. T.,) started it on its way on the first lap of its flight to Seville, Spain, where it expects to arrive tomorrow evening between 5 and 6 p.m. It will moor there for the night, and take off Tuesday morning on the 5000-mile trip to Pernambuco and Rio Janeiro, Brazil.

There were sixty-four persons aboard at the take-off, twenty-two passengers, and forty-two officers and members of the crew. Dr. Hugo Eckener, who has piloted the craft on every one of its major cruises save one, is in command. Of the passengers, four are Americans and four are women. Six are booked as far as Seville only, others to be taken aboard there will complete the passenger complement to South America.

COURSE ANNOUNCED

Dr. Eckener, leaving his office for the hangar shortly before the ship's take-off, announced that, as far as he could determine, the course would be by way of Neuchatel, in the Swiss Juras, and thereafter depending on the weather, by way of Geneva or Pontarlier. Although he said beyond that he could not prognosticate, it is understood the craft probably will head down the Rhone Valley toward Marseilles, where it will follow the Mediterranean coast toward Gibraltar and Seville.

Start of the craft was delayed somewhat when Dr. Eckener found atmospheric conditions had made it too heavy. He ordered half a ton of weight taken off, half of it in oil and half in water ballast. The auxiliary engine, upon which the gyroscope compass and radio are dependent, then had to be cooled with compressed air, since it had been tuned up two hours before the start and was in danger of overheating.

FIRST ARRIVAL

Lady Grace Drummond-Hay was the first of the passengers to arrive at the hangar, Carrying some evening dresses on hangers under one arm, she went immediately to her stateroom. Others arrived thereafter and stood about as the band played for the crowd of well wishers who had gathered for the take-off. Frau Eckener, smiling, presented her husband with two red carnations which she said will bring him luck.

As the Graf rose the crowd roared its bon voyage and the band played "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Although weather reports for the start of the trip once Lake Constance was crossed were favorable, conditions here were anything but pleasant. The sky was hazy and cloud-covered, with a threat of rain. There was very little wind.

SIX TONS OF GAS

Besides passengers and crew, the Graf Zeppelin carries with it today six tons of gasoline, 2000 kilograms of oil, 75,000 cubic meters of hydrogen gas, 25,000 cubic meters of blau gas, used for fuel, and nearly two tons of water ballast, the amount of which is to be greatly increased at Seville. These supplies are reckoned as being sufficient for 120 hours' flying.

The ship also carries thirty-five tons useful load, including 1200 pounds of letters and postcards. There are provisions weighing almost 2000 pounds, including 120 bottles of wine, 6000 eggs and 200 pounds of special Zeppelin bread. In anticipation of the hot weather crossing the equator, there are 1500 pounds of ice aboard.

In preparing menus for the transocean journey the chef, Otto Manz, apparently made no concessions whatever to Spanish tastes. His menus include such items as Lake Constance fish, pigs' ribs, veal fricandeau, "sauerbraten," fattened chicken a la Zeppelin, and thick suabian soups.

The present trip of the Graf Zeppelin, figuring its course roughly, should approximate 18,000 miles, just 1000 miles less than its most ambitious venture thus far, the trip last year around the world, which took about 19,000 miles.

EXPECTED OUTBREAK OCCURS IN INDO-CHINA

PARIS, May 18. (Exclusive)—The unrest which has been brewing in Indo-China for some time broke out yesterday when a mob of 1500 coolies carrying red flags surrounded the administrative chief of the Province of Sadec while he was making an inspection tour of the village of Tan Douna.

Local gendarmerie rescued the official before the infuriated crowd forced entry into the house, and troops which were rushed from Saigon to restore order made many arrests.

News of the outbreak was received here this evening and the Nationalist newspaper La Liberte warns the government that "the situation is too grave for Premier Andre Tardieu not to give it his entire attention."

VIOLENCE FEARED

"Unless the government acts with extreme energy to overcome the agitation fomented in Moscow, our colonies will redouble with violence," the paper says.

Supplementing this the Communist newspaper L'Humanite declares that entire Indo-China, particularly Annam and Tongking, is seething with revolt and order has not been re-established despite the violent efforts of the gendarmerie and troops.

L'Humanite asserts the textile workers of Cochin-China have revolted and that the coolies of many plantations are striking, also the railway workers.

Everywhere, the article says, the Red flag is waving and the Internationale is being sung.

HEAVY SENTENCES

L'Humanite blames the heavy penalties by the Criminal Commission of Yen Bay given at the recent strikers' trials as responsible for the latest flare-up, citing that there were thirteen condemnations to death, one sentenced to hard labor for life and one sentenced to fifteen years in prison for a first offense.

Following this the commission sentenced thirty-nine coolies to death, thirty-three to life imprisonment at hard labor, four deported and nine to twenty years imprisonment. Forty-four former soldiers were among those sentenced.

The Criminal Commission now is preparing to deal with 300 natives arrested at Phu Tha and sixty arrested at Kien, according to L'Humanite.

L'Humanite says airplanes dropped fifty-three bombs weighing 1400 pounds each, killing twenty-three natives and wounding many more, and while the population fled through the rice fields airplane machine gunners mowed down many more. Afterward all houses left standing after the bombing were systematically destroyed.

Tardieu Sounds Industrialization Call for French

LYONS (France) May 18. (AP)—France's World War veterans were given a new call to action today by Premier Tardieu, who told 3000 delegates of the National Union of Combatants, with a membership of 600,000, that the "hour has come to sound an awakening" for a fifteen-year peaceful fight to develop France and her colonies into a great strong nation of 100,000,000, safe from attack but ready for defense.

He laid a program of industrialization to make France a better place in which to live, and he asked the former soldiers to take the leadership in accomplishing these things, which he said are above politics.

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP ELEANOR BOLLING, AT SEA, May 18. (Exclusive)—Due to a shortage of coal on the Byrd expedition ship the Eleanor Bolling has cut loose from the bark City of New York, which she had been towing since the 1st inst.

The Bolling is now proceeding to Balboa, where she will take on coal and then return to meet the City of New York and resume the tow. Meantime the New York will make all the progress she can under sail.

Bernt Balchen and Harold June, the aviation pilots, and Victor H. Czegka, the machinist, were taken aboard the Bolling, which is expected to arrive at Balboa next Thursday.

During the three weeks that the Bolling towed the City of New York continued adverse winds and currents held down progress.

POISONER HUNTED AS DOGS DIE

Person With Mania for Killing Animals Causes Deaths of 120 Pets

ANACONDA (Mont.) May 18. (AP) Some one with a mania for poisoning animals, and possibly human beings, still is being sought by police tonight as rewards for the capture of the person who distributed poison food about the city, mounted to $450.

One hundred and twenty dogs have died within the last three days from eating poisoned meat and other food believed to have been distributed systematically by a person who sought apparently to poison children as well as the animals. The poison was found also in candy, cookies and doughnuts.

The Sheriff's office, a carpenters' union and a vigilance committee of parents and dog owners have united in a hunt for the poisoner.

HOUSE TO BEGIN DAM HEARINGS

Request for Funds Will be Considered Today

Wilbur Will Show Signed Power Contracts

Arizona Group Ready to Fight Measure

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 18. (Exclusive)—The House Appropriations Committee will hold hearings tomorrow on the request of the Interior Department for $10,660,000 to start construction work on Boulder Dam and although representatives of Arizona will oppose the appropriation there is every indication it will be granted so that the Colorado River project may get under way this summer.

Favorable action by the Appropriations Committee will mean incorporation of the item in the second deficiency bill to be enacted in the closing days of the present session and which, because of its omnibus nature, will be fairly safe from defeat in any filibuster which the Arizona Senators, Ashurst and Hayden, might attempt. Its enactment will make the initial funds for Boulder Dam available July 1, next.

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur of California will go before the House committee tomorrow as the principal witness for the Boulder Dam appropriation and will take with him the power contracts recently signed at Los Angeles supplying the financial basis for the $165,000,000 project.

TO ATTACK CONTRACTS

Representative Douglas of Arizona will be heard in opposition and it is believed his attempt will be to show that these power contracts are not all they should be from the standpoint of the Federal government, and that they do not reasonably guarantee that the Federal Treasury will get its money back within the allotted fifty-year period. Such challenging of the validity and soundness of the contracts is regarded as the only opening given Douglas, as the Appropriations Committee is not concerned with the merits of the river development as threshed over in Congress, but simply with the situation of the work being authorized upon presentation of sound, business contracts guaranteeing that the government's investment will be returned.

Douglas, it is believed, will attempt to make the committee believe that the power contracts offered by the city of Los Angeles, the Metropolitan Water District and the Southern California Edison Company, do not comply with the strict, legal interpretation of the safeguards which Congress wrote into the Boulder Dam Act.

But the contracts have been passed upon favorably by the Budget Bureau and Douglas will fight a battle which even he would admit privately is hopeless. It will simply be another stand by his State against the Colorado River project, although in his case you cannot call it a "gesture," for Douglas has consistently been against the project, believing not only that it wrongs his State, but that it is unsound from an engineering and economic standpoint.

ARIZONANS ARRIVE

Two members of the Arizona Colorado River Commission—State Senator A. H. Favour and John Mason Ross—arrived in Washington today to back up Douglas and appear themselves in the hearings of the House Appropriations Committee accords them the opportunity of testifying. They were accompanied by an engineering adviser, C. C. Cragin of Phoenix.

Ross said tonight that he and Favour and Cragin had come to Washington at the request of the Arizona Congressional delegation. Asked what the plans of his State are for bringing suit to stop Boulder Dam, Mr. Ross said he understood that a suit will be filed if Congress grants the pending appropriation, but this is a matter entirely up to the Attorney-General of Arizona.

This explanation did not alter the opinion prevalent here that Arizona may be bluffing to a large extent and will in the end not file any suit at all. The latest reports in Washington have been that Arizona will enter court with some sort of suit in equity which will not stop Boulder Dam but only make certain phases affecting that State on water and power subject to legal determination. The truth about the matter is that officials here, not being sure of Arizona's sincerity, are hoping the State does something definitely one way or the other very soon—either bring suit in the Supreme Court or drop its opposition and let the project proceed under a clear sky. This attitude was clearly in evidence in Secretary Wilbur's recent "show down" letter to Gov. Phillips.

QUESTION OF COST

In addition to questioning the soundness of the power contracts it is believed Representative Douglas will make an effort to convince the House appropriations group that the Colorado River project will cost much more than the $165,000,000 estimate set for it. However, it is doubtful if the committee will be interested in this speculative angle.

Besides Secretary Wilbur, Commissioner of Reclamation Mead, and the solicitor of the Interior Department, Judge E. C. Finney, will go before the committee tomorrow in support of the Boulder Dam appropriation. They are prepared to meet opposition from all angles and sources and are confident the committee will act favorably.

RITE OF KEEL LAYING REVIVED AT QUINCY

QUINCY (Mass.) May 18. (AP)—The old ceremony of keel-laying, a rare occasion since the days of the clipper ships, was revived here yesterday. The keel of the first of two 25,000-ton passenger liners to be built for the Matson Navigation Corporation of San Francisco was laid with several notables taking part. The first rivet driven was made of iron from the U.S.S. Constitution, "Old Ironsides." When completed the ships will see service in the trade between Australia and Pacific Coast ports.

INDIA SALT-RAID DRIVE PUSHED

Nationalists Invade Depots at Two Points

Hundreds of Hindus Taken in Police Net

Lack of Violence Feature of Encounters

BOMBAY (India) May 18. (AP)—Elaborate police precautions failed today to prevent desultory raiding by Nationalist volunteers on the salt depot at both Dharasana and Wadala. Four hundred Hindus were arrested at Wadala. Others were taken in custody at Dharasana.

At Dharasana a strange struggle occurred between the constabulary and the Nationalists. The latter, crowding to the small town from every part of Gujerat, waited passively until the attention of police were engaged elsewhere and then stepped in to plunder the government salt bins.

During the night the Nationalists discovered the police had left unguarded a small path leading to the salt depot, and immediately groups pressed into the barbed-wire fence surrounding the salt pans. The police rounded them up quickly and released them outside the clearing. However, when the officers returned, they found 100 other volunteers sitting silently in front of the fence.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who since the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji is in charge of the civil disobedience movement, declared the volunteers at Dharasana have "imprisoned the police behind their own bars." Every train brings hundreds of Satyagrahis, as the Nationalist volunteers are called, to the little village where the silent bloodless battle with the police is being waged.

A similar situation prevailed near the salt depot at Wadala. A group of volunteers who spent the night at the public gardens at Matunga, a half-mile away, awoke to find themselves surrounded by police. The volunteers were herded into police vans when it was discovered that seventy-five raiders had slipped away in the direction of Wadala.

Commissioner Healy, in charge of the Police, ordered the leader of the volunteers to bring them back. The leader complied and left for Wadala. Meanwhile, those who had escaped had reached the salt depot and made a raid at the main gate, where a large police force received them.

A group of twenty men then marched to Antop Hill, where they tried to force entrance to the salt depot, but were frustrated by police, who got there first. The raiders sat on the ground to await developments. The police finally took them in custody.

Meanwhile small batches of volunteers, appearing apparently from nowhere, evaded police vigilance and ran up to the salt pans and seized handfuls of salt. They were overtaken before they escaped and taken to a salt shed where the salt was taken from them before they were removed to the detention camp at Worli. There they found others who had been arrested.

Operation on both sides were carried on without violence. Other all-Indian national congress volunteers returned to Matunga after a more successful raid against a part of the Wadala depot and showered handfuls of salt on the police, including their district commissioner, and those who had been arrested.

After arrival of the congress volunteers the Matunga villagers, who had been mere spectators, became active participants. The villagers rushed to the salt pans at unexpected points, removing large quantities of salt. A stream of persons of all ages and both sexes besmeared with mud and slime returned home at noon carrying salt in their caps and shirts. Thirty of the villagers were arrested.

Two lorries full of armed Indian police finally arrived at Wadala to reinforce officers already there.

FILIPINOS STICK TO THEIR GUNS

Hurley's Anti-Independence Advice Disregarded

Acting President of Senate Pledges to Carry On

Mission in Washington Said to Have Free Hand

MANILA, May 18. (AP)—Philippine leaders, commenting today on the sentiment of Secretary of War Hurley that there should be no diminution at present in American control of the islands, reiterated their belief that America is committed to Philippine independence.

The administrative expression of opposition to immediate island independence took the leaders entirely by surprise, but they declared their intention of redoubling their efforts to obtain freedom. Secretary Hurley's sentiment was expressed in a letter to Chairman Bingham of the Senate Territories Committee. The Secretary said he believes immediate independence would be "disastrous" and also asserted that it would be inexpedient and hazardous to attempt to fix a definite date for ultimate independence.

Sergio Osmena, acting president of the Philippine Senate, advised of Secretary Hurley's pronouncement, said:

"With all due respect to the opinion of the Secretary of War, our stand remains the same. We believe the American government and people are definitely committed to Philippine independence. The sooner it is granted the better it will be for all concerned."

Asked whether the Philippine independence mission will remain in America, Osmena said:

"The mission has done its duty well. It will remain in Washington as long as its services are needed. It has complete freedom of action."

Threat of Tong War in Chicago Brings Arrests

CHICAGO, May 18. (Exclusive)—Fearful that a new tong war impends in Chicago Deputy Commissioner John P. Stege sent a squad of detectives today in a raid through the South Side Chinatown and seized forty-four Chinamen, two revolvers and 300 rounds of ammunition. Tonight the prisoners, eleven of whom, Stege said, aroused his special suspicion, are being sorted out and questioned at the detective bureau.

Stege said reports came to him that open hostilities were imminent between the On Leong and the Hip Sing tongs following the selection recently as head of the Hip Sings of Willie Young, well-known Chinatown figure. Young succeeded Willie Wong, now serving time in Leavenworth for dope selling, but the accession of Young quickly caused a split among the Hop Sings, many of whom have gone over to the On Leongs, Stege declared.

NEW BANK PROPOSAL OPPOSED

Economic Disadvantages of New Federal Reserve Plan Stressed in Report

NEW YORK, May 18. (AP)—The economic policy commission of the American Bankers' Association, in a report made public today, say that serious economic disadvantages, especially the danger of inflation, will follow adoption of current proposals aimed at making it easier for members of the Federal Reserve Bank to borrow from their reserve banks.

The commission said the proposals were offered as a remedy for the difficulties from which many banks suffer as a result of great shrinkages in recent years in credit instruments eligible for rediscounting or borrowing.

Admitting installment finance company paper, municipal issues and railroad bonds to Federal reserve credit operations, the commission's report says "might tend to make reserve credit less liquid, throw its working out of step with fundamental business changes and increase the task of preventing the Federal reserve system from being employed as a faculty of inflation."

SUGAR SUPPLIES CALORIES AT THE LOWEST PRICE

Few Foods Return Such High Caloric Value for the Money

Sugar is an inexpensive food. Compared with butter, bacon, macaroni, bread, meats, milk, green vegetables and fresh fruits, sugar supplies the system with far more calories for each cent spent than the same amount expended on any of the rest of the products named.

This fact is significant because the average system requires approximately 3000 calories daily. Of this amount, sixty per cent should be derived from the carbohydrate group of foods to which sugar belongs.

To get the full value of sugar the housewife should consider it in relation to all the foods she chooses for her table. The most inexpensive balanced meal can be made satisfying and complete by a sweet dessert. Canned vegetables, as well as fresh ones, can be much improved in taste appeal if a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is added while they are cooking. Breakfast cereals and stewed dried fruits have added goodness when sugar is added.

Doctors and dietitians approve the use of sugar in making essential foods tasty. For these foods contain vitamins, minerals and roughage — all of which are needed by the system. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Why Is It Individual?

Men sometimes ask why we don't have gym classes at Al Williams'; why we use the individual method only? Well, we couldn't —that's the answer.

The whole Al Williams system is predicated on the proved theory that no two men are structurally, systemically or symptomatically alike. Your body is not exactly like that of your neighbor—your physical depression arises from different causes. Why shouldn't you have an individual plan laid down for you, and executed by you as an individual?

There is no other logical way—there couldn't be.

You are invited to see for yourself—today.

Earnest, serious men who are sincerely interested in learning how to maintain their good health and appearance are invited to investigate the results of this system. It will take only forty-five minutes — perhaps the best investment you ever made.

Methodists Swing Into Last of Conference

Committee to Take Up Stock Charges Again Today

Election of Three Additional Prelates Also Due

(AP)—Swinging into what probably will be the last week of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, here, the delegates tonight looked forward to action on the stock-market speculation charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., and the election of three new bishops.

The episcopacy committee of the church is scheduled to again take up the charges against Bishop Cannon tomorrow afternoon. HOUSE READY TO FINISH UP

Adjournment June 1, Next, Suggested to Senate

Action, However, Dependent on Tariff Settlement

Much Legislation Slated for Attention This Week

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—With but few controverted pieces of important legislation to be disposed of by the House at this session, the Republican leaders in that branch have advised the administration followers in the Senate that adjournment of Congress will be welcomed about June 1, next, if the tariff bill issue is settled.

Speaker Longworth said the House will be able to conclude the session within two weeks after definite action on the tariff by acting on Muscle Shoals and deficiency appropriations legislation.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the House Republican Floor Leader, said it has been planned to bring about adjournment June 1, but added:

"Adjournment now is entirely contingent on the action of the Senate on the tariff."

The other of the big-three Republican House leaders, Representative Snell of New York, takes the view that his branch has "done everything in the course of normal, logical procedure in passing the most important legislation."

SUGGESTION TO SENATE

"We feel the Senate should act on the partial conference report on the tariff and that it should bring its activities up to a par with those of the House, so that adjournment may be had early in June," the New Yorker added.

The House leaders have prepared a program to dispose of a large quantity of miscellaneous legislation during the coming week, including action on the Hawley bill to readjust the method by which the German government may reimburse the United States for expenses incurred by the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine.

While waiting for the Senate to speed action on measures already passed by the House, leaders plan to bring up the Reece plan for the disposal of Muscle Shoals through leasing to private interests. However, it has not been decided when the plan, which is a substitute for the Norris resolution to authorize government operation, is to be taken to the floor.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Failure so far of the House Judiciary Committee to agree on a legislative program to carry out the law enforcement commission's proposals to relieve Federal court congestion, has led Representative Tilson to the belief that those proposals are dead for this session. However, the Judiciary Committee is to meet again Monday in an effort to arrive at a conclusion as to whether they will recommend broadening the powers of United States commissioners to handle minor dry-law violations or to authorize additional Federal judges.

The second deficiency bill pending before the House Appropriations Committee will afford some interest in view of President Hoover's recommendation for $12,660,000 for the initial work on Boulder Canyon Dam on the Colorado River. Hearings are to begin on that item tomorrow, and Representative Douglas, Democrat, Arizona, said he will oppose the Boulder appropriation in the committee and on the floor.

BORDER PATROL PROJECT

Representative Hoch, Republican, Kansas, in charge of the House Interstate Commerce subcommittee handling President Hoover's proposal to unify the border patrol, said it is doubtful if the committee can complete its hearings at this session.

Reorganization of the Federal Power Commission to set up an independent group also is pending before the House Interstate Commerce Committee, with little prospect of action by the House at this session, although the Senate has passed the Couzens bill for this purpose.

Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee expects to bring up his resolution to authorize an investigation into activities of Communists in this country, and there appears to be little opposition to this proposal, although the leaders are understood to have encountered difficulty in selecting a chairman of the proposed special group.

Chairman Williamson of the House Expenditures Committee expects to ask for privileged status on his resolution calling for an investigation by his group of postoffice leasings and contributions to the campaigns by professional lessors of facilities to the Postoffice Department.

• A DARK HOUSE is not attractive to anyone—except a burglar or sneak thief.

Plenty of light, besides making your home a pleasant, comfortable and healthful place to live in, is one of the best protections against prowlers.

When you go out at night, always leave lights in several parts of the house—it will cost you but a few cents a night, and it may save you a heavy burglary loss.

Good lighting also protects against eyestrain, which so often causes defects of vision and poor health.

PATTERSON MAY BE WHALEN HEIR

New York Police Head to Quit Wednesday

Commissioner Deemed His Choice for Successor

Other Changes Scheduled in Organization

NEW YORK, May 18. (Exclusive) There now can be little doubt that Richard C. Patterson, Jr., commissioner of the Department of Corrections of New York, will fill the place at the mahogany desk at police headquarters that Grover A. Whalen intends to abandon Wednesday noon.

It was learned today that for the last month Patterson has been making almost daily visits to Whalen's office, entering the building by a private door and riding to the office of the commissioner in Whalen's private elevator.

OTHER CHANGES

Whalen has refused to confirm or deny this information, but it has been definitely stated by high officials of the department that Whalen has been grooming Patterson to take up the police work where he leaves off.

There will be other changes in the force when Whalen checks out. Chief Inspector O'Brien who is now 64 years of age, in all probability will resign, the headquarters know-it-all say, and Assistant Chief Inspector Edward P. Mulrooney has been mentioned as his successor.

SALARY TOO LOW

It is mandatory that when the commissioner leaves the job, the five deputy commissioners resign. They are usually reinstated immediately by the new commissioner, but this time Fourth Deputy Commissioner Nelson Ruttenberg plans to quit.

Ruttenberg is a lawyer. He has been the chief adviser to Whalen and he has made no secret to his friends that he cannot longer get along on the $7500 salary.

The clerical and publicity squad that Whalen brought to headquarters, including Christy Bohnsack, the head ballyhoo man, will go along with him.

MOTHERS PRAY AT GRAVESIDES

Gold Star Pilgrims Kneel in Suresnes Cemetery

Pride for Soldiers Restores Women's Composure

Seventeen Place Wreaths on Mounds of Heroes

PARIS, May 18. (AP)—Seventeen gold star mothers whose sons sleep their last sleep on the slopes of Mt. Valerien at Suresnes, just outside Paris, had their first real test of fortitude today when they knelt and prayed beside their graves.

Although plainly shaken with grief at first, many of them sobbing, pride for their soldier dead soon restored their composure.

The cemetery visit was devoid of all official pomp and speeches, the mothers wishing to be alone with their sons buried on the beautiful green hill where every grave is marked with a white marble slab on which the name is engraved in black.

WREATHS ON GRAVES

Col. G. G. Bartlett, who has been in charge of the pilgrimage, accompanied the mothers on their automobile trip from Paris to the cemetery, where the caretaker, James Duncan, a former A.E.F. lieutenant, gave each of them a huge wreath of flowers to place on the graves of the loved one.

One of the mothers, Mrs. Elsie Anderson of Ohio, declared: "I never thought I would live to see this day." She carefully removed the French and American flags Duncan had placed above each of the graves, and folding them, said: "These are going back to the United States with me."

Wreaths of white flowers were placed on each of six graves holding unidentified dead in the Suresnes Cemetery by Mmes. Katherine Brockman and Rosa Lorenz of Ohio, Clara Divine of Kentucky, Lula Harbo Ryan of New York, Helen Simkin and Rose Stevens of Iowa, Emma Taylor of Arkansas, Kittie Wood of Nebraska and Cecilia Schmidt.

GERMAN KIN PRESENT

Relatives of the Schmidt family from Munich, Germany, accompanied Mrs. Schmidt to the grave of her son, who may have died fighting their own closer kin and his cousins, who were in the German army.

Other mothers who were present at the Suresnes ceremony are Mmes. Mary Hughes Horn of Ohio, Alice Fletcher of Kentucky, Nola Durham and Amy Evans of Nebraska, Delia Golly of Iowa and Anna Keiser.

TEST GIVEN TO PUPILS ON BIBLE

Answers Indicate Leaning to un-Christian Ideals by Chicago Children

CHICAGO, May 18. (Exclusive)—School children understand passages in the Bible dealing with the life of teachings of Christ better than they grasp the Old Testament, and comprehend even more readily the Acts and the Epistles. These conclusions were advanced today by Milton George Geil of the School of Education of Northwestern University.

Prof. Geil has just completed an investigation of the Biblical comprehension of more than 20,000 pupils from the fifth through the twelfth grades. The pupils, who lived in seventy communities, represent nineteen States and forty-three denominations. In the tests sixty representative Scripture selections were given with four marked meanings. The pupil marked the meaning which he believed to be correct.

More than one-half of the pupils selected alternatives admittedly advocating un-Christian ideals, such as having others do unto us as we do unto them, that whatever we do affects only ourselves, and that we reap as much as we sow. In the opinion of Prof. Geil these interpretations do not augur well for the religious instruction which our youth has been receiving.

The study showed that girls are superior to boys in Biblical comprehension and that pupils enrolled in week-day systems of religious instruction are of more understanding than others. Members of the Reformed, Presbyterian and Evangelical churches ranked highest while those of the Lutheran, Baptist and Roman Catholic faiths were lowest.

Speeding Up of Grape Control Drive Planned

FRESNO, May 18. (AP)—The fourth week of the drive for the establishment of the California Grape Control Board is scheduled to get under way tomorrow with renewed vigor because of the signing of the contract with commercial packers by which they will participate in the operation of the Farm Board plan.

Centering in Fresno City, with a large group of workers under the direction of Chairman W. E. White, vice-president and manager of the Fresno branch of the Los Angeles First National Bank, the work will go forward with new impetus, it is believed. The campaign in the city is to obtain the signatures to contracts of the 1000 or more growers living in this district as a part of the effort to obtain control of 85 per cent of the grape tonnage of the State.

READ INSTRUCTIONS CAREFULLY

Form as many words as possible from the letters in the star. Start with any letter and take any number of adjacent or contiguous letters IN ANY DIRECTION: forward, backward, upward, downward, diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other on the sides or at the corners. M-16 is next to or adjacent to N-8, G-9, E-17, S-24, I-23; L-22, I-15, A-7, S-6 is adjacent or contiguous to O-5 and T-14 but is not adjacent or contiguous to A-7 and U-20 because separated from these letters by blank spaces.) Do not jump or skip any letters or spaces.

Example: T-1, H-2, A-7, N-8 spells THAN;

L-22, I-15, M-16, I-23, T-31 spells LIMIT.

The same space may be used more than once in a word as I-15 in MILITIA—M-16, I-15, L-22, I-15, T-14, I-15, A-7), but do not double any letter. For example: L-48 cannot be doubled to form the word ROLL with R-47 and O-40, but L-39 and L-30, two adjacent and contiguous letters, can be used with B-21 and A-28 to form BALL.

RULES

No word may be used more than once. Do not use obsolete, archaic, dialect, slang or un-Anglicized foreign words, proper names of persons, peoples or places, parts of words, such as prefixes, suffixes, contractions or abbreviations. Either the singular or plural form may be used, but do not use both forms of the same word. In any question, Webster's International Dictionary will be authority.

For convenience in checking, lists of words must be submitted in alphabetical order. Each word should be numbered consecutively, starting with 1. It will not be necessary to give the index number of the spaces in which the letters are found.

Contestant's name, address and telephone number should be written at the head of the list, together with the total number of words submitted. Use only one side of the paper.

This Contest is open to every resident of California and Arizona except members of the families of employees of THE TIMES. Only one prize will be awarded to a household.

As explained in the LIST of PRIZES, there are two classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to THE TIMES to compete for one of the Class B prizes. The Class A prizes are open to those who send in a 6 months' paid-in-advance subscription. This may be either a renewal or a new subscription. There are 56 prizes in each class. The contestant in each class sending in the largest number of words correctly formed from the letters in the star according to these instructions will be awarded first prize in that class; the one sending in the next largest number, the second prize, and so on. The right is reserved to reject any of the number and the value of the prizes offered in any time during the progress of the Contest.

In the event of ties, contestants tying will be required to form words in a similar manner from letters in a smaller star. Should any ties result from the second Contest a prize identical with that tied for will be awarded to each tying contestant.

This Contest will close at 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 21, 1930. All lists of words must be delivered at the Contest Department in the main floor of The Times Building before that time, or, if mailed, must bear postmark showing that they were mailed before that hour.

CONFESSION OF SLAYING MYSTIFIES

Soldier Who Admits and Then Denies Killing Girl to be Given Mental Test

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—A sanity hearing to determine the mental responsibility of Private Harold L. Brewster, whose alternate admissions and denials of the murder of Mary Baker, have been confusing authorities, will be sought tomorrow by his army superiors.

Capt. A. R. Bolling, commanding the headquarters company of which Brewster is a member, reached this decision today after another five-hour session of questioning by military and civilian authorities during which the soldier is said to have repeated his confession of the killing of the government clerk last April 11, only to withdraw it time and again.

No murder warrant has been sworn out against him, but Washington police intimate this step might follow the hearing if Brewster is found sane. While considered fantastic in many respects, police say his confession has included many questions of fact not previously uncovered in connection with the crime.

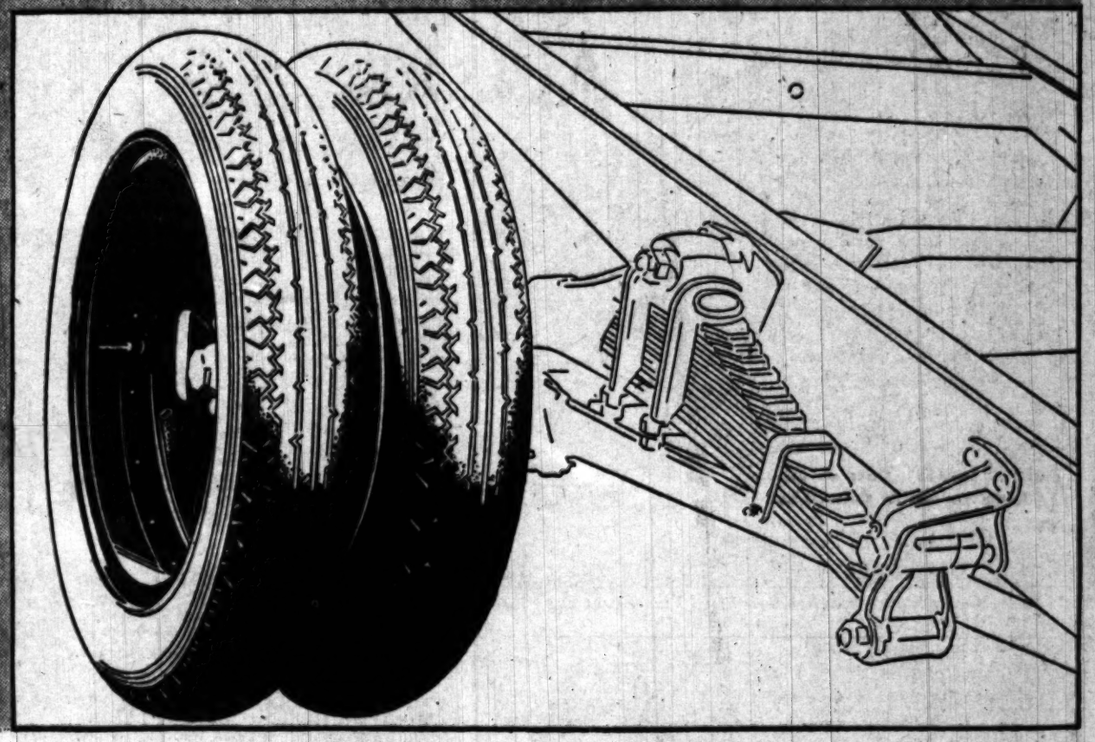
DUAL REAR WHEELS and balloon tires



New features increase the value of the FORD TRUCK

LARGER BRAKES, all fully enclosed

AN ESPECIALLY valuable feature of the Ford 1½-ton truck is the new wheel equipment. Dual rear wheels are available at small additional cost. Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

Brakes on the front wheels have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear, providing increased braking area and a high degree of safety. Brakes are of the mechanical type, internal expanding, and all are fully enclosed. Controls have been redesigned, and operate with minimum effort.

Other new features, adding to strength, reliability and performance, are the new three-quarter floating rear axle, which has a spiral bevel gear of special design; the two gear-ratios optional; the new front axle and spring which are heavier and stronger, as are front radius-rod, wheel bearings and thrust bearings; the 4-speed transmission which provides a wide, flexible range of speed and power; and the large-sized opening provided in the transmission for power take-off mounting.

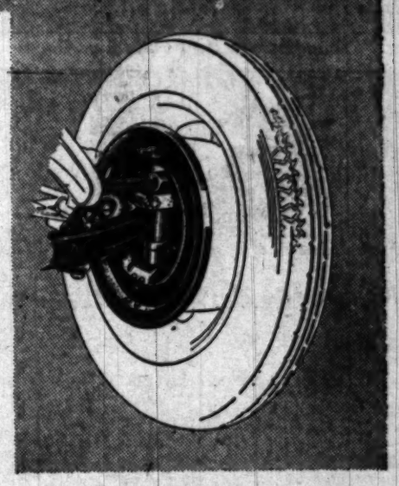
In addition to the Ford 1½-ton truck chassis, there is a commercial-car chassis to meet light-delivery requirements. A wide range of body-types is available for each model.



1½-ton truck chassis, $520
With Stake body and closed cab $675
With Panel body $800
With Express body and closed cab $665
With Platform body and closed cab $660

(f. o. b. Detroit, plus freight and delivery.)

County Takes Over More Beach Area---Big Pines Prepares for Influx

THE maintenance and operation of nearly three miles of additional beach areas recently purchased by the State and county will be taken over by the County Recreation Department tomorrow, making the total ocean frontage under the supervision of the department and at the disposal of the public, approximately four and one-half miles. The new areas are at Manhattan and Redondo Beaches. Tables and benches for picnicking purposes and fire circles have been installed at the new beaches as they have at the beaches previously maintained and operated by the department—Santa Monica Canyon, Manhattan and Alamitos Bay. At Big Pines Camp, the county's mountain playground, extensive preparations for an unprecedented influx of visitors is being made. Daily recreational programs under the supervision of trained men and women will be carried out. A trout stream, stocked by the county, awaits the angler this year. Below are photos taken recently at the beaches and in the mountains. (Photos by courtesy of County Recreation Department.)

BABE HITS LONG ONE; YANKS WIN

Twenty-five Thousand See Ruth Bust Hardest Drive in Boston Park History

BOSTON, May 18. (AP)—George Pipgras pitched the New York Yankees to an 11-to-0 victory over the Red Sox at Braves' Field here today.

A crowd of 25,000 saw Babe Ruth hit what was probably the longest and hardest home run in the fifteen years of the field's history while Pipgras held the Red Sox to three scattered singles and stretched his shut-out string to twenty consecutive innings. The Babe's homer, his sixth of the year, came in the first inning off big Ed Morris and landed very high in the right-field bleachers.

The Yankees hit three Red Sox pitchers hard, including Ben Shields, who made his debut with the Sox by finishing the game. The score:

CAPRICE LOSES TO MAYBE

Bay City Retains Perpetual Yachting Trophy by Victory of Rousseau's Boat Over Lee's

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18. (Exclusive)—Arthur Rousseau, the wizard of Belvedere, sailed his seventh successful defense of San Francisco's perpetual challenge trophy on the bay this afternoon against Tommy Lee's six-meter yacht Caprice, challenger from the California Yacht Club.

Commodore Rousseau put his sloop Maybe across the finish line forty-nine seconds ahead of Caprice; the Defender sailing superbly in the fifteen-knot breeze. Both boats got away to perfect starts off the Marina at 2 o'clock, but Rousseau put the race in his pocket fifteen seconds later by forcing Caprice about within a few yards of the rocks along the Marina. After this maneuver, which caused Caprice to lose her way and weather advantage Maybe immediately came about and headed out for Presidio Shoals Buoy, which she laid in a single tack and rounded a half-minute ahead of the Challenger.

On the long run down to Goat Island, Caprice made up six seconds on the Corinthian Yacht Club Defender but Maybe increased her lead to nearly a minute on the broad reach up to Southampton Shoals. Lee made a desperate effort to cover Maybe on the boat over to Angel Island, but Rousseau's knowledge of the bay tides and eddies stood him in such good stead that he worked out of danger and from thence to the finish sailed a safe race.

place when he had to visit the pits with tire trouble on the thirty-ninth lap. When Sharp's mount went bad on the ninety-sixth turn, Hinckley set out to catch up with him, and might have succeeded if he hadn't run out of gas.

Arvol Brunmier also received his share of misfortune when he was forced to give up second place when his car developed motor trouble. Other victims of tough breaks were Nick Martino and Curley Grandel. Martino led the grind till the fifth lap, and Grandel was in a runner-up position until he lost all the air of his left rear tire.

Sharp won a thrilling duel from Nick Martino in the Italian Helmet Dash in 1m. 8s. Swede Smith was the other driver.

VINES FEATURES NET PLAY

Wins Men's Singles and Doubles to Score Clean Sweep in Southern California Championship

Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena's brilliant young tennis player who paired with Helen Marlowe on Saturday to win the mixed doubles championship of Southern California for the second consecutive year, again dominated yesterday's play in spectacular fashion.

Smashing his way to a straight-set victory over Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, national junior champion, 6-2, 6-2, Vines followed in the footsteps of an illustrious line of predecessors to win the Southern California men's singles crown. Seemingly not content with his two sparkling victories, Vines made it a clean sweep in a sensational men's doubles final match that ran for three hours and five minutes, when he played with Gledhill to defeat Jack Bartosh and Gerald Tidball, 6-8, 8-10, 12-10, 7-5, 10-8. This is believed to be a new record.

Midge Gladman, Southern California co-ed, remained enthroned as queen of Southern California women players with a hard-won victory over Gladys Patz, 6-2, 11-9. Miss Gladman finally overwhelmed Miss Patz at the net after a bitterly contested match.

Josephine Cruickshank and Miss Gladman paired in the finals of the women's doubles to win easily from May Sutton Bundy and her niece, Violet Doeg.

SHEIKS TIE MAGYARS TO CLINCH SOCCER CROWN

The Magyar soccer football team battled its way to a 1-to-1 draw with the Hollywood Sheiks in the season's final game at Loyola Field yesterday. The inspired finish of the Hungarians, however, failed to give them another crack at the Sheiks for the championship as all Hollywood needed to win the crown was a draw.

Danny Hall's men finished the season with 26 points, as compared with 24 for the Magyars. The L.A. A.C. Mercuries moved up into third place with 20 points by defeating the Vikings, 6 to 5, in yesterday's opener. Other teams finished as follows: Vikings, 19 points; Pasadena A.C.C., 18 points; Sons of St. George, 15 points; Spanish-Americans, 13 points; Scots, 10 points, and Richfield, 3 points.

Yesterday's game had a stirring ending for it was in the last minute of play that the Hungarians scored, Espinosa tallying when Goalie Vic Copeland was drawn out of position. The Magyars had been fighting all afternoon for that goal and time after time they threatened only to have Hollywood's stout defense stiffen a bit in the pinches.

The Sheiks scored in the first half when Jimmy Teed took a rebound from Andy Walker's hoof and headed the ball into the net while Goalie Obrikat stood by, apparently sensing an offside play. There was no more scoring until the last minute of the game when Espinosa scored.

The opening game was a battle all the way with the Mercuries coming from behind in the second half to overcome a 3-to-0 lead built up by the Vikings. Mervyn Scott, outside right for the clubmen, was the big scoring star of the game, tallying four times. Harry Owens and

Long-Driving Brentwood Pro Holds Edge Throughout

Los Angeles Golfer Falters Before Smashing Game

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

As the waves of the sea dash themselves to spume against a rocky shore, so little Vic Dalberto of the Los Angeles Country Club dashed himself into defeat on the broad shoulders of Olin Dutra, Brentwood Country Club professional, in the thirty-six hole finals of the Pacific Southwest P. G. A. championship at the Santa Monica municipal course yesterday afternoon.

OLIN DUTRA

The match ended on the thirty-second hole, 5 and 4, with the outcome never in doubt as the bronzed Don of Brentwood Heights punctuated his pars with an occasional birdie to be 3 up after the first six holes, and 4 up at the turn.

DUTRA BRILLIANT

While Dalberto put every ounce of his stout heart into every stroke, the trying pace of a week's grueling competition was only too evident in the afternoon round as his game showed signs of disintegrating, first his short game failing him, and then his drives.

When all is said and done, however, it was Dutra's superlative golf rather than Dalberto's poor golf which decided the issue. This has been true throughout the past week as Olin was under par round after round to win his matches without even a semblance of a tussle.

Smashing his drives down the heart of the fairways for easy approaches to the greens, the big Santa Monican started his morning play with nine consecutive pars, and then birdied eleven to be 4 up. Dalberto stiffened preceptably to win fifteen and sixteen, but lost seventeen and eighteen to a par and birdie.

SINKS LONG PUTT

Dutra was out in 68, three under perfect figures, and Dalberto in 73.

Dalberto halved the first three holes in the afternoon round and won the fourth with a birdie, but that only staved off an earlier finish to the

CARLYLE'S HIT BEATS INDIANS

Scores Green With Run in Second Game

Umpire Fanning Pelted by Cushion Shower

Vitt and Cox Chosed From Game by Arbiter

BY BRAVEN DYER

CLEO CARLYLE

Dutch Ruether stood the Sheiks on their heads to win the opener, 9 to 1, but Oscar Vitt's charges came back to take the nightcap, 11 to 10 in eight innings.

It was this slugfest which gave the fans their money's worth in base hits and excitement for two cushion showers punctuated the affair and Vitt and Catcher Cox of the Suds were chased from the game by Umpire Panning who experienced an off day rendering decisions.

MADE 'EM DIZZY

Hollywood scored six runs in the first inning of the second game when Manager Ernie Johnson of Seattle had everybody dizzy with his quick-change act featuring four pitchers, Zahniser, Lamanske, Hubbell and House went to the mound in that hectic inning and finally it was Pinches Kuns who finished up and got charged with the defeat. He, however, did not enter the fray until the seventh.

Hank Halvey, who started for Hollywood, wasn't much better than the Seattle twirlers and Vitt got him out of there after Seattle had scored two runs in their half of the inning. George Hollerson carried on nobly until the seventh when the Indians staged an uprising and scored three runs to tie the score at 10 to 10. Frank Shellenback, who has been laid up with an ailing arm, came onto the scene of action at this point and got credit for the victory.

Cleo Carlyle was the fair-haired boy of Hollywood's triumph. With Harry Green on first and two out in the last of the eighth, Cleo dropped a double in left field, thereby crossing up the Indians who figured he would hit anywhere but there, and Green had no trouble scoring when Lawrence played the ball badly.

The cushion showers and near riots were due to Umpire Panning's inability, in the eyes of the fans, to call 'em right. In the fifth

ANGELS DIVIDE TWO-PLY BILL WITH OAKLANDERS

OAKLAND, May 18. (AP)—Los Angeles and Oakland split today's double Coast League baseball bill, the Oaks taking the morning game, 7 to 4, and the Angels the free-hitting afternoon clash, 10 to 7. Oakland won the series six games to two.

Verges led the assault in the morning game with three hits in three times up, one of them a home run. A Los Angeles three-run rally in the eighth came too late and was stopped too soon to affect the outcome.

CARDINALS COME BACK IN SECOND TO WIN HONORS

Brooklyn Robins Climb Toward Top by Copping Double-header; A's Take Nod Over Washington

ST. LOUIS, May 18. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs snapped the Cardinals' winning streak at nine by taking the first game of a double-header here today, 9 to 6, but the Redbirds came back to trounce the champions in the second contest, 8 to 2.

The Cubs, led by Hack Wilson, who got two home runs, bombarded Johnson, Bell and Frankhouse for sixteen hits to take the first game. Root held the Cardinals in check until the eighth, when he was the victim of a rally that netted four runs, but fell short.

In the nightcap, Jess Haines won his first game of the season, striking out eight batters and allowing only six hits, while the Cardinals were hammering Sheriff Blake. Chick Hafey got a homer in the fourth with two on. Jim Bottomley played in the second game after having been out about ten days with a sore thumb. Scores:

ROBINS ADVANCE

BROOKLYN, May 18. (AP)—The Robins reached the top of the National League standing today when they twice defeated the Phillies before a capacity crowd of 30,000 here. Their three rivals, New York, Chicago and St. Louis each got even breaks for the day. Aided by perfect fielding support, Jim Elliot scored a five-hit shutout over the Phillies in the first game, which Brooklyn won, 3 to 0. Home runs by McCurdy, Sigman and Klein in the second contest failed to overcome an early Brooklyn lead and the Robins took that one, 7 to 5.

Coming from behind in the late innings, second game, the Phillies knocked Babe Phelps out of the box in the ninth. Watson Clark relieved him and disposed of two Phillies' pinch hitters, but Thompson walked, bringing up the dangerous O'Doul. O'Doul hit a terrific line drive, but Bissonette ended the game with a diving catch. Scores:

Shamrock V Wins Race

HARWICH (Eng.) May 17. (AP)—The Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's Cup, sailed her first race against big yachts today in the Royal Harwich Yacht Club's annual regatta and won it. She finished the course of thirty-eight sea miles about one minute astern of A. A. Paton's Lulworth, the scratch boat, which had to allow the Shamrock V an allowance of eight minutes. Lord Camdrose's Cambria took second place on the allowance and Lulworth third.

ATHLETICS WIN

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—Though he allowed the Senators five hits, two more than his mates got off Lloyd Brown, Lefty Grove came off the winning pitcher today, in the Philadelphia 1-to-0 victory over Washington.

With the bases loaded in the sixth and one away, Foxx hit to Cronin, who threw to Myer for a double killing. Simmons, coming into second, bumped into Myer causing him to throw too late to catch Foxx, while Bishop crossed the plate. It was a heartbreaker for Brown to lose, after having held the A's to three singles.

GIANTS SPLIT

NEW YORK, May 18. (AP)—It took eleven innings today for the Giants to gain an even split with the Boston Braves, losing the first game, 4 to 1, and winning the second, 3 to 2. Fred Leach's double sent Marshall home with the winning run.

After pitching seven and two-thirds innings of perfect baseball, Carl Hubbell blew up and three singles in the eighth and two in the ninth tied the score.

Mel Ott hit his sixth homer with Terry on base in the fourth to give the Giants a two-run lead, only to have Hubbell blow it.

In the first game the veteran Tom Zachary, a former Yank, though hit hard, tightened in the pinches and turned in his first victory for the Braves in the National League.

Bill Walker, on the other hand, allowed four hits, but the Braves were more than timid. A homer by George Sisler tied the score, while Berger's sacrifice fly sent over the winning run. He also pounded a 435-foot triple to send in an extra tally, while Clark's single scored him.

Travis Jackson retired from the game due to the mumps and Bancroft finished at short. Score:

CINCINNATI, May 18. (AP)—Erwin Brame pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 2-to-1 victory over Bennie Frey and the Reds here today, knotting the count in the third with a home run over the center-field wall and scoring the winning run in the fifth on Engle's single after he had doubled with two out. It was Frey's first loss in five starts. The Cincinnati recruit held the Pirates to eight hits, while his mates gathered nine, but the Reds were unable to cluster their blows at opportune times. SHARKEY ROCKS MATES DURING TRAINING SIEGE

ORANGEBURGH (N. Y.) May 18. (Exclusive)—Jack Sharkey put on the upholstered mittens this afternoon for the first time since he forced the resignation of Phil Scott from the heavyweight elimination tournament in Miami last February. He made no effort to electrify the crowd of about 500 which jammed Gus Wilson's indoor gym with his speed or any fancy work in a four-round workout with two sparring partners. He showed a punch, however, that jarred his sparring mates to their very ankles.

Without any preliminary warm-up except a desultory workout on the heavy sand bag, America's hope in the heavyweight sweepstakes stepped in with Johnny Grosso, the golfing heavyweight from Mount Vernon, who was his chief sparring mate in his preparatory exercises at Miami.

Sharkey started by walloping Grosso with a right on the jaw with a terrific downward motion. Grosso did not expect such harsh treatment so quickly and he stepped back until his head cleared. It was evident from then on that the ex-gob had decided to sacrifice speed to try out his punch.

The effect of that first punch evidently satisfied him, he switched immediately to body punching and tossed several hooks right into Grosso's middle.

Solomon had hardly put his hands up when Sharkey jolted him with a terrific right on the jaw. Then as in the Grosso attack, he shifted his attack downstairs.

It was noticeable that instead of going on his toes, Sharkey hit from a flat - footed position. He put everything he had behind his punches, shifted quickly and seldom missed. He appeared to be carrying whatever excess weight he has in his chest and shoulders. His waist line is trim although he weighed 203 before today's workout.

SCHMELING EASY ON PARTNERS

BINGHAMTON (N. Y.) May 18. (Exclusive)—Max Schmeling was very merciful to his sparring partners today. He refrained from murderous assault all the afternoon. He worked six rounds with George Neron, the grimacing Greek, Vincent Babin, the man with the tin knees, and Henry Gerkin.

At the end of the six rounds Max fired Gerkin and Babin. They were punch drunk and battered and Babin's nose started bleeding when he timorously thrust a scrawny knee through the ropes. Tomorrow Max will not box, but will play eighteen holes of golf.

Max looked much better today. His punches showed snap, and his weaving and timing was better. He scored a knockdown of Babin in the second round and he knocked over Gerkin in the first.

SINGER AND FERNANDEZ TO HOOK UP ON FRIDAY

NEW YORK, May 18. (AP)—One of the dullest boxing programs in weeks has only a return bout between Al Singer and Ignacio Fernandez to recommend it.

Singer's attempt to avenge his knockout by Fernandez a year ago will take place at Madison Square Garden here Friday night. It was just a year ago, May 17, 1929, to be exact, that Singer, then on the crest of a sensational winning streak, forgot to duck one of the Filipino's punches and went down to be counted out for the first and only time of his career.

At Detroit on Friday night Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, takes on Charley Belanger of Winnipeg, light - heavyweight, over the ten-round route.

The only other show of much consequence this week is at Milwaukee tomorrow night, when Earl Mastro, Chicago 128-pounder, takes on Jackie Cohen of New York in a ten-rounder, while Joey Medill, Chicago lightweight, is meeting Mickey O'Neil of Milwaukee in an eight-round semifinal.

Other bouts on the national schedule include (all ten rounds, unless otherwise specified:)

Wednesday—At Oklahoma City, Okla.: Babe Kuhl, Ponca City, Okla., vs. Jud Carroll, Minot, Miss., heavyweights.

Seals Divide With Solons

SACRAMENTO, May 18. (AP)—San Francisco and Sacramento played to 17,000 people in today's double header which was divided by the same score of 7 to 4. Five thousand saw the morning game at Stockton go to the Seals in ten innings. After trailing for eight on two hits, Fay Thomas blew and with an error from French, the game was lost in the tenth. The afternoon climax gave the Sacs the series when 12,000 witnessed the clash between Jimmy Zinn, who hurled a no-hit game on Wednesday for the Seals, and the young Tony Freitas, Solon southpaw. Freitas far outpitched Zinn to win, although the game was a battle to the finish. Zinn hit a homer with two on. The scores:

The pars that fell from W. L. (Bill) Jelliffe's clubs yesterday afternoon in the thirty-six-hole finals of the Girard Golf and Country Club championship were impotent against Jack Gaines, who won the title with an astounding 11-and-10 victory. Jelliffe conceded three holes to 3's when Gaines stuck iron shots within inches of the pin. The winner's score was 334-333-334—29, and he missed a five-foot putt on the ninth hole for six consecutive 3's. On the fifth hole, Gaines almost holed out a 2, his ball rimming the cup.

Hunter of Flintridge, 79-5-74. Another Flintridge team, E. B. Yeakum and J. C. Bequette, won low gross with 79.

Shooting a smashing 72 over the Woodrow Wilson course at Griffith Park yesterday, O. J. Clisby gained a two-stroke lead over the field at the fifty-four-hole mark of the first annual seventy-two-hole medal-play public links championship. Clisby, with a total of 230, is leading P. J. The final round of the public links play is scheduled for Sunday, the 25th inst.

While the championship appears to be among those already mentioned, all entrants still have an opportunity of winning medals for the best thirty-six and eighteen-hole scores.

MORRISON REPORTS STOLEN CLUBS

Anyone seeing or hearing of a set of matched Hagen irons with Fred Morrison's name stamped on the shafts just beneath the grips are urged to report the same to the Midwick pro or either of his assistants, Elmer Vice or Tommy Garcia. The clubs are new compact, custom-built Hagens of two diamond weight. The shafts are light with pigskin grips, and are the only irons turned out of the Midwick shop with Morrison's stamp on the shafts. A set of new Willie Hunter wintion woods and chromium plated steel shafts were also stolen at the same time. An epidemic of club stealing has been reported during the past month, and golfers are being cautioned to keep their clubs under lock and key.

Beavers Split With Missions

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18. (AP)—The Missions dragged the Portland Coast League baseball series out of the fire today by winning the morning game, 11 to 8, losing the afternoon struggle, 10 to 6, when the visitors came to life and scored six runs in the last two innings.

Batsmen were busy in both games, but especially in the morning, Monroe homing for the visitors and getting three base hits in four times at bat.

The series ended Missions four

ROGERS RIDERS COP POLO GAME

Humorist Plays Star Role as His Team Wins

Will Rogers, humorist, ex-Mayor of Beverly Hills, self-appointed Ambassador at large, writer and what not turned polo star yesterday afternoon at the Uplifters' Club field. The cowboy comedian dashed up and down the field scoring goals almost as fast as the ball was put in play at the same time leading the Blue four to an 18-to-6 victory over the Reds. Will tallied ten goals which is something of a record for the Uplifters' field.

The game proved to be a walkaway for the Blues. Rogers was on the loose nearly all the time and his team-mates Scott Hackley, Dr. Wilson and Carl Beal kept a weather eye on the opposition, blocking off most of their attempts at scores.

Lionel Pedley did the umpiring.

Shade, Hudkins Get Title Bid

WALKER AGREES TO MEET VICTOR

Challengers Collide Here at Olympic on 27th

Pablo Dano and Brown Mix Tomorrow Night

Benny Miller Performs on Card With Codan

Mickey Walker will defend his middleweight title against the winner of the Ace Hudkins-Dave Shade bout. Jack Kearns wired Promoter Jack Doyle from Louisville yesterday that the championship bout could be considered as good as made.

MICKEY WALKER

Terms for the title match will be threshed out after Hudkins and Shade, Walker's chief contenders, meet at the Olympic May the 27th in an elimination contest.

Kearns has offers for Walker to defend his 160-pound crown in New York, Chicago and Detroit, but prefers Los Angeles, where both Shade and Hudkins have strong followings.

Both Hudkins and Shade show the seriousness with which they are approaching their elimination battle by training in established mountain camps. Shade is at Soper's ranch and Hudkins at Murietta Hot Springs.

Efforts of the Olympic to have one or both of the fighters to finish training in Los Angeles have so far failed. Shade and Hudkins realize that the immediate future depends on the outcome of the coming scrap.

The Olympic is showing tomorrow night with Pablo Dano, Filipino flyweight, and Newsboy Brown in the top spot. Benny Miller and Mat Codan box the six-round semi-wind-up.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is seeking to sign Bobby Wolgast, recognized in New York as the flyweight champion, to box Dano here if he again whips Brown.

Dano has confined his boxing to San Francisco up to the present time. Up north he is hailed as a better flyweight than Speedy Dado. Dano and Dado fought a twelve-round draw in the Philippines three years ago.

The Miller-Codan match is attracting a lot of interest locally. Of all the young talent developed in Los Angeles in the past year Miller stands out like another Frankie Campbell.

"PRO" TOURNEY WON BY DUTRA

match as Dutra seemed to gain in confidence and punch as the play progressed. Vic's putting started to go bad on the first and second holes when he missed dinky putts for wins.

On the seventh hole, Dalberto drove out of bounds, but sunk a twenty-foot putt for a half. That, however, was the last of a valiant effort to prolong inevitable defeat. From then on it was not a case of Vic battling for wins, but scrapping for all he was worth to get halves.

Stymies saved Dalberto on several occasions, one of these obnoxious situations giving him a half on nine.

On the 500-yard twelfth hole Dalberto's second carried twenty yards over the green, and Olin won handily with a birdie 4. The thirteenth spelled finis when Dutra planted his tee shot four feet from the cup for a birdie 2. That put Dutra dormie 5.

His game shattered, Dalberto missed a five-footer for a win on the fourteenth hole to end the match.

As the champion of Southern California professionals, Dutra received a diamond metal, plus $200 in cash and an additional $25 for being medalist. Dalberto, as runner-up, won $125. Jack Street of Santa Monica and Willie Hunter of Montebello Park each drew checks of $75, the semifinalists' shares.

BOWLING PRIZES AWARDED

Winners in Coast Congress Presented With Checks for Showing in Pin Tournament

Ona M. Gregg, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress, was a busy man yesterday dishing out hundreds of checks ranging from $500 down to $5.41 forty-sixth place in the solo event. The secretary of the congress will pay out approximately $10,000 to prize winners in the little world series of bowling which closed a successful twenty-four day run last night at the Davenport Recreation Building.

Few changes were registered in the closing squads of doubles and singles events. Al Shave of San Francisco, slipped in a 654 set to replace Tim Shafer of Los Angeles, for second place in the open singles by four pins. Two more Bay City bowlers found berths among the first five, with A. Hawkins taking fourth place with 646 and Jim Toomey fifth position with 644. Ora Mayer, San Francisco, collected a nine-game total of 1815 to nose C. Ricks of Phoenix out of second place in the all-events by two pins on totals. H. Smith, Oakland, placed fifth with 1811.

With the pressure off, Fahy-Fords stepped out and collected a 3045 total, made on games of 1037, 979 and 1029 to win the grand sweepstakes competing against twenty teams. Pekomane five finished second with 2955, with Harry Lundwell setting the pace with 685 and high game of 266. The final standings of the five high men in the doubles, singles and all-events follow:

STARS SPLIT TWIN BILL

Louis Catina sent what looked to be a single down the third base line but Fanning called it foul. Up rushed Vitt, gesticulating and fairly frothing at the mouth. Oscar's actions brought the fans into action and cushions fell all over the field. Play was finally resumed, but in a few minutes Vitt said something Fanning didn't like and Oscar was sent to the clubhouse.

ANOTHER ONE

The first outbreak was only a mild zephyr compared with the shower which occurred in the Seattle half of the sixth. With Holderson wobbling badly, the score, 10 to 9, in Hollywood's favor, and men on first and second with one out, Shellenback came to the rescue.

Ellsworth greeted Frank with a single to right, scoring Cox with the tieing run. Shellenback then purposely passed Knothe, filling the bases. Lawrence fanned, bringing Barbee to bat. Now Barbee is quite a hitter and had already made four hits during the day, among them two homers, so it looked as if Frank were flirting with dynamite.

But the husky Seattle outfielder proved to be duck soup for Frank, forcing Knothe at second. Catina to Brannon. Seattle players rushed Fanning, claiming Knothe beat the throw to the bag, however, and this brought the second cushion barrage. It was several minutes before order was restored.

Cox was chased in the eighth when he called Fanning a so-and-so on what he (Cox) thought was a strike but which the umpire called a ball. The result was that Green, who was at bat at the time, walked, and Carlyle then knocked the Hollywood strong man home with the winning run.

BARBEE FATTENS AVERAGE

Barbee, with his two home runs, ran his total to four in two days, which is quite a record. Mickey Heath slammed one in the bleachers for Hollywood in the second inning of the second game, scoring Carlyle ahead of him. Scores:

Dutch Ruether, former big-league hurling star, and Seattle's leading pitcher, had an easy time beating Hollywood in the opener, although nicked for twelve hits. It was Ruether's second victory of the week.

Being afflicted with that tired feeling and, in addition, feeling that his work had been well done, the Dutchman retired from the scene of activities after the eighth inning and Pinches Kunz hurled the ninth inning for the Indians.

Wetzel's wildness and ineffectiveness sent Seattle away to a three-run lead in the first inning. The Hollywood hurler issued walks to Holland, Barbee and Tayler, which coupled with hits by Knothe and Johnson and three stolen bases gave the Indians their markers.

Seattle got four more in the third on hits by Knothe, Holland, Barbee, Almada, Borreani and Ruether. After Almada's double to right, Manager Oscar Vitt decided Wetzel had earned a trip to the showers and inserted Emil Yde into the so-called contest.

The former big leaguer was nicked for two runs in the fourth, when Barbee hit his third home run in two days scoring Knothe ahead of him. Ruether coasted along until the eighth inning, when Hollywood finally broke into the score column.

Brannon started the eighth with a double to left. Duke Marlowe, recruit outfielder, who replaced Harry Green at left field in the eighth, followed with a single to right, putting Brannon on third. Severeid lifted a sacrifice fly to Almada, Brannon scoring. The bases were filled when Heath and Rumler laid down successive bunts along the third-base line, Ruether tightened, however, and, fanned Carlyle and then proceeded to go to work on Yde, who forced Rumler at second, Johnson to Ellsworth, for the third out. TEMPLETON IN S.C. TRIBUTE high jump, Paul and Barber in the broad jump, and one or more of the trio of 12ft. Trojan vaulters should get into the money.

Undoubtedly one of the most pleasing things about Saturday's meet to Coach Dean Cromwell of S. C. must have been the work of Big Bob Hall. The tall sophomore tossed the shot over 48ft. and threw the discus 10ft. farther than ever before in his life—157ft. He has become a great competitor, always exceeding his practice marks during the week by several feet on the day of a meet.

Figure it any way you like, the Trojans have an edge on the Stanford boys in the I.C.A.A.A.—something like fifty to forty-and in order to win the Cards must surpass their best effort of the season in every event while the Trojans slump. Both teams at the peak the Trojans should win.

But again, attention is called to the fact that both Stanford and S.C. are figuring on track points this year as they have never done in the past. The Trojans hope for at least 20 and Stanford the same. Take the history of the last I.C.A.A.A. meets to get the superiority of western teams in the field—and the paucity of track digits. In 1926, when S.C. won, 12 points of the 35 1-2 were scored on the track—Dye first and Reynolds fourth in the high hurdles. Grumbles, a first in the lows.

ONLY SEVEN ON TRACK

In 1927 Stanford won with 36 1-2 points and 7 were scored on the track—McKinnon, fourth in the mile and Nichols, a first in the high hurdles.

In 1928, Stanford repeated with 43 points, scoring 9 on the track—Nichols first in the high hurdles and Spencer, a second in the 440.

Last year, Stanford amassed its greatest winning total—45 3-8 points—and tallied 14 on the track—Dyer second in the 100 and 220, Nichols second in the high hurdles and Smith fourth.

Stanford has scored successively 29 1-2, 34 and 31 points in field events in the three years it has walked off with eastern glory, and it has tallied in every field event each year.

With men missing in javelin and high jump, even the mighty efforts of the redoubtable Krenz, who spun the platter for a new world's record of 167ft. 5 3-8in. the other day, and his team-mate, Harlow Rothert, must go for naught unless Stanford runners come to the rescue.

FOREIGN TRADE APPEAL VOICED

Dollar Calls on Americans to Use American Ships

Captain Arrives Here for Convention Stay

Luckenbach Acts to Meet Emergency Demands

"American merchants should patronize American ships!"

That is the simple, direct message to the Foreign Trade Convention on the eve of its meeting here, from the dean of American shipping, Capt. Robert Dollar.

CAPT. ROBERT DOLLAR

America's most picturesque and dominant figure, now 86 years of age, and Mrs. Dollar, arrived from San Francisco on their liner President Lincoln yesterday to remain at the Biltmore throughout the week of convention. He will return north on the President Fillmore next Monday.

"This convention is the greatest foreign trade stimulant that could come to Los Angeles and the Coast," he said. "Eighteen years ago in New York I predicted the centering of world commerce on the Pacific. My auditors laughed. I told them, 'He laughs best who laughs last.' Two years ago I dined again with those New Yorkers, and they admitted the beginning of my time to snicker."

MATTER OF SUBSIDY

Capt. Dollar recalled that for many years he advocated government subsidy to get shipping on its feet.

"No one would take me seriously; but you'll notice it is the same thing under another name—subvention—which now is aiding American lines to build ships and restore the flag to the seas." He referred to the Jones-White Act loans, and to ten-year mail contracts to lines traversing essential trade routes.

"But, after the ten years are up, what then?" he asked significantly. "It takes a spoon to feed a baby, but a man doesn't want it. Will the American Merchant Marine have reached full stature in ten years, and be able to go it alone?"

The Dollar Lines now are America's largest shipping enterprise, "but it took a long, hard struggle. We never have missed a dividend in thirty-five years, but during several of those years the dividends came from my other pocket. When we started the round-the-world service seven years ago, I told my associates to take off their coats. Six months later we had lost $500,000 and I told them to take off their shirts. Six months later they thought I was going to ask for their pants, but I was able to tell them to put their shirts on again."

START ON COPRA

Capt. Dollar's philosophy has reached that mellowness which comes only with age, yet he still thrills with the romance of shipping, just as he did in 1900 when he contracted for Luzon copra with no apparent place to dispose of it. It was the start of the great copra importations of today.

Yesterday he yearned from a passenger of a new Coco-Hon-ee, starting manufacture at Manila. He straightway wired his San Francisco office to radio the Manila manager to go after it for trade. The radio went over the Dollar wireless, a system which the lines are installing throughout the world just for their own uses.

Today Dollar liners and freighters are familiar on most every sea; they are building two more $7,000,000 liners, looking ahead. And Capt. Dollar is familiar with all of it.

"I want to keep at it till the end," he said, and his spriteliness indicates he will attend many more trade conventions.

CARGO CARRIER MAKES READJUSTMENT

Luckenbach Line announces the readjustment of its schedules to permit the retention of a spot steamer each on the Pacific and on the Atlantic coasts, to meet emergency demands for additional cargo space.

The Andrea F. Luckenbach, now in the intercoastal run, will be retained on the Pacific Coast as an emergency ship, and the Lewis Luckenbach, plying in the same trade, will be stationed on the Atlantic. It will make spare bottoms available on either coast to handle excess cargo or meet other contingencies. Eastward, the sailing of the Andrea F. Luckenbach will be taken by the Lena Luckenbach, which has been operating in the company's gulf service.

Rumors are afloat that officials of the American Hawaiian Steamship Company now are en route to New York to undertake negotiations with Luckenbach officials for a purchase of the latter line.

Newspaper folk predominate among the passengers sailing on the Panama Mail liner Colombia from here this afternoon for Central America and New York. Among them are Edward Benham, associate editor of Hearst publications in New York; E. Anstett of the San Francisco Chronicle, George M. Cornwall, editor of the Timberman, Portland, Or., and Charles E. Durkcomb, publisher of the Berkeley Daily Gazette. Mrs. Jennie Spreen, grandmother of the film star, Raymond Hackett, also is returning to New York.

Forty passengers disembarked from the Dollar trans-Pacific liner President Lincoln, in from the Orient yesterday, and as many will sail at noon today for the return voyage. The liner also discharged 2000 tons of cargo and will lift 2000 tons of canned sardines, oil-well machinery, cotton and miscellaneous cargo. Outbound travelers include Harry E. Stevens, new American Consul to Shanghai.

The battle fleet, gone for months, will start leaving New York today, bound for the home base at San Pedro. A stop will be made at Hampton Roads, en route, leaving there the 26th inst., with arrival here scheduled for June 22, next. The fleet will sail north from here July 4, for the summer cruise into the Pacific Northwest.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Behind the ape came another and another; but Lady Greystoke did not wait to learn how many of the hideous creatures were so close upon her trail. With a smothered scream she rushed toward the opposite jungle, and as she reached the farther there, Achmet Zek and his two henchmen rose up and seized her. At the same instant a naked, brown giant dropped from the branches of a tree at the right of the clearing. Turning to the astonished apes he gave voice to a volley of short commands.

Then without waiting to note the effect of his words upon them, he wheeled and charged for the Arabs. Achmet Zek was dragging Jane Clayton toward his tethered horse. His two men were hastily unfastening all three mounts. The woman, struggling to escape the Arabs, turned and saw the ape-man running toward her. A glad light of hope illumined her face. "John!" she cried. "Thank God you have come in time." Behind Tarzan came the great apes, wondering, but obedient to him.

The Arabs saw that they would not have time to mount and make their escape before the apes and the man were upon them. Achmet Zek recognized the latter as the redoubtable enemy of such as he, and he saw too in the circumstance an opportunity to rid himself forever of the menace of the ape-man's presence. Calling to his men to follow his example he raised his rifle and leveled it upon the charging giant. His followers, obeying him, all fired simultaneously.

And with the report of the rifles, Tarzan of the Apes and two of his hairy henchmen pitched forward among the jungle grasses. The noise of the rifle shots brought the balance of the apes to a wondering pause, and, taking advantage of their momentary distraction, Achmet Zek and his fellows leaped to their horses' backs and galloped away with a now hopeless and grief-stricken woman. Again Lady Greystoke found herself a prisoner; this time, bound, and with an additional sentry.

NEWS OF HOBBS FIELD REPORTED

Humble Oil's Gusher Hooks Up to Pipe Line

Daily Yield Beaned Down Set at 4460 Barrels

Deepest Lea Project Strikes Good Showing

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 18. (Exclusive)—When the Bowers No. 1 well of the Humble Oil and Refining Company was hooked up with the first pipe line that reached the Hobbs oil field it put out 4460 barrels the first twenty-four hours, flowing through a five-eighths bean. On an open flow it did 300 barrels an hour. Operators rate it as a 400-barrel producer. This well's performance several weeks ago first attracted nation-wide attention to the Hobbs district in New Mexico and characterized it as a gusher field.

Three other pipe lines are now on their way toward the Hobbs field, these being the Atlantic pipe line, the Shell pipe line and the Pasotex line. Atlantic is building five 10,000-barrel storage tanks at the Atlantic tank farm at Hobbs and is laying a number of feeder lines, preparatory to connecting with several wells.

One of the most encouraging developments during the past few days was the strike of both oil and gas in the deepest test now drilling in Lea county, State No. 1 of Fish-Lowree Penn on Sec. 11, 18-36, developed a quantity of oil and gas, the oil being found at 5150 feet, and after drilling to 5186 feet oil on the 3300 feet in the hole. The oil found in this test is of high gravity and operators are of the belief that the State No. 1 may prove important in establishing a northwest trend from the Hobbs field.

Oil men do not believe that the Hobbs field will be the only major pool uncovered in the State and have accordingly turned their attention to a so-called high structure extending north and west from Hobbs to Cap Rock, a distance of forty miles.

Acreage sales have been numerous the past few months, practically all of the desirable tracts having already been purchased by the producing companies. A test is expected soon to be announced for the territory northwest of Lovington, the county seat of Lea county. The Shell Oil Company has purchased a building site and has assembled some material for the erection of another natural-gasoline plant in Lea county, to be located in Sec. 19, 18-38, three miles northwest from Hobbs. The plant will cost $500,000. According to reports the project will be owned jointly by the Shell and the Continental Oil companies.

KERN FIELD OPERATIONS REPORTED

Pacific Western, Shell and Barnsdall Projects Started During Week

BAKERSFIELD, May 18. (Exclusive)—Three new oil wells were added in during the past week in Kern county.

The Barnsdall Oil Company has begun drilling Hazelton No. 4 on Sec. 17, 11-23, Maricopa Flat; Pacific Western has spudded in King No. 7 on Sec. 22, 27-28, and the Shell Oil Company has hit surface formation in its No. 1 well on the Lerdo property near Lerdo.

Three tests for water shut-off are the Standard Oil Company, No. 17 on Sec. 5, 32-24, Midway; Shell Oil Company, Jewett No. 3 in Sec. 19, 28-29, Round Mountain, and West Coast Petroleum Combination, Inc., on Sec. 13, 27-28, at Caso Creek.

Deepening and redrilling jobs begun are Standard Oil Company No. 16 on Sec. 5, 32-24 in the Midway, and No. 7 on Sec. 9, 11-23, Inmset; and North American Oil Consolidated No. 4 on Sec. 8, 11-23 on the Sunset field.

Round Mountain Sites Selected

ROUND MOUNTAIN, May 18. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company has staked two new locations on the Round Mountain field. Jewett No. 12 is 764 feet south and 21 feet east from the northwest corner of Section 29, 28-29. Lilly-Reese No. 1 is 1515 feet north and 3 feet east from the southwest corner of Section 21, 28-29. On Section 19, 28-29, Shell has been bailing Jewett No. 3 to a depth of 2080 feet with some oil showings developing.

PRICE SLASH IS LOCALIZED

Falls Upon Only Small Part of State's Daily Output; More Than Thirty Fields Curtailing

While the unwillingness or refusal of a mere handful of operating organizations to co-operate in the new State-wide production curtailment program at Santa Fe Springs precipitated a severe slash in the price of Santa Fe Springs crude oil on Friday, it is interesting to note that the price was not reduced in any of the oil fields where the producers are working together harmoniously to bring the output of oil down somewhere near the actual daily requirements of the territory dependent upon California petroleum.

In the case of Santa Fe Springs seven groups or individuals were on Saturday outside the agreement, while forty producing organizations were living up to the letter of the new agreement which became effective May 15. The field has a potential output of 196,000 barrels a day, and the fact-finding committee gave it an allowable output of about 105,000 barrels a day from the 15th to 31st inst., inclusive. The operators who have not agreed to participate in the curtailment program represent a daily potential of 32,833 barrels and an allowable daily output of 16,888 barrels.

According to the current schedule of Umpire Paul Grimm, who is directing curtailment at Santa Fe Springs, production which has not been signed up is as follows:

Producer	Potential Bbls. daily	Allowable Bbls. daily
Wilshire group	17,631	8670
Geo. F. Getty, Inc.	11,795	5780
Oscar Howard	1,055	517
Mohawk	937	459
Barnhart-Morrow	782	383
Jameson	378	184
Ethyl	247	126

The impression prevailed yesterday that some of the companies which declined to sign the curtailment agreement may reconsider the matter, because storage is not readily obtainable in the field, and it is considered doubtful if landowners and royalty holders will urge that the oil be taken out of the ground and sacrificed at the present low quotations—from 56 cents a barrel for 28-deg. gravity oil, to 80 cents a barrel for 32-deg. gravity oil—a type of oil which once was worth upward of $2 a barrel.

In the case of the Wilshire group, embracing Ambassador, Commodore, Wilshire, Wilshire Annex and Bandini, those in charge of the curtailment program say that they have never considered the matter of the Wilshire group coming in on the present agreement because it has been out from the very beginning, last November. In the case of Getty, who is the next largest operator outside the curtailment program in this field, the General Petroleum Corporation is curtailing on three sides of him and Union is curtailing on one side of him.

The oil umpire's office takes exception to the statement attributed to Paul Getty on Saturday to the effect that he had 30,000 barrels of production and was being asked to curtail it to about 10,000 barrels a day. Umpire Grimm admits that Getty probably has in the neighborhood of 30,000 barrels in Oklahoma, New Mexico and California, but declares that in California he has a daily potential of not more than 16,000 barrels, exclusive of the two Getty wells at Kettleman Hills which the Southern California oil-curtailment program has nothing to do with because, like most of the other Kettleman Hills wells, these two are tied up in the conservation plan submitted by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

Oscar Howard has had little to say regarding his attitude on the curtailment program, other than that he does not favor the plan. With the exception of Wilshire, Getty and Howard the other outsiders represent collectively only 3407 barrels daily potential.

Regardless of the temporarily unfavorable condition at Santa Fe Springs, the situation throughout the State is decidedly encouraging. The Ventura-avenue field and the Elwood field have been voluntarily curtailing more than they have needed to; Kern River and Maricopa Flat are in line; Signal Hill is virtually 100 per cent, and no disturbance is expected from the new sector at Venice.

New Fruitvale Completion of Getty Shut In

FRUITVALE, May 18. (Exclusive) George F. Getty's recently completed Farrell No. 1 well on Section 21, 29-27, here has been shut in. Completed two years ago when the district was having its first drilling boom, the well idled with a cement plug at bottom and was not drilled out until about ten days ago. During a seventeen-hour test it flowed about 1000 barrels of 23.6 deg. gravity oil which cut 2 per cent.

Total depth of the well is 3975 feet. The well was brought in May 4. Getty has a drilling project on a near-by section. Drilling of the other well and completion of the Farrell job signalized Getty's re-entrance into the field's activities, after several months of suspense.

There are now but three operators in action at Fruitvale. Each has one project. Shell has the Shepard, Western Gulf Oil Company has its Price-Stewart, and Getty has Fairhaven No. 1.

Start of New Maricopa Flat Hole Deferred

MARICOPA, May 18. (Exclusive) The California Western Oil Company will not spud in its latest project on the Maricopa Flat for some time. This well, known as Havenstrite No. 6, is on Sec. 17, 11-23.

It was started following failure of the company to get a water shut-off in Havenstrite No. 5 on the same section, which reached a depth of 3500 feet and was suspended some time ago. No reason is given for the company's postponement of drilling in the No. 6.

RAIL LINE OIL PLANS IN COURT

Texas Lays Claim to Mineral Wealth Under Road's Right of Way

AUSTIN (Tex.) May 18. (Exclusive)—The question that the oil and gas wealth upon rights-of-way of railroads in Texas where these lands were a part of the public domain at the time they were granted to the railroads, is the basis of a suit which has been filed by Atty.-Gen. R. L. Bobbitt, contesting the claim of the Texas & Pacific Railroad that it has the right to drill oil wells on a five-mile strip of its right-of-way in the Ector county field. The railroad declared that it is vested with the oil and gas rights upon this land because of the fact that it owns it in fee simple.

Bobbitt stated that title to the oil and gas lands is vested in the State and that he would strenuously oppose the effort of the railroad company to appropriate the oil and gas for its own use.

No claim to the fee simple title to the land was made by the railroad prior to the discovery of oil and gas on adjacent tracts, Bobbitt pointed out, asserting the State had a valid right to the oil and gas in the right-of-way in behalf of the public-school land.

OLD JULIAN MINE TAKEN ON OPTION

Riverside Operator Said to Have Bid $100,000 on Former Sunshine Estate

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—W. Steward Button of Riverside, Cal., is reported to have taken a $100,000 option on the Ballas property near Covered Wells on the desert, west of this city. The mine once was under option to the Julian interests and then was known as the Sunshine.

Mr. Button is reported to be preparing for erection of a mill with a large amount of ore already available on the dump. Wichita interests have purchased the L. & R. Comstock property in the Santa Rita Mountains and have set aside $50,000 for development work.

In the Arivaca section, a working shaft on the Calzona property is reported to be in ore for 170 feet with returns of about $10 gold, twenty-one ounces silver, 15 per cent lead and 2½ per cent copper. Drifting is being pushed on the 150-foot level. The manager is Charles A. Dutro of Los Angeles, and the mine recently was examined by Engineer J. R. Goldsworthy of the same city.

Gardner Gold Find Growing in Importance

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—Much new ore, of high grade, is reported to have been uncovered in development of the Gardner gold strike, southeast of this point, and two miles from the old Vulture bonanza.

Values especially have been found in a white limestone reef that can be traced for several miles. A number of new locations have been made by the operating company, which also has built a road to the property.

DRILLING TO RESUME NEAR VICTORVILLE

Drilling activities are to be resumed just north of Victorville, in San Bernardino county. A large combination rig has just been hauled there by B. B. Gilmore and associates and everything is ready to spud in. This group controls considerable acreage. Geologists have worked out a structural formation in the district and major companies will watch the progress of the work with interest because they hold considerable acreage around this project.

SHELL TO SEEK KETTLEMAN OIL

Location Staked for Offset to Associated Hole

Road Under Way and Start of Drilling Due Soon

Output of Half-Dozen Wells in Field Reported

The Shell Oil Company has staked location for Dickson No. 1 to be drilled on the southwest corner of Sec. 36, 21-17, on the north dome at Kettleman Hills, and less than half-mile east of the Felix No. 1 and a short distance from the new location for Felix No. 2 of the Petroleum Securities Company.

Shell's Dickson No. 1 is on a quarter section of fee land, and is a direct offset to the Associated Oil Company's Whipley No. 1 on Sec. 35, 21-17, now drilling below 6870 feet in hard brown shale. It also offsets the Standard Oil Company's No. 38, the latest completion on the north dome and brought in to protect Standard's property from drainage by the Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1, also on fee land.

Shell and Petroleum Securities are building roads to their respective properties and indications are that little delay will slow up starting operations. The situation on both leases is similar. The property owners are asserted to have insisted that both companies start drilling to conform to the requirements of their leases.

Of the six producing wells on the north dome the Continental Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8 is leading the list in the amount of its production. It is flowing 3800 barrels of high gravity oil per day from a depth of 6876 feet along with 105,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Standard's No. 8 is second best with a daily flow of 3300 barrels, along with 94,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The company's No. 38 is third with a daily yield of 3000 barrels and 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas, and its No. 8 has a flow of 2700 barrels daily with 86,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well has been beaned back to approximately 2200 barrels daily and 69,000,000 cubic feet of gas. It is thought to be capable of producing considerably more but some effort has been made to cut the flow. The Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1, which started off at 1600 barrels of oil a day on completion, now is yielding 1000 barrels of oil along with 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Standard's No. 38 is the deepest producer at Kettleman Hills, while Continental has the shallowest well of the group. The General Petroleum Corporation has the deepest active drilling project, it being Ochsner No. 2 on Sec. 20. It is coring below 7550 feet in a hard formation showing considerable gas pressure. It is not scheduled for completion until July 31, 1931.

TWO NEW TESTS DUE AT ERBURU

General and Shell Planning to Sink One Each

Former Has Four Shut-Down Projects in Field

Action in Conformity With Terms of Leases

With five wells completed and closed down in the new Erburu field nine miles west of Elwood, companies operating there are proceeding to put down two new holes. The General Petroleum Corporation, which discovered the field about a year ago and has four completions shut in, is starting its Erburu No. 5 within the next ten days, and the Shell Oil Company, which has one shut-down producer known as Covarrubias No. 1, has staked location for its next project.

Wells in the Erburu field are good for about 150 barrels a day, and the oil, testing 20 deg. gravity, is not particularly salable at this time, but the companies find it necessary to do a certain amount of work on their leases this year.

Early efforts to find oil in that district were a little further inland, perhaps a half-mile from the present proven area. Shell's Rutherford lease did not pan out well, early tests going to 6000 feet or more until the company moved over closer to the ocean, where it found production.

Belief that the structure lies offshore, as is the case at Elwood is given support by the number of validated permits strung out there, one of which now is drilling ahead. The Indian Petroleum Company's Tideland Permit No. 174 in the Capitan district is making progress with the drill below 400 feet. Eight other tideland projects close to it have all been validated and are awaiting results in Indian's test well. Of the group, the Oakburn Oil Company has five, while one each belong to W. L. McLaine, Frazier & Oliver, R. S. Durkee and W. Cunningham.

Virtually the same method of determining what course to follow is being tried out by the Continental Oil Company on Tideland Permit No. 124-1 on the coast at Carpinteria. This project is drilling below 4300 feet and with the exception of a few showings of gas encountered higher up, it has been devoid of oil showings. It is opposite the company's Kittle C. Baillard lease and the Franklin No. 1, both of which developed into tremendous gassers a year ago, and are now suspended. George F. Getty, Inc., has Tideland Permit No. 120 and No. 130 a short distance southeast of Continental's deep test. Continental has nine other tideland permits strung out along the Carpinteria coast and in the event the company's initial test proves the existence of an offshore oil field, one or more of the group will start drilling. All have been validated according to requirements of the permit.

OCEAN OIL QUEST UNIQUE

Deep Projects on Shore at Elwood and Seacliff Interesting from Mechanical Standpoint

The drilling of deep oil wells in the bed of the ocean, along the shore at Elwood and Seacliff is one of the most interesting mechanical accomplishments that has come to the attention of the oil industry in recent years.

The engineers have been building a new type of pier, extending in some cases about half a mile into the sea. As a safeguard against probable damage by high seas in future years, the builders made a study of high sea conditions which have prevailed between Santa Barbara and Long Beach for the last twenty-five years, and their effect upon wharves.

The matter of wave pressure was given a great deal of technical study, and ocean swell was taken into careful consideration, the builders arriving at the conclusion that they should build piers high enough to stand above an ocean swell of more than average height. As the piers are being built, and substantially braced, a heavy sea could batter them for days, it is believed, without doing more than twist a portion of a pier out of line, and in the event that a swell should reach up to the deck of a pier it would, the engineers believe, simply float the deck off and leave the pier standing, in which case another deck could be laid within a few days.

WASTE PROBLEM

The oil operators, finding it impossible to establish sump holes on their piers, are pumping the drilling mud and other waste fluid from their drilling projects on these piers, through pipe lines to sump holes located on the mainland some distance back from the ocean.

During the past week the General Petroleum Corporation completed the first real deep-sea oil well in the Seacliff field by finishing as a 1000-barrel producer its Ferguson No. 1 at the outer end of a 1700-foot pier.

The log of this well indicated that the structure rises 100 feet in going from the wells on shore to the one at the end of the pier, bearing out the opinion of various geologists that the dome of the structure lies out in the bay. On the mainland the General Petroleum organization developed three different producing horizons, the first being 3300 feet. The Richfield Oil Company picked up considerable oil sand down as far as 7000 feet in its Hobson No. 1-A, near General's pier. Richfield might have made a good well at that depth, but was unable to get a perfect water shut-off.

DERRICK FOREST LOOMS

Producing horizons already located at Seacliff assure the tideland-permit operators of at least three oil sands for their deep-sea wells, so the industry is looking forward to seeing a small forest of derricks ultimately erected in the little bay at Seacliff.

The same condition prevails at Elwood, where 4000 and 5000-barrel wells already have been completed in the ocean. There are half a dozen or more piers out in Elwood Bay, and operators have the assurance that they may get bigger production from the sea than they have obtained on the mainland.

There is talk of building piers in the ocean at several other points along the south coast—notably Huntington Beach and Newport. Just now the State law prevents the issuance of any new tideland permits to drill, but there is considerable sentiment in the industry for a revision of this law at the next session of the California Legislature in order to make the deep-sea oil supply available when it is needed.

OIL CO-OPERATION PRAISED

Head of Operators' Association Pleased With Spirit Backing New Curtailment Program

High praise for the co-operative spirit which motivates the new oil curtailment program in this State is voiced by Herbert R. Macmillan, president of the California Oil and Gas Association, who was one of the leaders in the deliberations which resulted in oil producers agreeing to pinch back the output of their wells a matter of about 45 per cent from now to November 1. The plan went into effect the 15th inst.

Under this arrangement the oil producers, who have been sharing the burden of pulling down the daily production from a potential of 1,095,386 barrels to an actual of about 609,000 barrels, have undertaken to cut back the daily output to 596,000 barrels. This movement is difficult of accomplishment, but has been unanimously agreed to by the producers in all of the oil fields in California except Santa Fe Springs, where a few holdouts are retarding full acceptance of the curtailment plan. The failure of Santa Fe Springs to line up with the other fields of the State has occasioned a drastic cut in the price of crude oil for that field only. It is believed that the difficulties at Santa Fe Springs will be ironed out within a few days.

H. R. MACMILLAN

Considering the fact that the market for all kinds of petroleum products would have collapsed had California continued to produce upward of 800,000 barrels of oil a day, President Macmillan thinks it fortunate for all business interests in the State that the operators adopted the curtailment program last November. Between November 1 and March 31, the potential production was 114,617,802 barrels, but the actual output was only 68,087,496 barrels, making it possible to keep 46,530,306 barrels of oil in the ground.

Assuming that a considerable portion of this surplus, if brought to the surface, would have evaporated in storage, and that the current price of oil would have fallen to much less than a fair price to both producer and consumer, Mr. Macmillan, in a recent address before the Federal Oil Conservation Board in Washington, D. C., pointed out that the public is in sympathy with the curtailment movement because it realizes that the plan delays the coming of that fateful day when our oil fields will be exhausted, and we will be at the mercy of foreign nations for the major portion of our motor fuel.

"It is to be noted," remarks Edwin Higgins, managing director of the California Oil and Gas Association, "that the committee of eleven experts recently charged by Chairman Paul Boggs of the general committee on production curtailment, with the duty of making an economic study of the actual production needs in this State, found that the daily output might well be cut back from 609,000 to 596,000 barrels a day.

"Several times within the last seven years the oil operators of California have been asked to work together in a movement to check a flood of oil. It is refreshing to observe that during the last six months we have had a fuller measure of co-operation than ever before. This fact is perhaps attributable to better understanding of the economic condition of the country, by the men who produce the oil.

"Unless the producers stand shoulder to shoulder in this emergency, it is reasonable to assume that there will be additional cuts in the price of oil. It has been my observation that whenever our oil prices slump, we are faced with the problem of unemployment, and almost every line of business feels the effect of it. Everyone who comes in daily contact with the business life of the nation knows that conditions are best when every branch of industry is enjoying a reasonable measure of prosperity."

TOMBSTONE EXTENSION MINE BUSY

Development of Estate Being Carried Forward by Crew of Thirty

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—About thirty men are at work in the Tombstone Extension property, near this camp, but entirely outside the old Bonanza sections. A score or more of carloads of silver-lead ore have been shipped to the smelter, with returns stated very satisfactory to the owners. This ore has been broken down in the course of development work, materially assisting in repaying the cost of operation.

At a depth of 130 feet in an incline shaft, drifting on the vein is 350 feet long in each direction, with every foot in ore. There is speculation over a possible connection with the old ore bodies and workings that lie under this camp. Some old timers, familiar with the ground, declare belief that the new find may indicate a trend that would give a lateral extension of wonderful potential value.

In the neighborhood of the Extension property is the R.A.M. group on which J. D. Chadwick and Russell Kohlen will erect surface machinery on a sixty-foot shaft. The ore thus far developed in highly calicious, carrying good values in gold, silver and lead. Several other plans for development have been made by owners of ground of the same "No-Account Hill."

COCHISE COUNTY TAX ON MINES RUNS HIGH

BISBEE (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—The financial dependence of the county of Cochise upon its mines is indicated by recent tax payments received by the County Treasurer. For a half-yearly period, the Phelps Dodge Corporation paid in $316,806, Calumet and Arizona $293,735 and the Shattuck-Denn $49,200. The three have their mining properties in the Bisbee section.

LOCAL MINERS FORM CHAPTER

W. G. Clark Heads Board; State Association

Action Recognizes Value of Organization

Legal Interests of Profession Will be Protected

A Los Angeles Chapter of the California Mining Association was formed at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce last night, with W. G. Clark, well known mining engineer, as president.

WALTER GORDON CLARK

Clark succeeds Walter Gordon Clark, who has been president of the Los Angeles Chapter since its organization. Other officers elected are Robert Chaney, vice president; Harry Ashley, secretary-treasurer, and Edgar Rickard, publicity director.

Clark announced the appointment of the following executive committee: Walter Gordon Clark, Robert Chaney, Harry Ashley, Edgar Rickard, Frank Brownell, Frank Hanna, Frank Hanson, Frank Clarke, Frank Hanson, Jr., Frank Hanson, Sr., and Frank Hanson, Jr.

The meeting was addressed by the first vice president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, who is in and around the city and the mining districts here engaged in mining.

Charles J. Ollman, mining attorney, stated that he was at the mercy of the tax assessor of the county, State and national governments or appeal, as the case stands. He declared that he now largely a matter of negotiation by officials, that for instance in the case of land in California, there are seventeen such acts. He stressed the necessity of having the taxpayers' numbers behind organizations for legislation prejudicial to mining interests.

W. F. Gormley, State mineralogist from Sacramento, declared that work already accomplished by the association was started years ago, instancing the passage of the protective duty on fluorspar. Before that time, he said, fluorspar was imported into California, but now the prospectors to join the organization.

C. S. Brooks, State mineralogist, stated that the association has caused a decrease in the cost of prospectors' licenses, so that now a prospector can afford to go out and buy gold from the prospector. He pointed out that the mining industry produces one-third in value and one-half in tonnage of the wealth of the country, notwithstanding which the State $2,000,000 is spent to help farmers and only $10,000 for miners. Last year they had to get help in making a survey of the State.

Interesting News of Neighboring Oil Fields and Mining Camps

TEXAS OIL CAMPS IN GREAT LUCK

Waste Gas of Field Used as Fuel for Free Incineration

MIDLAND (Tex.) May 18. (Exclusive)—Incinerators operated at no cost and without an attendant may be found at every oil camp in the Yates pool in Pecos county.

The fire in these incinerators burns day and night whether or not there is any refuse to consume. Oil camps pipe waste gas from near-by wells to some handy spot and build a retaining wall around the gas pipe. This makes a first-class cost-free incineration plant.

OPERATIONS AT PILBRIM MINE TOLD

Winze in Property Near Chloride Pushing Ahead in Good Ore Values

KINGMAN (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—The management of the Pilgrim property, near Chloride, states that a winze from the 250-level has passed 100 feet depth and is heading still in four feet of ore that samples $100 to the ton. The vein is stated to be much wider than the winze workings.

Another shift has been employed for the White Horse mine at Mineral Park, following a visit from one of the principal owners, C. R. Wallack of Los Angeles. Supt. A. Swan states that a cross-cut from the tunnel level has developed twenty-two feet of very good ore.

Much of the machinery of the Todd Basin mill of the Highland Mining Company is being shipped to Los Angeles, following demonstration of incapacity to handle the property's base ores.

Operations in Maricopa Flat Area Reviving

MARICOPA, May 18. (Exclusive) Revival of interest is seen on the Maricopa Flat, due to the Doyle Petroleum Company bringing in its Son-Crail No. 6 well on Section 6, 11-23, with a production of 2500 barrels daily of .23 deg. gravity oil and about 600,000 cubic feet of gas.

The well is producing from a depth of 3612 feet, from the contact sand and the top of the brown shale. It is the eighth consecutive completion for the Doyle concern in the field.

Indications are that the new Doyle producer will spur other operators to greater effort on the flat and that considerable new development work will be the result.

Imperial Gold Estate Active

Two new tunnels have been started to open up the north end of the big vein on the Imperial Gold Mines Corporation's holdings, near Battle Mountain, Nev., according to word received here from Supt. Charles W. Birum. The adits are being driven a few hundred feet apart.

Otto Halla, who has mined in Alaska, California and Nevada, has taken a short-term lease on part of the Columbia mine, which adjoins the Imperial on the north. This property has produced some high-grade gold ore.

GERMAN STAMPS AROUSE FRENCH

PARIS, May 17. (Exclusive)—Under the heading "German revenge stamps," a sensational article in the Nationalist Echo de Paris describes the new German propaganda stamp showing the Cathedral of Strasburg underlined by the legend "never forget what is lost."

The article hints that the stamps are not only intended for home consumption but also to inflame Alsatians of German sympathies in their struggle to throw off the French yoke.

OIL EILER GOLD REVIVAL ON WAY

Shasta Hill Company Plans Active Operations

Osborn Mine on Mother Lode Starts Production

SACRAMENTO, May 19. (Exclusive)—Shasta Hill Mining Company, is erecting a 150-ton mill on the old Eiler gold property, near the historic town of Shasta. The two main tunnels, 1500 and 800 feet long, have been cleaned out and retimbered, and are both said to be in profitable ore. A modern camp has been established, and a contract let for building of a tramline from mine to mill. The management reports a substantial tonnage of profitable ore exposed, with recent work particularly pleasing.

The Belmont-Osborn Mining Company has started production from its Osborn gold property on the Mother Lode, near Angels Camp. The management states large bodies of commercial ore have been disclosed, and that the outlook for an era of profitable production is excellent. The company is also rejuvenating the Colorado property, a noted producer in pioneer times. The corporation is a subsidiary of the Belmont Metals Company.

Revival of the old high grade district in Modoc county appears probable, following some promising gold strikes in the field. Owners of many properties are preparing to establish camps and develop the more promising deposits. The district was the scene of a wild, but brief, rush in 1912, after some rich surface finds were reported.

Development of the last virgin section of auriferous gravel along the South Fork of the Yuba River has been started near Washington by the South Yuba Company, Ltd. The corporation recently acquired the Foster ranch, adjoining the historic Rocky Bar placers, and plans to work the gravel with a small dredger. Construction of flumes and ditches is proceeding. W. D. Foster, recently deceased, held the tract for over fifty years as an orchard, and constantly rejected offers for the ground by mining companies.

Steady production of gold-bearing gravel is reported by the Tabor Development Company, working placers near La Porte. An incline from the tunnel recently reached bedrock, disclosing good values.

ARIZONA COPPER SITUATION TOLD

PHOENIX, May 18. (Exclusive)—The big Arizona copper producers are marking time just now, with ability to turn out fully twice their present gross metal output. It is stated that they have on hand, at the smelters or at eastern points, enormous quantities of the red metal that must be worked off. Their stocks have been diminishing, with buyers flocking in for the lower prices recently quoted, and there is prediction that conditions around the big works will be stabilized very soon, though there is no hope for any capacity production for this year, at least.

Announcement has been made that Inspiration, at Miami, early in June will suspend operation of its immense concentration mill, the largest in the Southwest. Such action will affect only about sixty men, for only three of the twenty sections have been operated of late.

There is to be continued operation of the 4500-ton leaching plant, treating semioxidized ores, with addition of a new 600-ton slimes plant that secures better metallic separation. Output will not be materially diminished, as there is promise that the force will work on a six-day basis, instead of five. The International smelter at Miami for some time has been operating only one of its reverberatory furnaces.

Fifty men will be affected by the closing of the Southwest Metals smelter at Humboldt, this action taken, according to Manager G. D. French, because of the low price of copper. Most of the ore has come from the Sheldon mine on Lynx Creek.

Phelps Dodge properties at Bisbee, Morenci and Nacosari are not going very much below the production average of several months past, the same being true of the Calumet & Arizona mines at Warren and Ajo.

At Jerome, Cananea and other points men taken from production are being used in continuing betterments work. Managers generally express the opinion that the depression is a temporary one and that better conditions will be known by fall.

When copper dropped to 14 cents there was a general wage reduction of 5 per cent from the scale in effect before October 1, 1928. About 15,000 men were affected, with the basic wage cut 22 cents a day, to $4.84.

Low Prices Hit Lamb Growers

SACRAMENTO, May 18. (AP)—Although the condition of California sheep and lambs at the beginning of May was better than at this time a year ago and almost as good as the seven-year average, low prices caused discouragement in the industry, George A. Scott, livestock expert of the California cooperative crop-reporting service, said.

Most sheep are in good condition except some bands in extremely dry areas, Scott found, but the early lamb crop was late in finishing. Eastern shipments were far behind the heavy movement of 1929, but in excess of corresponding movements in other years.

The late lamb crop was reported very good.

Limited numbers of grass-fat cattle have been moving to market, but in general the movement promised to be late, with indications of a relatively light run this summer. Many growers were expected to resort to supplementary feeding to finish beef.

NEW STRIKE ON CINNABAR ESTATE RICH

Valuable Find Reported in Juniper Property of Nevada Quicksilver

LOVELOCK (Nev.) May 19. (Exclusive)—Nevada Quicksilver Mines, Inc., reports an important discovery on its Juniper property, about 2000 feet northwest of the mill. A strong ledge is indicated with values running high. Heavy production continues from the Juniper and Montgomery properties, and some promising ore has been uncovered in the Cinnabar group. The management states a tentative bid of $500,000 for the Montgomery property was recently rejected.

Tungsten Production Company has placed its 200-ton mill in commission with two shifts at its Nightingale properties, near Mill City. Ore is mined with steam shovels from the subsurface workings, and operating costs are reported very low. A substantial deposit of excellent ore has been opened on the 400 level, and the outlook for steady production is stated to be decidedly encouraging.

More discoveries of rich gold ore are reported from the Neveda Gold Dome property in the McCoy district, near Austin, owned by Los Angeles capitalists. The McCoy lease is making its second shipment, and rich finds have been announced by the Ring-Reich, Caldwell-Brown, and other leases. The Caldwell-Brown lease reports a strong sheet of $50 ore in the bottom of the shaft. The McCoy Consolidated and other companies are said to be preparing for work along broad lines.

Trinity County Placer Estates Start Producing

Production of placer gold has started at the property of the MacNamara Mining Company and the MacNamara Crescent Mining Company of Coffee Creek, Trinity county. President J. L. Joseph, who has returned from an examination of the mine, exhibited numerous specimens of "pumpkin seed" gold that was taken from bedrock.

The two companies are operating steam shovels, which strip the gravel to within a fot of bedrock, leaving the richest material to be cleaned up by hand. Joseph said that the road to the property has been put in good condition and all preliminary work completed, permitting concentration on actual production.

Development of United American Shows Headway

OATMAN (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—United American's west drift on the 1000 level now is about forty feet on the vein, with values better than $20 in gold.

Connection with Tom Reed workings will be made by June 15 as the faces are only about 120 feet apart, with both companies working to the same end. Tom Reed will cut its vein on the 1100 about the middle of June with about 380 feet to drive.

Wildcat Near Coalinga Fails

COALINGA, May 18. (AP)—The wildcat well of the Currency Oil Company on the Curry Mountain structure in Warthan Canyon district, ten miles west of here, has resulted in a dry hole.

Earlier last week Kent and MacDonald, Inc., Ltd., who had been negotiating to take over the property, had the well shot to make a further test of the oil sand in which drilling had stopped. The shot was set off, but the result was not in any way satisfactory as far as production is concerned.

BULLFROG GOLD ESTATE PASSES

Rhyolite Consolidated Now Operating Property

TONOPAH (Nev.) May 18. (Exclusive)—Control of the Original Bullfrog gold property and adjacent claims has been acquired by the Rhyolite Consolidated Mines Company of Los Angeles, and work begun under superintendency of A. Burneister. Leasers are shipping profitable ore from the Original Bullfrog, and the company is preparing for opening of new ground. At the Denver mine, adjoining the Original Bullfrog, the company is assembling equipment, including a compressor, drills and rails. A substantial tonnage of mill ore, together with some shipping material, is reported exposed.

Owners of the National Bank, Mayflower, Red Fox, Diamond Queen and other properties in the Bullfrog area are arranging for resumption of mining, with Los Angeles capital largely interested. A cross-cut from the 265-foot level of the Indiana mine is being extended to the Pioneer group, preparatory to steady operation of the Indiana mill on ore from both groups.

The Hammon Syndicate of California, operating large gold-dredging enterprises in California, Siberia and other fields, has installed a Keystone drill on the Donald placers, below Manhattan, and plans a final comprehensive test of the auriferous deposits. The placers have already been explored to a considerable extent, but a final check will be made before building of a dredger is definitely determined.

Manager E. J. Bunsted of the B. & B. Quicksilver Company states all metallurgical problems have been solved, and that the enlarged plant will soon be turning out seventy to eighty flasks of mercury monthly. Recent opening of a large deposit of siliceous ore carrying commercial values in quicksilver developed a serious dust problem during the process of retorting, and caused a considerable loss. This condition has been remedied, and a close recovery of mercury secured. The company is controlled by Southern California people.

ACTIVITY IN MINE FIELD LETS DOWN

Curtailment Reported as General for Santa Cruz County, Arizona

NOGALES (Ariz.) May 18. (Exclusive)—A material slowing down of Santa Cruz county mining operations is shown by a review submitted the local Chamber of Commerce by Hugo W. Miller, mining engineer. Due to the drop in the metal market, many men are being laid off and several mines have been closed.

Only thirty men are retained on the Montana property, a drop of 100 employees, this after several years of activity by the Eagle Picher interests and construction of a model mill of large size. Work has been stopped on the Santo Nino property and the well-known World's Fair, Trench and Morning Glory properties are inactive. The Big Jim mine also is idle, while the mill is reported as being dismantled, with some of the equipment being shipped to Oatman, where the company has resumed work on the old Big Jim property. The Three R mill still is running.

Bestwick & Raymond are continuing profitable shipment of 12 per cent copper ore from the Gladstone-Proto lease, with four cars smelted at the Hayden works. On this property has been discovery of remarkable bornite ore, now being sunk upon from the 300 level. The General Development Company, formerly operating the Santo Nino, is reported to have purchased the Rough and Ready group, next the Montana, and to be preparing for development. Lead concentrates are to be produced by Phil Clark from a small mill in Pena Blanca district.

THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, Trustee.

Mr. John Polachek, President of the Corporation, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

COMPANY: General Bronze Corporation is the largest concern in the United States engaged in the architectural metal industry. The Corporation was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York on November 21, 1927, acquiring all the property, business, and good-will of John Polachek Bronze & Iron Co., Inc., and Renaissance Bronze & Iron Works, Inc. During 1928 the Corporation acquired the entire assets and business of Roman Bronze Works, Inc., American Art Foundry, Inc., and the bronze and iron division of Tiffany Studios, and during 1929 the Corporation also acquired the entire assets and business of Wisconsin Ornamental Iron & Bronze Company, Guaranty Iron & Steel Company, Guarsteel Safety Stair Company, Flour City Ornamental Iron Company and Dominion Bronze & Iron, Limited. The Corporation owns and operates seven plants located in Long Island City and Corona, N. Y., Chicago, Ill., Minneapolis, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., and Winnipeg, Canada. These plants, excepting the one at Winnipeg, are of brick and steel construction and contain approximately 600,000 square feet of floor space. The Corporation also maintains, as an art gallery and show rooms, the entire building at 6 East 56th Street, New York City.

The predecessor companies have been engaged for many years in the manufacture of bronze, iron, aluminum, nickel and other metal work for architectural, ornamental, statuary and memorial purposes for public buildings, banks, commercial and office buildings, residences, theatres, etc., throughout the United States and in foreign countries. Many of the largest contracts placed within the last thirty years have been executed by one or the other of the predecessor companies. Due to the improved methods of manufacture, many of which were originated in the Corporation's plants, production costs have been materially reduced, resulting in the rapidly increasing use of bronze and other non-ferrous metals in building construction as evidenced in modern structures throughout the country.

ROW OPENS OVER JOHN D. SCHOOL GIFT

Underpaid Teachers' Fund Declared Misdirected By General Education Board

NEW YORK, May 18. (Exclusive) A charge that the General Education Board has deprived underpaid college teachers of $36,924,000 which should have gone to them as a result of John D. Rockefeller's Christmas gift of $50,000,000 in 1919 was made today in a statement by William H. Allen, director of the Institute for Public Service.

Of this $36,924,000, said Mr. Allen, $11,578,200 was diverted from the Rockefeller gift to general purposes, while the remainder was the sum which normally would have been given by other philanthropists to supplement the Rockefeller funds.

"The officers' report to the General Education Board in 1928," declared Mr. Allen, "said that the Rockefeller offers had been increased by the friends of 176 institutions until a total addition of $122,490,080 had been made to endowments. The Rockefeller share of that was $38,421,710, not counting interest. If the same proportion had been maintained with the diverted sum, others would have brought the total up to $36,924,000."

Mr. Allen asserted the board failed to carry out Mr. Rockefeller's announced purpose in making the gift, namely, to bring about the payment of such salaries that able and aspiring young men and women would not be deterred by financial considerations from devoting their lives to teaching.

Suspect Back in Bay City Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18. (Exclusive)—Jack Sieman, asserted pal of "Black Tony" Parmagini in the Pacific Coast dope racket, was returned to San Francisco today and lodged incommunicado in the County Jail. His return ends a year's desperate maneuvering to evade the law, the last six months of which were spent in jail in Vancouver, B. C., where he put up a stubborn fight against extradition.

Sieman will be arraigned in Federal court tomorrow on the Harrison Act charges that were pending when he jumped $10,000 bail last year and fled to Canada.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Para ejercicio de mis lectores transcribo a continuación uno de los artículos cómicos que, con el título de "Polvillos de Salvadera", publica Luis Gabaldón en la conocida revista madrileña "Blanco y Negro":

Con razón se dice que en este mundo nadie está conforme con su suerte. Unos se lamentan porque no tienen qué comer e ignoran qué funciones le están reservadas al estómago; otros, en cambio, se permiten la coquetería de tragar demasiado, aunque parezca raro en estos tiempos en que alimentarse discretamente supone poseer una renta vitalicia o poco menos. Pero siempre se dan casos excepcionales que merecen un comentario.

Por ejemplo: un consejero municipal de un ayuntamiento de Francia, hombre grave y pendular, ha solicitado la jubilación, o sea ese envidiable derecho a convertirse en tranquilo espectador de la vida para cuanto queda ya por ver en este delezable mundo, después de haber acreditado con la formalidad de unos cuantos papeles y firmas sus buenos veinticinco años de servicios.

Esto no tiene nada de extraordinario, con serlo mucho el que un hombre haya guardado durante tanto tiempo esa fidelidad al Estado. Un hombre que por espacio de veinticinco años se ha levantado a una misma hora, ha ocupado invariablemente su puesto en la oficina determinado tiempo, y ha consumido un ingenio de café, porque ya se sabe que el café ejerce una decisiva influencia en el fácil despacho de los asuntos, es digno de "nuestra consideración más distinguida".

Pero no es éste el caso: lo curioso es que el funcionario francés a que aludimos ha solicitado, no sólo su jubilación reglamentaria, sino que pide un "plus" a modo de indemnización de daños y perjuicios por enfermedades contraídas en el desempeño de sus funciones. Esto produjo tal extrañeza, que el peticionario de tan absurda demanda fue invitado a que manifestase en qué fundaba su alegato.

Y el hombre, ni corto ni perezoso, dijo que después de veinticinco años de trabajos, su estómago también necesitaba ser jubilado; sufría terribles insomnios, pesadillas muy desagradables, absurdas y grotescas a veces; dolores molestísimos, contra los que el bicarbonato ya se inhibía, y, en fin, tales cosas manifestó, que casi dejó convencidos a los que le escuchaban.

Nosotros le damos la razón, porque nos explicamos perfectamente su caso. Todos esos trastornos del servicial ex-consejero son el lamentable resultado de haber asistido a innumerables banquetes, por motivos tan importantes como la organización de unas elecciones, celebración del triunfo del candidato ministerial, reuniones agrícolas, y hasta es posible que pecuarias; repartos de premios, colocación de infinitas primeras y, a veces, últimas piedras; inauguraciones, aniversarios, certámenes, visita a tal o cual alto funcionario . . .

Indiscutiblemente; hace bien al pedir al gobierno ese "plus" de jubilación. Sí, sí; nos parece razonable la demanda del ex-consejero, que por cumplir, quizá con hartura, sus deberes, tenía que poner a su estómago a prueba de las más difíciles digestiones. Y ¡qué caramba!, si hoy lo tiene como un acordeón, es muy justo que le concedan el "plus" que solicita.

Pero quienes debieran atender estas razones gestronómicas no lo han entendido así, y han decidido denegar la pretensión del funcionario municipal, que a estas horas estará renegando de la República y del mismísimo M. Tardieu.

Desde hace algún tiempo, las personas que han llegado a la meta de los cien años se ven obligadas a posar ante el objetivo de los reporteros. El último ejemplo pertenece a la arqueología italiana, y de este interesante descubrimiento da noticias un diario de Roma.

Trátase de una señora centenaria que conserva íntegras sus facultades físicas e intelectuales, y a la cual, con manifiesta inoportunidad, le acaban de salir ahora los dientes. ¿Los dientes a los cien años . . .? Y esto es lo curioso del caso. La centenaria sufrió a los trece años la contrariedad de perder toda su dentadura, y desde entonces, porque no quiso nunca suplir esta falta con una dentadura postiza, pues se opuso siempre a cuanto no fuera natural, se ha visto precisada a un especial régimen de alimentación, cuya verdadera base eran las patatas en su variadísimo repertorio.

Lo cierto es que ahora, al cumplir los cien años, la desdentada ha notado que le nacían tres dientes, cuando ya estaba "echando las muelas" porque tenía que comer siempre lo mismo. Es lógico que "alimente" la ilusión de que los desaparecidos vuelvan otra vez a ocupar su lugar después de tantos años de ausencia.

Five Made Ill by Eating Candy in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18. (AP)—Five persons were stricken here today after eating candy that had been given one of their number.

Found unconscious in their home, emergency treatment was given them and all were pronounced out of danger tonight.

Those affected were Mr. and Mrs. John Repin, Mrs. Laura Halakow, sister of Mrs. Repin, and the Repins' two children, Fred, 9 years of age, and Flossie, 5.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Handsome Hematite

BARSTOW, May 1.—Question: Inclosed find sample a prospector brought to us from the hills east of Barstow, where I have not yet been. For the benefit of all concerned please publish in The Times mineral column what the sample contains and if of value. I have not bothered you very much since the old strontianite days years ago but have quite a large assortment of minerals in our cabinet at Barstow, which you are invited to examine if ever in that section. X.

Answer: The sample is high-grade micaceous iron ore, and a beautiful specimen at that. Thanks for your invitation, which may be accepted some day.

Brown Zinc Ore

BISHOP, May 1.—Q.: Am sending sample of ore found about eight miles south of Bishop, in Sierra Nevada Mountains. Please test it for zinc and silver and tell me what kind of iron is present. S.

A.: The iron present is limonite and hematite. Silver known to mineralogy is absent. Zinc is more or less present and there is some garnetyte on one edge of the specimen.

An Odd Mixture

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Q.: I read and appreciate what you are doing for the mining boys in the hills. Would you please advise me as to contents of specimen inclosed. I have a four-foot vein of this ore that will average at least 30 per cent of the minerals present. The locality is in Death Valley, Inyo county. Does it analyze any commercial values and does it carry any silver? H. D. B.

A.: The sample carries a low percentage of zinc, but is chiefly a mixture of micaceous iron, (hematite) with more or less manganese and lime carbonate. No fire assays made for gold and silver, and free gold is not present.

Three Samples

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 2.—Q.: Enclosing three specimens for analyses. I simply wish to know what they are. I think No. 1 is manganese, found near San Luis Obispo. No. 2 was found near Winslow, Ariz., and No. 3 near Mojave, Cal. Thanking you for this service, and awaiting your report through In the Earth column. B.

A.: No. 1 is black oxide of manganese. No. 2 bartye, of odd crystallization, and No. 3 is low-grade Fuchsite, (chrome mica) imbedded in iron oxides.

Four Samples

VENICE, May 3.—Q.: I am sending three samples of ore found in the same locality of Arizona. Please test for gold, silver, zinc and gallium. The smaller flat piece I do not know what to test for. I have had a big piece of the large sample tested, and it shows a strong reaction for Gallium. Thanking you for an early reply. T.

A.: The flat piece of botryoidal forms is high-grade manganese ore. The large, blackish specimen is hematite, (iron peroxide.) The brilliant-lustered sample—resembling slag—carries iron, and some sulphur anhydride. One other small specimen is blende, (zinc sulphide.) No fire assays made, and Gallium is not present. No hurry-up analyses given, especially where analyses for rare earths, and rare mineral are made. Gallium is a very rare metal. Found in traces in zinc blende, and in traces only in beauxite and many aluminum minerals.

Base-Metal Ores

CAMARILLO, May 3.—Q.: Herewith five samples from property on Mt. Gleason, off Mint Canyon road. Kindly let me know through In the Earth column, just what is the problematical value, character, etc., of these ore samples, and oblige. J. E. M.

A.: Samples 1, 2, 4 and 5 are base-metal ores carrying sulphides and no free gold. They can also be referred to as low-grade fahlers, (tetrahedrite) and known to the mining boys in the hills as of doubtful value. They are not the high-grade "gray copper ore." The sulphides, more or less present, are those of zinc, iron, arsenic, and lead; the last-named mineral being in traces only. The sulphates found are those of zinc, ferrous sulphate, (iron sulphate) and also known as copperas, traces of jarosite of that variety carrying no lead, and coelapite. Sample No. 3 is a mixture of limonite and hematite; chiefly, with microscopic yellow mica known as cat gold. Free gold absent, and "blue vitriol" is present in some of the specimens. The value of such ores is problematical.

Tellurium Absent

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—Q.: I am sending you two medium-size packages of samples. Some of the specimens look very interesting. I think that the black Sulphide, looking like petzite, is chalcocite. We are hoping to get into gold-bearing quartz in this vein as soon as we strike the andesite intrusion which this veing is traversing. J.

A.: The samples are of differing contents, and number some twenty-odd specimens. Manifestly, it is impossible to give you a full report thereon, even qualitatively.

All of the specimens are more on the order of rocks, instead of mineral substances of value, and unless they give assay returns for gold and silver, it is probable that they represent very doubtful values. What should be done on such rock, carrying but traces of microscopical sulphides, is a thorough examination of the property by a competent and reliable mining engineer.

The fact is that your rocks carry traces of arsenopyrite, blende, pyrite, marcasite and lead. Cadmium is absent, and all of the other named substances occur in microscopic traces only.

Rock

SALOME (Ariz.) May 6.—Q.: Would you please classify the sample of ore that I am sending to you of this date. I believe it carries platinum. S. V. G.

A.: The rock carries iron and hornblende. It was carefully analyzed for flake platinum with negative results.

Crushed Samples

GOLETA, May 5.—Q.: Samples sent by The Pioneer. To be analyzed for commercial values. C. O.

A.: A full report cannot be given on the specimens. The small crushed pieces carry differing minerals and no two alike. One average sample of an ounce or two in weight would have been better. Qualitative work shows that zinc and lead sulphides are present, in low percentages each.

Five Samples

ORANGE, May 6.—Q.: Under separate cover am sending you five samples for your determination. For your convenience I have marked each sample for what I think (?) it is, and any information you can give we will surely be appreciated. No. 3 comes from Sonora, Mex.; the others are from Lower California. Am a regular subscriber to The Times and very much interested in your "In the Earth Column." X.

A.: Regarding No. 1 you ask: "What else besides calcite, alumina and magnesia?" Calcite is not present; silica, alumina and magnesia found. No. 2, "Does this rock belong to the quartzites, and is the microscopic sulphite pyrite?" The rock is not quartzite, but it carries silica and the sulphide present is pyrite. It is coated on one side with porphyritic rock, and it reacts slightly for baryte; it seems to carry a little celestite, and aluminum silicate. It would take a full analysis to go further with it. "Does No. 4 carry anything else besides baryte?" This No. 4 is baryte containing more or less limonite. "Just what is No. 5? It appears to be (?)" The sample is probably a mixture of quartz, glassy actinolite, garnet and altered garnet traces. Microscopic mica is sparingly present, and on one edge is a small amount of baryte.

A Mixture

BENTON, May 7.—Q.: I am sending you a sample of rock from this vicinity. What is the dark green substance in the rock? When similar rock is treated to a high heat it changes to a bright yellow iron and copper sulphide. Could the rock carry tin? Thank you. S.

A.: The sample carries no tin. Hematite, baryte, pinkish lime carbonate, traces of lead and zinc, and no free gold. The color you refer to comes from the heating of the mixed substances, and the dark green color in the rock comes from dumortierite (aluminum silicate.)

DOMINICAN POLITICIAN ARRESTED

Velasquez, Candidate for President Recently, Held on Plot Charge

SANTO DOMINGO CITY (Dominican Republic) May 18. (AP)—Federico Velasquez, recently candidate for the Presidency of the Dominican Republic on the Alianza ticket, was arrested at his home tonight by a detachment of twenty soldiers. He was incarcerated in the old fortress.

The soldiers also are looking for Angel Morales, Vice-Presidential candidate of the Alianza, and former Dominican Minister to Washington.

It was reported tonight that the arrests were ordered by Gen. Trujillo after letters showing Velasquez and Morales were fomenting a revolution had been intercepted.

Both Velasquez and Morales withdrew from the electoral contest before the balloting began last Friday. Gen. Rafael Trujillo, commander of the army, and Gen. Rafael Estrella Urena, Government party candidates, consequently were unopposed and were elected, respectively, President and Vice-President.

Both Velasquez and Morales held Cabinet offices under the resigned President Horacio Vasquez, who was forced out of office by a movement led by Trujillo and Urena.

THE CASE FOR THE BONDS

Public opinion in all probability already has determined the fate of the $38,800,000 water bond issue upon which Los Angeles voters will ballot in tomorrow's special election. Last-minute appeals for support and eleventh-hour attacks alike will have little weight.

Yet it is well in this instance, as in all others involving matters of individual or general importance, to take counsel and to reflect when, after much preparation, the hour of action arrives.

The arguments favoring approval of the bonds are sound. They far outweigh any objection that can be raised against the proposal. They point the way to present security and to future growth and strength.

Briefly they may be summarized as follows:

Los Angeles, with a population of more than a million and a quarter, is using all the water she now has available.

Additional water to be provided if the bonds carry will be needed urgently and in increasing volume in the immediate future.

Revenue from the sale of the new supply will repay all principal and interest charges of the bond issue.

No addition to the tax rate will follow as a result of victory for the bonds.

Water rates will not be increased as a result of victory for the bonds.

Employment of more than 3000 workers over a period of not less than three years will result from victory for the bonds.

Greater industrial and business activity will result from victory for the bonds.

More than $16,000,000 will be paid directly to those employed on the great water-development program if the bonds carry.

More than $4,000,000 will go to Los Angeles industries if the bonds carry.

Opportunity for costly litigation involving water rights in Owens Valley will be ended if the bonds carry.

Danger that the city may be ordered to curtail its pumping operations in Owens Valley will end if the bonds carry.

Los Angeles will be provided with a water supply sufficient to protect the community against water famine until Colorado River water is available, if the bonds carry.

The Colorado River aqueduct project will not be affected in any way by the present program.

Los Angeles will be on water rations within the next two years if the bonds do not carry.

General prosperity for every individual in the community will follow if the bonds carry.

The $38,800,000 bond issue is not the product of political or prejudiced minds. It is presented by experts whose deliberations have extended over many years. It has the approval of engineers independent of the water department. It is supported by every representative citizen and organization having actual knowledge of the facts.

It does not provide for any kind of exploitation, either in the form of political chicanery or in profits to those not directly interested. Valuations set up for the properties to be purchased under the program have been established fairly. The water rights and lands now available can never be purchased for less.

A two-thirds majority must be cast in favor of the bonds if they are to succeed. The polls will be open at 6 a.m. tomorrow and will close at 7 p.m. Information concerning location of polling places may be obtained from the office of the City Clerk, FAber 5211.

If tomorrow is to be made a day of greater opportunity for the people of Los Angeles it is essential that the community's qualified electors go to the polls.

VOTE FOR THE BONDS!

ENGINEERS SEE WATER NEED

Trio Eminent in Profession Appeal to Voters to Roll Up Necessary Two-thirds Majority

Three engineers generally recognized as the foremost authorities on water questions in Southern California have issued a joint statement to the people of Los Angeles, urging adoption of the water bond issue at tomorrow's election.

The three, each one having a nation-wide reputation as an expert on water development and control, are Louis C. Hill, J. B. Lippincott and A. L. Sonderegger.

The statement of this trio in stressing the absolute necessity of the water-bond issue is based upon first-hand investigations of the Los Angeles water problem and a study of local water conditions covering the past quarter of a century.

DUE TO WATER

Their appeal, which draws attention to the necessity of not a mere majority but a two-thirds majority for the water bonds, follows:

"To the citizens of Los Angeles:

"The undersigned consulting engineers, having been familiar for twenty-five years with the water conditions in Southern California and having made a special study of the water supply affecting the city of Los Angeles, both as to its requiremetns and available sources, urge you to wholeheartedly support the water-bond issue which will be voted upon tomorrow.

RAISE POINT

"The unprecedented growth which this city has experienced during the past twenty years is directly the result of the availability of an abundant water supply. It is now apparent that an additional supply must be obtained in order to maintain this growth and to insure a continuance of our prosperity. This can be done only by the expenditure of large sums of money.

"Therefore we urge you with all

FIERY SHIP PUTS BACK TO HARBOR

British Vessel Forced to Dash 100 Miles Following Discovery of Flames

Fire in the hold of the British motor vessel Lochgoil, bound from Los Angeles Harbor to Liverpool with nine passengers, a crew of forty and a mixed cargo aboard, drove the craft back to dock yesterday.

Two fireboats and six land units of the fire department flooded the hold and subdued the stubborn flames that had eaten into No. 3 lower hold.

The blaze was discovered at 8:30 a.m. when the ship was more than 100 miles at sea. Members of the crew had the blaze nearly under control by the time the boat docked at the port, but not before a considerable quantity of borax and dried and canned fruit had been destroyed. The ship was not damaged. Origin of the fire is not known.

F. H. Hillman, purser, was removed to the Seaside Hospital after he slipped from a ladder and plunged twenty-five feet into the hold while assisting in fighting the fire. His back was injured.

No estimate could be placed on the damage last night. It is expected that the burned cargo will be unloaded today and the ship put to sea again tomorrow.

BOY DIES IN RESERVOIR

While the father of Clayton Miller, 11 years of age, of 2247½ Rogers avenue, was busy Saturday afternoon on a house which he is building on McMann's ranch near Covina, the boy amused himself by playing with a toy boat floating on top of a near-by reservoir. Suddenly the boy toppled in. He was drowned before anyone realized he was missing. The Glendora Fire Department inhalator squad tried in vain to revive him. The boy's body was taken to the Covina funeral parlor.

Where to Vote on Bond Issue

If you do not know where your polling place is for the water bond election tomorrow, telephone the Citizens' Water Committee, FAber 7304, or TUcker 4820. Polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

The water bonds are absolutely vital to the welfare of Los Angeles. Be sure to vote—and vote "Yes" for the water bonds.

LASKER TO HEAR TODAY OF PAROLE

Convicted Man's Release Hangs on Judge's Decision on Doctors' Report

Decision on an application for probation filed by A. I. Lasker, convicted head of the Lasker Finance Corporation, will be made today by Superior Judge Wilson, following the reports of three physicians named to examine the County Jail inmate.

Lasker is under sentence of one to fourteen years in San Quentin on a conviction on five counts of falsification of records. During the pendency of his appeal he was free on bail of $50,000. When his conviction was affirmed he was remanded to jail.

In obtaining his freedom on bail, Lasker presented physicians' affidavits that he is a sufferer from secondary anemia. His new application asserts that he is now a victim of pernicious anemia and that he will not live eight months if confined in prison.

The convicted financier has been examined by Dr. J. P. Schnider, said to be a foremost authority on the disease set out in the application. He was named by Judge Wilson to report on Lasker's condition at the hearing today.

Federal Agent to File Charges

William L. Pittman, special agent at Los Angeles for the Department of Justice, who recently returned Claude W. Daniels, former bookkeeper of a Fresno bank, to this city for trial, today will forward a complaint to Atty.-Gen. Mitchell regarding treatment he asserts he received from Department of Justice agents in New York. The complaint, he states, will be in the form of a sworn affidavit.

He states that he locked his prisoner in a New York hotel room and went to the agents for aid in obtaining transportation to Los Angeles. He says he was detained for several hours, cross-examined severely as to his status as an agent, and his room was ransacked and his prisoner taken from it by the agents. Personally, he adds, he obtained funds for the trip to Los Angeles from friends.

JULIAN USURY CLIMAX NEAR

State to Open Finish Fight Today in Trial of Seventeen Accused

A finish fight to establish their case is expected to be begun today by the prosecution in the case of seventeen men charged with conspiracy to commit usury in the Julian case, all of whom are on trial in Superior Judge Aggeler's court.

The trial began last Tuesday and soon resolved itself into an effort upon the part of the District Attorney's office to have identified as true copies of the originals photographic copies of Julian stock pool agreements. These agreements form the basis upon which the grand jury indicted the defendants.

ORIGINALS MISSING

All of the witnesses called so far in the case have been for the purpose of identifying the photographs, but when court adjourned Friday they had not as yet been admitted in evidence.

Testimony developed the fact that the originals were produced in the grand jury room in 1927, were later given to Federal authorities, who, in turn, loaned them to Frank Flint. When Flint died they became a part of his estate, one of the executors of which is Motley H. Flint, who is a defendant in the present action. All efforts to locate them have failed.

FEDERAL WITNESSES

Witnesses scheduled to be put on the stand today include U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb and Postal Inspector Webster, who will be asked for a detailed account of the circumstances under which the original agreements were given to Frank Flint. This established, the prosecution declared they will call to the witness stand William R. Flint, executor of the Frank Flint estate, and Miss Edythe Stocker, employee of the legal firm of Flint & MacKay.

Miss Stocker already has been cited for contempt of court because she refused to answer questions regarding the pool agreements before the grand jury.

Mary Hay Here to Make Home

Mary Hay, actress and former wife of Richard Barthelmess, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday with the expectation of making her permanent home here. She is stopping temporarily at the home of Harrison Lobdell, 216 Citrus avenue.

Miss Hay recently remarried, as also has Barthelmess. The actress expects to complete negotiations to appear in motion pictures, she asserted yesterday.

The assessment district map for the improvement of Meyler street from Santa Cruz street to the Pacific Electric right of way has been approved by the City Council, with instruction that water mains, hydrants and appurtenances be included in the charges.

PREJUDICE RULING SET FOR TODAY

Affidavits of prejudice filed against Superior Judge Wilson by S. C. Lewis, Federal prisoner, now here for trial on a jury bribery charge, will be acted upon today at 2 p.m. by Superior Judge Doran. Lewis will appear in support of the affidavits, acting as his own attorney.

The prejudice affidavits, filed by Lewis before he was taken to McNeil Island Federal prison a little more than a month ago, have once been acted upon by Judge Doran, who ruled that Judge Wilson is not prejudiced and can sit as a trial judge on the bribery case against Lewis.

However, when Lewis was returned to this city for trial he contended that he was not present when Judge Doran ruled and that therefore his rights were not protected. His trial was then continued by Judge Wilson and the entire matter returned to Judge Doran.

Today at 2 o'clock it is expected that Lewis will file additional charges against Wilson and probably will attack the jurisdiction of Judge Doran with a contention that Doran was the trial judge in the first Julian trial in 1928 and following the verdict of not guilty declared that Lewis should have been convicted.

Musician's Wife Dies of Injuries

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 18.—Injuries received a month ago today in a traffic crash caused the death this afternoon in Seaside Hospital of Mrs. Lillian B. Clarke, 57 years of age, wife of Herbert L. Clarke, leader of the Long Beach Municipal Band and for twenty years soloist of Sousa's band.

Mrs. Clarke struck a telephone pole here while driving her automobile. Her knee was shattered, but her injuries were not considered serious until complications set in.

An inquest will be conducted tomorrow. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today. The body was removed to the Holton & Son Funeral Chapel. Mrs. Clarke resided at 245 Prospect avenue. She had made three world tours with her husband and was widely known in musical circles. She leaves, besides her husband, two sons, Herbert L., Jr., Ralph, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruby Henderson.

DAWN-AGE MAN CLEWS FOUND

Southwest Museum Curator Tells About Discoveries

This Marks First Proof of Earliest American Tribe

Discovery of the charred remains of a camp fire under Pleistocene rock strata in Gypsum Cave, twenty-one miles southeast of Las Vegas, Nev., is the first conclusive proof that human beings occupied this continent more than 20,000 years before Columbus discovered America, it was announced yesterday by Dr. James A. B. Scherer, director of the Southwest Museum.

News of what is characterized as "the most outstanding anthropological find ever made in the United States" is contained in a brief telegram received by Dr. Scherer from the discoverer, Dr. Mark R. Harrington, Southwest Museum curator in charge of excavations at Gypsum Cave.

"Until recently," Dr. Scherer asserted, "it was believed that man was a late comer to North America, but Dr. Harrington now has proved conclusively that men of high intelligence lived here twenty and perhaps thirty or more thousand years ago instead of less than 10,000 years ago, as was believed formerly."

OTHER THINGS FOUND

Last March, the Southwest Museum obtained exclusive rights to explore Gypsum Cave. Remarkable discoveries were reported at that time, including the skull of a giant ground-sloth and darts from an atlatl, an ingenious weapon that antedates the bow and arrow.

Following these preliminary discoveries, the scientists expressed the hope that something would be found to prove that the human vestiges and the ground-sloth remains were of the same age, and this hope, according to Dr. Scherer, now has been dramatically realized with the discovery that human beings were roasting meat in the cave long before the ground-sloths dragged their hairy bodies through the cave opening.

TEXT OF TELEGRAM

The telegram from Dr. Harrington says:

"Found in room one of Gypsum Cave a campfire of our sloth hunters, a patch of real charcoal under layer of unbroken sloth dung, capped by more than seven feet of undisturbed strata in the topmost of which are found basketmaker and early Pueblo artifacts. This find establishes association of man and sloth beyond question. Will leave in position for Dr. Chester Stock of California Institute of Technology to see."

Mr. Scherer asserted that the Southwest Museum's discovery has "pushed back human history on this continent thousands of years."

"It now appears certain," he said, "that America was discovered originally by wandering groups of mongoloids, and that these first men to come here came from Eastern Asia by way of the Bering Sea."

THEORY EXPLAINED

It is probable, he explained, that because this continent is relatively new, it is far from the cradle of civilization, this being borne out by the fact that no skulls of the first primitive men have been discovered here.

"The same men who built the campfire in the Pleistocene era," he declared, "undoubtedly used the atlatl, a weapon which required a very high degree of intelligence to make and use."

The atlatl consists of a long grooved shaft in which darts were inserted. By grasping the shaft at one end and sweeping it forward with a jerk, the darts were expelled with great force and accuracy from the other end.

TARGET PRACTICE

The discovery of foils for the atlatl darts proves, according to the museum director, that the early mongoloids in Nevada were holding range practice thousands of years before Robin Hood was shooting his winged shafts through Sherwood Forest.

Following the preliminary investigations at the cave, Dr. Scherer, through Dr. Robert A. Millikan, obtained an agreement under which the California Institute of Technology is co-operating with the Southwest Museum in the explorations.

DRIVING north from San Luis Obispo you go into a California that we do not know anything about. It is like a far country.

The people are Portuguese, Italian and Swiss.

Their feast days and customs reach back into traditions that are strange to us.

THE GREAT DAY

The great day of the year in San Luis Obispo, for instance, is Pentecostal Sunday.

When Isabella of Portugal was on the throne her people were starving in the then new colonies in the Azores. She made a sacred vow that she would never wear her royal crown again if succor did not arrive for her starving colonies—which had been cut off by heavy storms.

On Pentecostal Sunday three food ships sailed into the beleaguered harbor and the colony was saved. Every year—for all these centuries—the Portuguese of all lands give a great feast for the poor on that day. There are no poor in San Luis Obispo, so they feed the whole town anyhow. There is a big procession in which a crown is carried—symbolic of the crown of St. Isabella.

CHILDREN OF THE GOTHS

There are probably no people in California who have made greater success than the Portuguese, but who are so little known.

Their own belief is that they are of pure Gothic blood. They are descendants of a Gothic tribe which got down on the peninsula and found themselves unable to get back through the mountain passes—the gates—whence they came. Hence, Porto-Goths.

Their language is a conglomeration of Latin, Spanish and French. They are regarded as among the best citizens who have settled in California. A poverty-stricken Portuguese is as rare as a lavish Scotchman.

THE MELTING POT

One of the most remarkable products of the melting pot of California is the mixing of the Spanish and Italians.

The school-teachers in these northern valley towns tell me that the great-grandsons and great-grand-daughters of the old Monterey Spanish families and the early Italian families are almost invariably brilliant, handsome, successful people.

FIGHTING COUSINS

I once saw a basketball game here in which one of the teams was made up of five cousins of mixed Italian-Spanish blood. They were wonderful. They made me think of racing greyhounds.

THE YELL LEADER

The yell leader was a little Portuguese girl.

She was like a Gothic princess screaming at her wild horsemen for the blood of the foe. She had piercing eyes that flamed with battle.

"Come on, you guys!" she screamed. Throwing down her megaphone, her slender white arms lashed the air and her war cries quivered through the hall in a way to make any basketball team do something desperate.

LEVY MAP SUBMITTED

The City Engineer has submitted to the City Council the tentative assessment district map for the improvement of streets in the Vineland-avenue and Cantara street district. It was referred to the Public Works Committee.

SIXTY-ONE AT RINGSIDE SEIZED AS PETE FELLS FOE

Great was the reputation of Don Ignacio Francisco Fernandez del Fuego. From the valley of San Gabriel came he, reputed by all who knew him as the most gallant, audacious fighter of his race.

On the other hand, One-Round Pete was a product of the gas works district. Red-eyed, bald-headed and bow-legged, he was a sorry contrast to the Great Don Ignacio Francisco Fernandez del Fuego with his flashing eyes, tall, well-groomed figure and Castillian dignity.

Yesterday they met on the field of honor, a canvas-floored ring forty by forty feet square. Don Ignacio, his proud head erect, eyed his adversary fearlessly. For a moment it was thought that Pete would show the white feather and run. But Don Ignacio tripped on his spur and fell in the center of the ring, and in a flash One-Round Pete was upon him. The encounter was brief, and sad is the tale to be told to his old friends of the valley of San Gabriel. For Don Ignacio Francisco Fernandez del Fuego is dead. And Pete, still undecided as to what it was all about, is in the City Pound.

From a news standpoint the duel was the occasion of a spectacular police raid which resulted in sixty-one men being arrested for attending a cock fight which, according to Section 597-B of the State Penal Code, is a misdemeanor. The scene

NINETEEN DRIVERS IN NET

One Person Killed and Several Others Injured in Series of Sunday Traffic Accidents

Nineteen persons were arrested yesterday on charges of drunk-driving as a result of half a score of crashes in which one person was killed, several possibly fatally injured and many seriously hurt.

Laurie Rinhart, 29 years of age, address, was seized on a charge of being drunk in an automobile.

Rinhart, a janitor of 3047 Boulder avenue, was arrested at Sixth and San Julian streets after he was reported by Officers Champion and Green to have crashed his car into a shoe-shining stand and wrecked both.

When his car crashed into another machine and caused it to turn over at Sixteenth street and Maple avenue, Walter E. Larsen, 26, a mechanic of 202 North Harvard Boulevard, was arrested by Officers Anderson and Field. L. Van Garrick of 1248 West Fifty-fourth street, driver of the wrecked machine, was severely bruised and cut, the officers stated.

Motorcycle Officers Redican and Emsley reported they had to leap from their machines parked on the Macy-street bridge to escape being run down by an automobile driven by Gus Bonilla, 38, of 739 Lord street, an oil worker. One of the motorcycles, the officers said, was wrecked.

James Kidd, 37, an undertaker of 928 West Eeleventh street, was arrested by Officers Baird and Crum after his car is said to have sideswiped three other machines at Santa Barbara avenue and Broadway. None of the occupants of the three cars was reported hurt.

After he drove his auto into the

AUTO LICENSING ACTION DECIDED

Private Agencies Lose Suit for Injunction

Must Obtain Car Owner's Written Consent

State Requires No Aid in Issuing Plates

Motorists applying for automobile license plates at private license offices not operated by the State must first inform the Motor Vehicle Division of California in writing of their desire to have such agent represent them, according to amendments made by the Legislature in 1929, and held constitutional in a ruling just handed down by Superior Judge Yankwich.

The decision of Judge Yankwich has been anxiously awaited since the granting of a temporary injunction by Superior Judge Gates on December 31, 1929, restraining State officers in the Motor Vehicle Department from enforcing the provisions of the amendments to the law.

Judge Yankwich holds that the amendments are valid. He dissolved the temporary injunction and denied a permanent one asked by Lee J. Ellis and others engaged in the lucrative business of obtaining license plates for others for a fee. The proceedings were instituted against Frank G. Snook, chief of the Motor Vehicle Division of California.

The private office operators contended that the Legislature of 1927 licensed their business but the amendments to the law in 1929 make it impossible for them to carry on. They complained that the law, if enforced, will ruin their business.

STATE AID UNNEEDED

In his written opinion Judge Yankwich holds that while the Legislature cannot prohibit a legitimate business, no inherent right exists in anybody to engage in a business relating to, or in aid of, the performance of a governmental function.

He also declares that while the State could refuse, in the matter of issuing automobile license plates, to deal with anyone but the owner of an automobile, the Legislature can certainly make the filing of a written consent the prerequisite to its recognizing the owner's agent. Such requirement, while it may slow up the business of those operating private offices of the kind does not destroy it. Hence, the requirement is not an unreasonable exercise of legislative police power.

GADD HALTS STANDARD'S WATER PLAN

Contractor Objects to Plant for Experimenting With Sewer Outflow

Negotiations are progressing whereby the Standard Oil Company of California will experiment with the reclamation of water from the city's outfall sewer at Hyperion, but the plan now is pending while the objections of Peter R. Gadd, a contractor, are being settled.

Some months ago Gadd obtained a pipe-line franchise through the city of Santa Monica and gained a contract with the city of Los Angeles through the Board of Public Works for pipe lines and a tract of land near the outfall sewer. His ostensible purpose was to fill up the lagoons about Playa Del Rey, making this land available for subdivision. The oil discovery in this neighborhood has halted this plan, however.

Last fall the Standard Oil Company requested the board to lease six acres near the sewer plant for buildings and the allocation of 6,000,000 gallons of sewer water daily for experimental purposes.

Gadd has filed a letter with the board protesting against the Standard Oil contract, contending that it violates his contract. A conference was held last week of the interested parties and the board, but no solution was achieved. Gadd fears that the Standard's pipe lines between its plant and the outfall sewer will interfere with his project.

INDIAN HERITAGE

By a coincidence, both Mrs. Harrington and her niece have Indian blood in their veins, so native Americans have had an important part in discovering the earliest traces of humanity in their own country.

Dr. Scherer, accompanied by Dr. Stock, will leave today or tomorrow for Gypsum Cave to inspect the latest and most significant discovery made there.

Due to the approaching hot weather, excavations will be abandoned within a few weeks, to be resumed early in the fall.

Rancher Slain by Unseen Foe at Cabin Door

Albert Horton, 65 years of age, who resided with his brother in a cabin, three miles east of Saugus, on the Mint Canyon Road, was slain last evening by an unseen foe who struck him down with a club as he answered a knock at the door. His brother hearing him fall, rushed to the front of the house only to find him dead on the porch and the slayer making his escape in the darkness, he told officers.

Capt. Bright and Deputy Sheriff Hutchinson of the Sheriff's homicide squad left last night to investigate.

The cabin is located near Green Oaks. James Callow, 15, together with two other boys, heard the cries of the surviving brother and they went to the Newhall substation and gave the alarm.

Robbery is supposedly the motive of the crime, according to officials.

Two in Drifting Boat Rescued

Members of the crew of the Coast Guard patrol boat 259 under command of Gunner V. A. Johnson yesterday rescued two South Pasadena residents adrift in a small motor launch off Seal Beach. R. B. Roney and H. Carroll, the occupants of the launch, were brought into the Coast Guard base at San Pedro last night after the water pump on their craft had broken.

Aside from the damaged motor part, neither the craft nor its occupants were injured.

GROUNDWORK for the protection of Los Angeles county mountain and brush areas during the coming season is being laid this week at a training school at Henninger Flats, three miles up the Mt. Wilson toll road. County Forester Turner is conducting the school for nearly 100 seasonal fire guards.

The men have been selected from a long list of applicants for the work and are declared to represent the best material available in the county. Taxpayers of the county are particularly interested in the school because the training given there means better protection to the watersheds from fire.

As Turner pointed out to the men at the opening of the school, the fire hazard in the mountain and brush country is going to be unusually high this summer because of the copious rainfall last winter and this spring. The luxuriant grass and cover vegetation will, on drying out under the summer heat, produce a veritable tinder box for chance sparks to set ablaze.

EXACTING WORK

The fire guards trained at this school also constitute the material from which the future county rangers and assistant foresters are selected. The work is highly technical and requires not only a peculiar native aptitude but also long and rigorous training.

The course of study at the school includes practical lessons in packing burros for mountain fire work, care of stock, study of firebreak and trails systems in the mountains, reforestation problems in Southern California, forestation nursery methods, identification of wild plant life, study of clerical procedure in office methods, field office procedure and reports, study of trails and telephone construction and repair, fire control instructions, and associated subjects.

FIRE TRAINING

For the practical work a brush fire will be started and the men shown how to control it.

At the conclusion of the eight-day school, which will be under the direct supervision of Assistant County Forester Graves, there will be a general review and written examination. The school is conducted in a regular camp established on the flats, where the men sleep, eat and study.

There will be special lectures during the week by visiting foresters from neighboring counties, as well as representatives from the State Board of Forestry and the State Forester's department.

ADVERTISING SESSION WILL HAVE AUTO TONE

The meeting of the Advertising Club tomorrow noon at the Biltmore will take an automobile tone. Frank E. Titus, vice-president of the International B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, will speak on "The Place Advertising Has Played in Foreign Trade." James A. Bohannon, president, Peerless Motor Car Corporation, will talk on "The Part Advertising Plays in Our Program." The chairman will be F. L. Hockensmith, manager of the Pacific Goodrich Rubber Company.

NEW PLEA MADE ON WATER VOTE

of the Citizens' Water Committee, in reviewing the efforts of his committee to bring to the attention of every resident of Los Angeles the vital importance of the water bonds, declared that especial emphasis should be given to two basic facts in connection with the issue.

These facts, Mr. Scott stated, are:

(1.) Los Angeles faces an actual and a serious water shortage unless these bonds are approved and the necessary water obtained and developed.

(2.) All charges, principal and interest, on the water bonds will be paid from water sales—and not from taxes. And this payment of all charges on the bonds from water revenues is based on the present low water rates.

MAYOR TO BE GUEST AT CLUB WOMEN'S LUNCH

With Mayor Porter as the guest of honor, 200 or more club women are scheduled to meet for a noonday luncheon today at the Ambassador.

The luncheon has been arranged under the general supervision of Mrs. Henry E. Holbrook and among those who have made reservations are the presidents and executive officers of practically every woman's club in the city.

Sponsored by the Los Angeles Homeowners' Association, the luncheon is being given as an expression of appreciation on the part of a large group of Los Angeles women for the civic service being performed by Mayor Porter, in presenting to the people the urgent necessity for additional water. Reservations have been handled under the chairmanship of Mrs. Katherine Neuman.

Mrs. A. B. Cooke, president of the Ebell Club and one of those prominently identified with the luncheon expressed grave concern over the serious water situation which confronts the city.

"We cannot afford, for our own sakes, to refuse to authorize the water bonds at this juncture, especially when we know that these bonds will not and cannot increase our taxes," said Mrs. Cooke.

"By all means, let us all go to the polls Tuesday and vote for the bonds."

Among the women scheduled to attend the luncheon are Mrs. Alfred E. Bartlett, president of Hollywood Women's Club; Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey, Mrs. E. B. Wakeman, Mrs. Walter Goodfellow and Freda Peyka.

GOV. YOUNG POINTS TO NEED OF AMPLE SUPPLY

Prosperity of California and the entire Southwest depends upon such local improvements as a plentiful water supply, paved streets, electrical supply and an adequate sanitary system, according to Gov. Young, who left Los Angeles for Sacramento after a three-days' stay last night. In a written statement Gov. Young declared in part:

"No city can grow and continue to grow without an adequate supply of pure domestic water; that Los Angeles in its wonderful growth was the marvel of the age; that in future years a Boulder Dam and a Metropolitan Water District would furnish an adequate water supply for all time; but that through the decade pending the completion of that gigantic enterprise, this city must be certain of sufficient water, if during the next ten years, as during the last ten, she is to continue her present prestige as pre-eminently the most rapidly growing large city in the world.

"This is, of course, a local Los Angeles problem; but it is also a State problem to the extent that the prosperity of our State depends upon the prosperity of each locality. Fortunately the record of Los Angeles is such that the State need have no fear that she will not do her part in advancing that prosperity."

ADVERTISING AGENCY EXPANDS OFFICE HERE

Increased business activity in the Southern California trade zone has necessitated expansion of the local office of the J. Walter Thompson Company, which was opened last March 15 in the Petroleum Securities Building, according to an announcement yesterday by the company, which said it is the advertising representative for more than 125 institutions throughout the world. New members of the local staff are Thomas W. Harrison of this city and Earle A. Meyer of New York City.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO TRAFFIC

curbing at Pico street and Alvarado Terrace, John J. Dempsey, 22, a clerk of 2345 Hillcrest Drive, was arrested by Officers Mason and Rolle. The officers reported him under the influence of liquor.

Responsible, according to the arresting officers, for the capsizing of another car and injury to the driver, Robert M. Acord, 30, an oil worker of 1455 American avenue, Long Beach, was taken into custody by Officers Farrie and Wheeler on Anaheim Boulevard near Wainwright street. The injured motorist is Persis M. MacCormack of 3257 Walnut street, Huntington Park.

SALESMAN HELD

A third collision resulted in the arrest of Percival Mackenzie, 23, a salesman, of 215 East Vernon avenue. Officers Misner, Brown and Driscoll, who made the arrest, reported that Mackenzie drove his car into one driven by T. J. Myers of Venice at Pico street and Crenshaw Boulevard. Myers was painfully injured.

Like Kidd, police stated, Forrest W. Latham, 22, a laborer of Hermosa Beach, sideswiped three automobiles with his car at Eightieth and Figueroa streets. While no one was reported hurt considerable damage was done to the cars, Officers Ledbetter and Triplett said.

In a condition unfit to drive a car, according to Officers Welton and Haskins, Darell Down, 29, a transient mechanic, was taken into custody at Waterloo street and Berkeley avenue. He was held for being drunk in an automobile and, because he was "hardboiled and boasted of having killed a man in Chicago," according to the officers' report. He was booked on an additional charge of robbery.

CHILD KILLED IN CRASH

An early morning collision at the intersection of East Anaheim street and Atlantic avenue in Long Beach resulted in the death of Antonia Artando, 5, of 3139 Angeles Mesa Drive, Los Angeles, and minor injuries to two other passengers in the car, which was being driven by her father, Anastacio Artando. The others, Mrs. Margarita Negelte, 68, and Juan Artando, 37, a brother of the driver, were treated at St. Mary's Hospital and then allowed to go home. The body of the child is at the Huddle & Bondwell mortuary in Long Beach, pending an inquest, the date for which has not been set.

Al McKinnin, 29, of 5613 Aldama street, received a possible skull fracture yesterday morning when his automobile crashed into a telephone pole at Eighth street and Garland avenue.

Miss Josephine Hart, 62, 4356 South Harvard Boulevard, was struck and injured possibly fatally while crossing Western avenue at Forty-second street. She sustained a fractured skull.

Mrs. Sophia Miller, 45, 787 Breed street, was struck by a car at Fourth and Mott streets and was taken to General Hospital by the driver of the car, Pete Martisch, 3707 East Third street, where it was said she had sustained a possible skull fracture.

FIVE MEN HELD

Pat S. Doney, 30, 3048 Terchoff street, was booked on suspicion of drunken driving and Howard McDonald, 36, 1535 Wilshire Boulevard, on suspicion of being drunk in an auto, following a collision with a machine driven by G. O. Jones, 1341 Fralley street, Wilmington, in the harbor district.

Five men were held following a crash at Temple and Beaudry streets when a car driven by Morton L. Barker, 422 Corporation Building, was struck by a machine driven by Otto Maier, 50, of 1141 West Sixtieth street. He with his four companions were given the sobriety tests at Georgia-street hospital. Maier was ordered held on charges of suspicion of drunken driving and the others of being drunk in an automobile. They were John S. Moffett, 1052 South Olive street; Tony Yescta, 1027 Bartlett street; Julius Zimmerman, 326½ South Spring street, and John Seavich, 967 Bernall street.

Mori Siski, 1513 West Thirty-fifth Place, figured in a crash at San Pedro and Pico streets and was ordered held on suspicion of drunken driving.

Charge Against Paper Deplored

"The character of the charges accusing the editors of the Record with contempt of the grand jury creates a legal battle of vital concern to the entire nation," according to S. S. Hahn, attorney for the newspaper. "The nature of the proceedings strike at the very heart of constitutional guarantees.

"Freedom of the press is the most sacred heritage of the common people. Its curtailment in the proper performance of service to the public is the surest avenue leading to ignorance, oppression and despotism."

Leaders Named for Young Fete

Marshall Stimson, attorney, has been named chairman, and James P. Britt, former assistant secretary of the State Railroad Commission, has been made secretary of the general committee in charge of the ratification dinner to be given for Gov. Young on Monday evening, June 2, it was announced yesterday at Young campaign headquarters.

The dinner, which will mark the opening of the Governor's Southern California campaign for renomination in the August Republican primary, will be held in the ballroom of the Alexandria. Reservations equalling half the capacity of the room have already been made, Britt said.

OIL-PRICE PACT STILL HOPEFUL

New Efforts Made to Sign Up Santa Fe Operators

Grimm to Hold Unofficial Conferences Today

Leaders Reduce Quotations to 50 Cents Per Barrel

Hope that the few producers in the Santa Fe Springs oil field who have refused to enter the curtailment program would agree within a day or two to limit the amount of crude oil taken from their wells was expressed last night by H. Paul Grimm, oil umpire. Mr. Grimm said that a number of unofficial conferences will be held with the producers today and that he expects a favorable result from the meetings.

Mr. Grimm declared that it is his belief that with a general agreement for reduced output in the Santa Fe field the major oil companies will again advance their prices for the crude purchased in that district. "I do not believe the companies there will wish to continue selling their oil for such a low figure and will agree to the production cut rather than to operate at a loss," he said.

The Standard Oil Company announced a price cut ranging as low as 50 cents per barrel for 21 to 27.9 gravity oil, following the failure of conferences between the producers to agree to limitation. The lead of the Standard company was followed by other large refiners, including the Union Oil Company.

SIXTY-ONE HELD AT COCK FIGHT

of the battle was in a barnyard at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Arizona avenue, near Mines Field.

News of the impending conflict reached the police, and Officers Olson, Kearney and Stonesifer of the central vice squad, having enlisted the aid of Police Sergeant Eubanks and several squads of uniformed officers of the Wilshire division, rushed to the scene. The last half-mile was covered at sixty miles an hour along a dirt road and the vice squad officers arrived on the scene in a veritable cloud of dust.

Besides those taken into custody for attending the fight, Joe Wolf, 60 years of age, of 1339 West One Hundred and Third street, and H. C. Burton, 31, of 1538 North Main street, were arrested for possession of the roosters and conducting the battle. Thirty-five cocks were confiscated. The body of Don Ignacio Francisco Fernandez del Fuego and that of another vanquished fighter also are held as evidence. Wolf, the detectives said, admitted ownership of [illegible] of the roosters, while Burton confessed owning the other fifteen.

Quite a few women, well dressed, were among the spectators when the raid was made, the officers said. None of these was arrested, but many of them appeared at Central police station later to aid in bailing out their escorts. Of the sixty or more booked not one was a Mexican, the officers said, which is considered unusual as in the past the few cock fights that have been discovered here have been conducted and largely attended by members of this race.

Frank Capra, 6480 Oden street, who said he is a motion-picture director, was among those arrested.

GREY MAKES RECORD CATCH

Half-Ton Swordfish Landed by Writer

Coaxing Sea Giant From Deep
Zane Grey, author and sportsman, shown in action.

A NEW world's record for a catch with a rod and reel has been set by Zane Grey, novelist and sportsman, during his fishing trip in Tahiti waters, according to a cablegram received here yesterday by Mrs. Grey. His record trophy is described as a Tahitian swordfish weighing 1040 pounds.

The previous record is understood to have been the landing of a New Zealand black marlin weighing 976 pounds some years ago by Capt. Laurie Mitchell, who is a companion of Grey on his present expedition, Mrs. Grey said.

What disposition will be made of the tremendous swordfish was not stated in the cablegram, but Mrs. Grey believes it will be mounted and sent to the Museum of Natural History in New York City, along with a swordfish of a new species caught by her husband several weeks ago and named by him the Tahitian Silver Marlin. That one weighed 728 pounds.

The novelist informed his wife that he is leaving for home on the next boat.

Jacobs Slated for Liquor Law Sentence Today

Alfred B. Jacobs, wholesale druggist of Los Angeles, is scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave for sentence on five counts of violation of the National Prohibition Act. He was found guilty by a jury.

The charges against the druggist were that holding a permit for large quantities of rub-alcohol, he removed certain ingredients from it and sold it for beverage purposes.

Federal dry agents asserted that they made five purchases of the alcohol, finding the poisons had been extracted.

STATE BAR TEST PASSED BY 216

Results of April Examination Announced

Southern California List of Winners Given

From a class of 569 persons who took the State Bar examination last April, 38 per cent passed and 62 per cent failed, a report and list of names of those recommended to practice law released yesterday by the bar examiners' office revealed.

Of those who had previously failed, sixty-two, or 24.8 per cent passed the recent examination. Nearly 30 per cent, or 162 of those in the test had not graduated from high schools.

FILM FOLK AT CHURCH DEDICATION

More Than 500 at Rites in St. Mary of the Angels Edifice in Hollywood

Members of the Hollywood motion-picture colony swelled to more than 500, the number of persons who attended impressive dedication services yesterday of the new $50,000 St. Mary of the Angels Episcopal Church at 4510 Finley avenue.

Rev. Neal Dodd, vicar, was in charge of the opening. Rev. Harley W. Smith preached the dedicatory sermon.

Two motion-picture musical organizations, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer orchestra and the Fox male chorus, joined with the St. Mary's Choir, under direction of Oren L. Gardner and assisted by Myrtle Aber, dramatic soprano, in presenting a program of music.

The church was founded by Father Dodd twelve years ago. The former church building on New Hampshire avenue will be sold to aid in financing the new Mediterranean-type structure.

Rolph Campaign Office Selected

Southern California campaign headquarters for Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, Republican candidate for Governor, will be opened today at the Hotel Hayward, Sixth and Spring streets. Rolph is the last of three gubernatorial candidates to establish headquarters here, Buron Fitts and Gov. Young already being located.

Decision to open headquarters at once followed a dinner meeting at the Biltmore attended by sixty men representing business and fraternal groups of Los Angeles county.

THIEF PARTIAL TO ROYAL HUE

Purloiner Pinches Purple Pajamas to Match Clothes and Car

Mrs. Leona Swain reported to police yesterday that someone purloined a pair of purple pajamas which she had hanging on the clothes line at her home at 1234 3-4 East Fifty-ninth street. When officers investigated they found a neighbor who saw the purloiner and the neighbor described him as a man in a purple suit, purple felt hat and stated he drove away after taking the pajamas in a purple automobile.

"It was too bad that the theft did not take place in the early evening, so there could have been a purple sunset," remarked the investigator.

WHAT better way to advertise a banking by mail service than by direct mail? So reasoned the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles, who have such a service to offer.

Today's Bible Text

Because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.—Gal. iv; 6, 7.

PREPAREDNESS
"Scarface Al" Capone believes in being ready for any emergency. He carries his own undertaker with him, the arrest of his party in Miami reveals.

PLAYING 'POSSUM
A boy brought a 'possum to President Hoover and got a school for his neighborhood. Playing 'possum has not been as highly esteemed as it should.

CARS AND COTS
Somebody says that we have 34,000,000 cars and only 1,000,000 hospital beds. This is a lack of parity that should be remedied at once.

WHICH SIDE?
Somebody says this country is dry on one side and wet on the other. Wet on the shady side, of course, and dry in the sunshine.

"PROFIT-TAKING"
No matter how ferociously the bulls and bears battle in Wall street, they never forget to take out time to shear the little lambs.

AN OVERSIGHT
Mr. Hoover made a serious mistake. He should have named Mr. Hearst and Mayor Thompson on the parity commission.

DEATH VALLEY CENSUS
A news note says that the census taker of Death Valley collapsed in a canyon. Possibly excitement from finding somebody to enroll!

EIGHTH WONDER
"Woman seeks Reno divorce on the ground that her husband has too much money." Did we read correctly, or is a new kind of woman developing?

NOT IGNORED
The southern city that showed a census decrease of just one person in ten years received more publicity than if it had gained a couple of thousand.

MAKES THE MARE GO
Just when the East is giving thanks for relief from high temperatures, Brawley gives three cheers for 100 deg., because it means good crops. Heat might be called Brawley's "meat."

HUNTING NOTE
The State Athletic Commission has called a closed season on Sonnenberg bucks. Aspirants for title honors probably will have to seek their game in other parts.

CUPID TACKLES CAGLE
"Red" Cagle's romance may have been against regulations and he undoubtedly made false representations, to protect his secret, but it will be hard to tear out of the hearts of the American people the memory of a great, fighting athlete and a great lover.

FLOCK OF CROWS
A Mt. Vernon (Wash.) chicken fancier has a rooster that crows every fifteen seconds. A second check on the bird showed fifty-two crows in succession. There ought to be a place for that bird over at the City Hall.

SNEERS
"Germany Sneers at Disarmament," runs a headline. Whether she sneers or cheers, her disarmament has worked wonders for her. Since a soldier has been taken off the back of every man, woman and child in that country, she has recuperated faster than either England or France. Something for Mars to think over.

PEACE PIPE
Harry Mayada, a boy of Japanese lineage, won the highest honors from fifty-two Boy Scouts who received their Harmon Scout Scholarship. Awards in 1929. Harry lives in California. A German immigrant boy of Brooklyn, coming to this country but five years ago, receives the Pulitzer Scholarship at Columbia University. Another winner is a Negro boy, Eugene Lloyd Mitchell. This is something to put into your peace pipe and smoke.

OVERHAULING THE LAW
When the output of Congress and of the State legislatures is considered, it seems that the overhauling of the law is a continuous process and that, in time, it must become pretty near perfection. But while this overhauling achieves many changes and particularly many additions, it is also apparent that the result is not wholly satisfactory and that the efforts of the official revisers require to be supplemented and checked up. It is the criminal law that has been the recipient of the most attention. There have been local, State and national crime commissions dealing with this and other subjects, the Wickersham Commission of President Hoover is preparing a comprehensive report upon it, and the American Law Institute has drafted a model code of criminal procedure which it believes incorporates many improvements. Chief Justice Hughes, in a recent speech, said: "I hail all such efforts."

It is well to join the Chief Justice in his applause, but to wonder at the same time if one reason for the apparent ineffectiveness of them to date is not the fact that legislation and recommendations for legislation have been preponderantly in the hands of lawyers, who may be so close to the problem that they cannot see it. England certainly had this experience; her criminal justice and punitive and reformatory system, which appears to work at least as well as any that the world has ever had and better than most, was devised not by the bench and bar, but by intelligent laymen who were able to bring a fresh judgment to bear upon it.

But it is not only criminal justice which fails to satisfy modern conditions. Civil justice is so slow and so expensive as to be a continuing reproach to our civilization. Unless very considerable sums are involved, it does not pay to go to court. There is an exception to this: questions involving sums less than $50 may be adjudicated quickly and with a minimum of trouble in Small Claims Court. It is the in-between sums that take so much time and trouble that they are not worth it. It should be made easier for a man to get his rights.

In a new approach to the problem that is now being made there is, perhaps, more hope than in any previous efforts—the survey of the field of law being conducted by the Johns Hopkins University law school. This law school, it may be said, does not seek to train lawyers for practice; rather it is a school of research, not into what the law is, but into what it ought to be. In carrying out this idea it is making extensive and intensive surveys in two States, Maryland and Ohio, and expects to initiate similar efforts in others. The point is that these surveys, while being made by men familiar with the law, are by neither lawyers nor judges in the ordinary sense; they are trying to be scientific investigators—perhaps legal engineers would be a more descriptive term, since they are using the methods of engineering in their work. To a lawyer, the continuance of any particular method is justified by its always having been done that way; it is familiar and customary. The engineer is the seeker of short-cuts, the scientist follows the scriptural injunction, "Try all things." It is extremely likely that these Johns Hopkins probers will turn up cogent discoveries that would not occur to the keenest of legal minds.

So far, of course, the researchers are only assembling data and no immediate conclusions can be drawn, either about the changes that ought to be made or the ultimate value of such work. But on its face it is the correct method. It is questioning not only specific laws, but the very fundamentals of all law, to discover whether the defects which have developed can be avoided by a change in principle.

In the meantime, the commissions need not be neglected, and such changes as they recommend can be studied by the ordinary methods with a view to adoption. They will be patchwork and repairs, which may or may not put the old machine in good running order. It is possible that scientific study will result in fashioning a new and better one.

WOMEN MISREPRESENTED
When a section of the press, to bolster its own political propaganda, misrepresents the sentiments of a large organization of acknowledged public influence, it is fit and proper for the organization thus incorrectly reported to make open and effective protest.

The California Federation of Women's Clubs undoubtedly exercises considerable sway as interpreting the sentiment of American women on matters of public policy. Their leaders have risen in vigorous protest against the blatantly made declaration of the Hearst newspapers, which are opposed to President Hoover's efforts for national temperance and world peace, that the C.F.W.C. convention rejected resolutions supporting prohibition and the World Court. They have not only not refused such support, but they have unanimously reaffirmed the attitude of the majority on both these questions. This action the Hearst papers ignored.

As a national organization the Daughters of the American Revolution stands deservedly high in public estimation. They have been extensively quoted by the Hearst newspapers and other anti-administration journals as entirely opposed to the London naval limitation treaty and American entry into the World's Court of Justice. A direct answer to these inspired utterances has been received from the Stanford University chapter, one-half of whose membership have submitted their resignations in protest against these political activities, while many others, without resigning, have expressed their opposition to such jingo and isolationist propaganda. Among those resigning, moreover, are women whose names are of national repute.

In both these instances the jingo and wet press has attempted to broadcast the idea that our women in general are receding from their well-known views on the enforcement of the prohibition law and the outlawing of war as a national policy. This misrepresentation of how women stand on these two major issues is, of course, intended to embarrass the administration and discredit the President. But our women need no such interested spokesmen. They are astoundingly capable of speaking for themselves.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

A CHARMING young lady has just been in to see us, to ask our advice on what to do with her life. She is about to be graduated from college and is quite sure she wants to do something important, but does not know what.

We suppose that's what one gets for looking so patriarchal. Yet it is an unexpected compliment, for we have been foolish and wrong so many times that we never expected anyone to ask such advice of us. However, there must be thousands of young people just about to step out of our high schools and universities who are more or less in the same plight, notwithstanding our modern fad for specialization. So we are going to try to look wise and go ahead with fatherly advice.

Advice to the Young

The conviction has come to us, after our ninety-seven years of varied experience, that our young people are entirely in too much of a hurry to get out and accomplish something startling before the ink on their diplomas is dry. They don't mind starting at the bottom if there's an elevator handy, but don't want to toil up. They are not greatly interested in doing the world some good, but in doing themselves some good—leaping at a bound into wealth or fame or, preferably, both.

We believe that if these eager youngsters who don't know just what they want to do would look about them and see what, right at hand, needs to be done, they soon would find out what they want to do.

Millikan Might Have Been Greek Professor

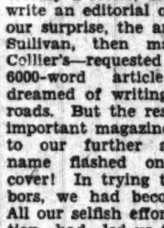
Dr. Robert A. Millikan told us that he had no idea of becoming a physicist when he entered college. The physics teacher in the school he had been attending earned money, during vacations, by locating wells with a divining rod. When Millikan thought of physics at all he smiled. The things which interested him most were athletics, mathematics and Greek. But he needed money and when his Greek professor whispered to him that in a near-by academy there was to be a vacancy in the teaching staff and that by cramming on elementary physics he might get the job, he crammed physics. Being a thorough man, he got so interested in the job he had to do that he has gone ahead and become one of the greatest physicists of modern times.

Zane Grey, D.D.S.

When Zane Grey entered the University of Pennsylvania he thought he wanted to be a dentist. He was graduated as a dentist and practiced for a while. But his ancestors were the people for whom Zanesville, O., was named, they had borne an important and romantic part in the pioneer occupation of that territory and one of them, Betty Zane, had been his boyish heroine. He thought her story ought to be written and wrote it. The editors told him it was no good, but he published it at his own expense. He wrote another book and the editors called him in for friendly conference. They told him that after careful consideration they were convinced he showed no promise of ever becoming a writer and advised him to give up the effort. But by that time Grey had found just what he wanted to do more than anything else in the world and wouldn't let any career-adviser talk him out of it.

Alma Whitaker, Prize-Fight Reporter

Now, we know you'll hesitate to believe this, but marriage and domesticity were the career Alma Whitaker cut out for herself, till she found herself a widow with a child to support. She turned to newspaper work because she had nowhere else to turn. "What do you want to write?" demanded the managing editor. "Anything," declared Alma, with the confidence of imperative necessity. "All right, go and report the prize fight tonight," was the astonishing challenge of the editor. Alma went and turned in a story which was a newspaper classic. On our desk at this moment is a newspaper from Ireland, reprinting in full one of Alma's articles. She didn't want to report a prize fight, but went and did it the best she could and so uncovered a talent which has made her very widely known and read.



Another Monumental Success Explained

But a man can prove most by his own experience, so let us crowd ourself into this good society. For years we wanted to be a magazine author and wrote a great deal for magazines. The only trouble was that they wouldn't take it. They sent back our poems and stories with depressing regularity and promptness. Then we got like the little boy who was so disgusted with life he threatened to go out in the garden and eat worms. We'd been fond of the saying that God made the country, man made the city and the devil made the small town. We thought of small towns as the meanest, littlest, dullest things on earth. So we bought a country newspaper and went to a small town. Its life became our life, its interests our interests. They were just beginning to talk State highways and that town needed one badly. To help our friends and neighbors, we began to work for that highway. We neglected our business to attend meetings in other cities and spent more money than we could afford. But we came in contact with many well-informed men and learned a great deal—found it absorbingly interesting to learn a great deal about what before had seemed the prosy subject of roads. We learned so much of importance, of which we had been densely ignorant before, that we felt a great pity for people as ignorant as we had been and wanted them to learn it, too. So we wrote Collier's Weekly a letter, urging the editor to write an editorial on the subject. To our surprise, the answer—from Mark Sullivan, then managing editor of Collier's—requested that we write a 6000-word article! We'd never dreamed of writing an article on roads. But the result was our first important magazine acceptance. And to our further astonishment, our name flashed on the magazine's cover! In trying to help our neighbors, we had become an authority! All our selfish efforts to win recognition had led us to batter our head against a stone wall, but our unselfish effort brought us directly to the door we long had been wanting to find.

The way to find yourselves, dear young friends, is to get passionately interested in something constructive and learn all you can about it and out of that knowledge some power is sure to come, even if you are naturally no brighter than we are.

SLAPPING AT GNATS
The motives of the Los Angeles Bar Association in citing the editors of the Los Angeles Record for contempt of court as a result of the Record's abusive, and at times silly, attacks on the grand jury and the District Attorney may be commended even by those who doubt the wisdom of giving so much dignity to the antics of such a relatively unimportant town disturber.

The Record is a typical journalistic bantam, possessing all the strutting, braggart, bullying, and not a little of the ridiculous, propensities of the noisy Lilliputian member of the feathered species. The Times has noted this similarity before and sees no particular occasion for viewing the present editorial exploits of the Record in any other light.

It is true, as the Bar Association citation recites, that the two-penny pink exceeded ordinary limits in its attacks on the grand jury during the wind-up of the Julian Petroleum Corporation crash investigation.

However, the grand jury proceeded calmly about its official business and concluded its deliberations in its own way without outwardly giving any indication of being terrified or intimidated by the undoubtedly irritating and unfair tactics of its self-constituted newspaper critic.

The Record makes a lot of noise, utters ferocious threats, makes easy and frequent assumption of its role of public protector, thumps itself complacently on the chest and, despite big headlines, bombastic threats and tiresome reference to its own good qualities, carries very little influence in the community at large.

Sending editors to jail, particularly when such editors give every indication of going about as far as they dare in co-operating with the sending, affords little promise of accomplishing any real good.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

ARTISTS FOR CASH
[Portland Oregonian]

Artists of our day are paid more in money than the artists of yesterday, but less in honor. For instance, the man who designs automobile bodies. There is not one autoist in 100,000 who could tell the name of the actual designer of the car in which he rides, though of course the trade name might be recalled. And yet Raymond M. Hood, one of the leading architects of the country, says automobile designing has been raised to higher standards than painting, sculpture or architecture.

We know the names of our modern authors, of the men who make the statues set up in our parks, of the men who paint the pictures that bring the biggest prices, but we do not know the names of those men who lend their abilities to the furthering of industry. True, they do not need our sympathy. They live in good homes, have automobiles, bank accounts and vacations on pay. They are prosperous in their anonymity. But all the same it would be amusing when time has worked its readjustment and the present century can be seen in retrospect, if the discovery were made that the only vital art of the age was commercial art. That is not likely. Too many concessions have to be made by the commercial artist. But Mr. Hood has delivered a startling statement and unquestionably he knows a great deal about the subject.

FIRE-CHASER A MENACE
[Boston Transcript]

Even since the day of the Burning Bush, fire has had extraordinary power to stimulate curiosity; chasing the fire engine is by no means a modern pastime. But with widespread ownership of motor vehicles this habit has long been a nuisance. Today there is plenty of evidence that it is a menace. Something must be done of a positive nature or the advantage gained through the motorization of fire departments will be lost because the added radius of effectiveness and the increased speed of apparatus are being offset by the jammed condition of the highways resulting from concentration of private motor vehicles at the scene of disaster.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER

XI

MOTION PICTURES

BY ADOLPH ZUKOR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

[Adolph Zukor is president of the Paramount-Famous Lasky Corporation. He arrived in the United States in 1888 from Hungary and studied in the New York night schools. He entered the motion-picture industry in 1904.]

You should have a good sense of showmanship—that knack of giving to the amusement-going public what it wants to see—if you are considering making the motion-picture industry your life work. Without such a gift, plus highly specialized training, you cannot meet with marked success in this field nowadays.

You will need originality, artistic ability, plenty of pluck and a temperament not easily discouraged, to back up showmanship, if you enter the producing end of the industry. You will have to be a real salesman if you try your hand at the distribution branch. You should be a good business man, knowing the tastes of the public from which you draw your patrons, and have a sound sense of advertising and publicity values, if you start your career in the exhibition division.

These are the three departments into which the industry is divided. There is always an opening in each of them for those who are qualified, but the standards are becoming higher as the motion-picture art approaches nearer to the goal it has set for itself.

Most young people are interested chiefly in the production end. You read of the huge salaries paid to the stars, leading directors, scenario writers and technical experts. If your face, or your work as an amateur, has been praised by relatives and friends you think that the studio calls you.

But remember that it takes more than a pretty face, or amateur ability, to make good on the screen. Preliminary training is most essential and with the coming of talking pictures is becoming more so every day.

You will need dramatic and voice coaching in advance if you would become a performer. You will need great creative ability and a wide knowledge of the technique of writing fiction and drama to do scenarios successfully.

Newspaper training is most helpful if you want to write for the screen. There is a great and growing demand for scenario material. Directors are often selected from the ranks of the writers who make the grade.

While actors in the cast earn from $100 a week to sums running well into five figures the latter rewards go to the very few. Salaries of writers compare on the average with those of the actors. Directors draw weekly stipends of from $500 upward.

You can't get a part, become a scenario writer, or a director without first having a measure of training in the studio to top off preliminary work in dramatics, writing, or photography. Most of the production leaders have come up from the ranks. Some have started as helpers and assistant cameramen. Producers are always seeking those who show promise. They are quick to reward ability.

If you are interested in photography you may find a fine opening in the camera department of the studio. There, if you make progress, you will become an important aid to the director. Good cameramen must be real artists. Their salaries range from $50 a week for beginners to sums running as high as four figures.

The studio itself is the chief source of usefulness, prestige, profit, success or failure in motion pictures. This is recognized by promoters and is why there is always so much room at the top. The director is the commanding general. If you ever hope to reach such a position you will need to be a real business executive, an artist of the first water, a master showman and to have all the advantages of a highly technical training.

If you have the instincts of a good salesman the distribution end should appeal to you. The industry is growing yearly and producers are always looking for men who can sell to the trade and hold their customers. You will have to keep up with all technical developments to get the best sales results. Advertising and promotion ability is also helpful in this field. The salaries are as high as those in other lines of sales work.

The business of exhibitors is becoming increasingly important. The public has been educated to seeing motion pictures in fine theaters, amid most comfortable, and often luxurious, surroundings. It is necessary to provide programs of high entertainment value.

You will find that theater owners and managers are often willing to take on and train alert and bright young men. A college education is helpful generally in this field. If you are qualified you should be able to earn about $50 a week as an assistant manager. Promotion is rapid with pay increases in proportion.

But, if you lean toward a career in the industry, remember this: You must have the ability to accomplish important things, if you are to gain success. Competition is keen and the higher rewards will be yours only if you can compete successfully with those who already are accomplishing so much.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Objections Stated

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The last bond issue was for the purchase of the water rights in Owens Valley and the construction of the Aqueduct. The Aqueduct was built, but were the water rights secured? If so, why the needed $12,000,000 or so of this issue required to pay those formerly left out?

This little oversight has caused continued litigation.

If the water board should get this money and succeed in buying out these people it will stop the numerous suits against the city. That cleared up, the water board will feel at liberty to go up the line to Mono Lake and start operations over again. More years of litigation.

Now the city finds itself in need of more water, yet this water board allows individual water companies to pump water out of the city of Los Angeles to supply other cities for which these water companies collect charges far in excess of the rates charged in Los Angeles and so far as I can find out the taxpayers of Los Angeles get no returns. F. S. SEARLES.

Will Get Square Deal

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In all the reasons and arguments promulgated in favor of the water bonds we have seen no mention of a square deal for American citizens in the construction of the project. If there is such intention its presentation in your columns could do no possible harm. The Department of Water and Power is sorely in need of all the evidence of good faith it can secure. Reasonable assurance thereof will result in a good many more votes for the water bonds.
W. C. PARKINSON.

Julian-Shuler Mess

PASADENA, May 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I think perhaps you and some of your readers may be interested in knowing how at least one man from the East feels about the Julian-Shuler mess.

Last October, I came to California and leased a house in Pasadena for a year, intending to stay here if my family and I liked it here. We are not going to stay, but will go back to the East as soon as my lease is ended.

I do not wish to place myself and my family under the jurisdiction of California courts, nor to live in a State where criminals go unpunished while ministers of the Christian religion who demand that they be punished are sent to jail.
CARL C. GILES.

Who Owns Jaw Bone?

GLENDALE, May 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What I cannot understand is, why a minister does not have the same privilege of free speech that any citizen has? Do you know of anyone that does not express most decidedly his or her opinion of certain judges or editors or the Bar Association? Why are we then not sued for contempt of court?

A. for Balaam's letter in today's issue I would like to inform him that Mr. Shuler was not endeavoring to slay anyone with the jaw bone of an ass, for the only ones I know of at present are owned and used by our friend Balaam, a large number of the Bar Association and many judges and some newspapers.
CATHERINE COPELAND.

RUBBER BAND STUNT

The performer produces a string four or five feet long and requests some one in the audience to tie its two ends securely about his wrists. Then he borrows a stout rubber band from some one—or furnishes one himself. With this band in his left hand he steps behind a screen or door and almost immediately returns with the band hanging on the string between his wrists. The secret. When being tied the performer must see to it that his left wrist is not tied too tightly. As he steps out of view of the audience he pulls the rubber band over his left hand and wrist under the string tied there. That is, the rubber band is passed up through the loop of string tied around the left wrist. That accomplished he stretches the band down over his hand on to the string. To get it off the process is reversed.—[Exchange.

BETTER THAN A TACK

Now you can tell your friends to "go sit on a bottle." A round quart or half gallon bottle is the best size for the stunt. Place the bottle on the floor on one side. The stunt is to sit on the bottle with the legs extended forward and the neck of the bottle pointing toward the feet, raise the legs from the floor and balance yourself on the bottle, while at the same time you write your name on a piece of paper. Can you do it?—[The Pathfinder.

VIADUCT BIDS OPENING SET

Bids for the construction of the first unit of the Sixth-street viaduct will be opened June 11 by the Board of Public Works. The first unit consists of the pass under the Santa Fe tracks and the river piers. The cost of this unit is estimated at $300,000.

The cost of the entire project is placed at $2,500,000. The length of the viaduct will be 3800 feet, seventy-one feet wide, with a fifty-six-foot roadway on the approaches and a forty-six-foot roadway on the bridge proper.

The second unit, the main viaduct, will not be started until February, 1931.

The cost has been apportioned to the city 37½ per cent, the county 37½ per cent, the Union Pacific 12½ per cent, the Santa Fe 12½ per cent. The city has $500,000 available from the 1926 bridge bond fund.

Meanwhile, Fisher, Ross, McDonald & Kahn, contractors, are expected to start work this week upon the Fourth-street viaduct, which they are constructing under a bid of $1,246,635.

This viaduct spans the river, the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific tracks. Its total length is 2400 feet, with a 600-foot ramp to Mateo street. It is seventy-one feet wide, with a fifty-six-foot roadway.

Donors Pledge Home $10,000

More than $10,000 was donated or pledged toward the cost of the new addition to the Mt. Sinai Home for Chronic Invalids yesterday when dedication ceremonies were conducted.

Ben Platt, president of the institution, introduced John R. Quinn, newly appointed County Supervisor, who was present as the personal representative of Gov. Young.

Among others present were Lemuel Goldwater, president of the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Aaron Rich, president of the Zionist district of Los Angeles, and I. Irving Lipsitch, executive director of the Federation of Jewish Welfare.

Harry Peitenbaum, as chairman of the building committee, made the formal presentation. Dr. L. G. Reynolds also gave a brief talk, pointing out that for the first time in its history, the institution now is equipped with a medical unit instead of being merely a home for incurable patients.

PHYSICIAN ROBBED

While returning home from a professional visit early yesterday morning Dr. E. Harrison of 430 North Rampart Boulevard, was held up by a bandit on foot at Coronado and Temple streets and robbed of $14 in cash, he reported to police.

'Chute Record Effort Put Off

A gale at high altitudes over the desert yesterday afternoon kept Bert White on the ground and postponed for a week his announced attempt to break the world's parachute leap record.

An 18-year-old youth, Eddie Schwerin, however, provided five major thrills for the crowd that gathered at Grand Central Air Terminal to witness White's departure for the desert. Five times Schwerin went aloft to 1800 feet and leaped out of a plane, making perfect landings near the field. He had made only two jumps previous to yesterday's demonstration.

The Irvin chute outfit that White will use will be on display this week at the Glendale port. He expects to jump at 26,000 feet to shatter the mark of 24,402 feet that has stood since 1922. It was set by Capt. A. W. Stevens, United States Army Air Corps, over McCook, Field, Dayton, O.

WORK DONE IN WHEEL CHAIR

Julia Heron, set dresser at the United Artists studio, who was injured in an automobile accident five weeks ago, has resumed her work at the studio, although she still must get about in a wheel chair. An assistant wheels her about so she can direct the placing of furniture, draperies and other properties on the various sets.

Delegates Here for R.-K.-O. Convention

SIXTY R.-K.-O. sales managers and salesmen representing the United States, Canada and Australia arrived yesterday on a special section of the California Limited for Radio Pictures' annual sales convention, which begins this morning at the R.-K.-O. studios and ends Thursday night with a ball at the Roosevelt Hotel. They were headed by Joseph I. Schnitzer, president of R.-K.-O. Productions, Inc., and Lee Marcus, executive vice-president. The delegation was met by more than seventy-five motion-picture players and studio executives. The welcome committee was headed by William Le Baron, vice-president in charge of R.-K.-O. production.

News Picture Shows Winning by Gallant Fox

The winning of the Preakness Stakes at the Pimlico track in Maryland by Gallant Fox, who added the Kentucky Derby to his list of stake victories on Saturday, is shown in the next edition of The Times Universal News Reel. Followers of sports will also be interested in scenes showing Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling training for their coming bout. Sharkey is shown on the golf links and the German pummeling his sparring partners.

Other events depicted in this edition of the news reel include scenes of the destructive tornado which swept five counties in Texas, the arrival of young Bruce Goldsborough in New York after his round-trip flight across the country, the festivity attendant upon the opening of the spring season at Locarno, and freak Egyptian fish jumping hurdles at an exhibition in Chicago.

The Times news reel, like other films, is shown in different theaters on different dates. Readers may get the schedule for this edition by calling up the "news-reel booker, REpublic 3171, and asking about news reel No. 39.

AMOS AND ANDY WILL CONTINUE BROADCAST

Radio fans are assured that the daily nation-wide broadcasts of Amos and Andy will not be interrupted while they are making pictures in Hollywood. Melville Brown, who will direct their film productions, announced yesterday that arrangements have been made for the comedians to continue their sketches over the radio each day, throughout their stay here. Brown will leave for New York this week to accompany them to Hollywood and to arrange for two stopovers en route west that will enable them to make their broadcast while the train is held for them.

SEARCHERS TO DEMAND JURY TRIAL

District Attorney Office Trio to be Arraigned on Seizure Charge Today

Pleas of not guilty and demands for trial by jury will be entered before Municipal Judge Curtis today when Investigators Chrisa. Lavett and Burgess of the District Attorney's office are arraigned on charges of illegal search and seizure in entering the apartment of Miss Leontine Johnson.

The trio of investigators is accused in a complaint issued by the City Prosecutor and signed by Superior Judge Schauer with using a faulty search warrant when they searched the home of Miss Johnson, following her arrest on charges of attempting to extort $75,000 from a group of business men. She was accused jointly with Morris Lavine. The jury hearing the trial was unable to agree, standing at 11 to 1 for conviction after seventy hours' deliberation, when it was discharged. The two are to be retried June 23, next.

Action looking to the complaint was taken by Judge Schauer during the course of the trial of the accused pair and from the bench the court ordered the arrest and prosecution of the officers and stated that they had violated the constitutional rights of Miss Johnson. Two grips of documents, private papers and manuscripts were seized by the officers. These were later made exhibits at the hearing, but were subsequently returned to Miss Johnson on application of her counsel.

The three investigators were released on their own recognizance when they submitted to arrest. They will be represented at the trial by Attorney Leonard Wilson, former Municipal Court judge.

Woman Fails in Death Try

An attempt by Florence Bachman of 3431 Tenth avenue to commit suicide by throwing herself in front of an automobile resulted in only minor injuries to her yesterday morning. She is being held for observation.

Miss Bachman, who is 25 years of age, wrote a note to her parents, in which she said, "Life is a farce," which she could not stand any longer and that she was going to "end it all." Then she went out in the street in front of her home and as an automobile came along, driven by Theodore De Silva, of 2830 Victoria avenue, she darted out into the roadway.

She was hit only by the wind wing of the car. At the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital she was found to have only bruises and contusions about her head.

"TIMES" AD CLICKS IN JUNGLE

Angeleno Advertiser Gets Reply From Darkest Africa Mailed Last January Asking for Copy of Booklet; Local Trade Area Extended 15,000 Miles

That jungle terrors, savages and wild beasts are no bar to the circulation of The Times in "darkest Africa," was emphasized yesterday when J. A. S. Furlonge, president of the Royal Securities Company, investment bonds, of Los Angeles" received an answer to a "Times" advertisement from a prospective customer in North Kwantanang, West French Africa. The reply to the advertisement was contained in a coupon clipped from an issue of The Times of probably more than a year ago, according to Mr. Furlonge, who has traveled extensively in Africa.

The letter inclosing The Times coupon was mailed on January 19, 1930, by Isaac R. Mensah. Mr. Mensah merely inclosed the coupon which requested information pertaining to a booklet issued by the Royal Securities Company. There were seven different postmarks on the letter and the stamp bore the insignia of the "Gold Coast of West French Africa."

According to Mr. Furlonge the issue of The Times that carried his company's advertisement probably was en route almost a year before it could have reached the hands of Mr. Mensah. Kwantanang is in a dense jungle many miles from the nearest river port of Kaodi, on the Senegal River, he asserted. Boats that go up the river receive their mail from English and Dutch boats that touch at Las Palmas, Grand Canary Island, and Mr. Mensah's copy of The Times must have gone from Los Angeles, across the Pacific Ocean, the Orient and continental Europe, or across the American continent and the Atlantic to either Holland, or England, before starting for Africa.

Mr. Furlonge estimated the distance at more than 15,000 miles.

VETERANS' CHIEF WILL BE HONORED

State Commander Hayes Will Attend Conference Held Here This Week

Problems of wounded and disabled war veterans will be discussed at conferences here this week, with the arrival today of State Commander John J. Hayes of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, from his home in San Francisco. Eighteen chapters of the D.A.V. of W.W., comprising the organization's Los Angeles county council, are to join in a special reception and meeting in his honor tomorrow night, at Pasadena.

Various veterans' hospitals and institutions of Southern California will be visited by the State Commander on his tour. He will address the Knights of Columbus State convention at Catalina, and will be a guest at the Anaheim Orange Show.

Espee Limited to Don Spring Finery Today

Persons who chance to be near the tracks of the Southern Pacific today anywhere between this city and San Francisco as the Daylight Limited whizzes by probably will blink, rub their eyes, blink again and then conclude that the train must be going plenty fast. For what they will see is a string of gray coaches instead of the familiar dark green.

Every car of the Daylight has been painted pearl gray. On the inside is even a gayer color combination, for the interiors have been finished in cream color with light green trimmings.

Colors alone do not tell all that has been done to make the Daylight distinctive, for another innovation is a club car which has a separate lounge and smoking compartment for women.

Film Director Finishing Tour

After an absence of two months during which he has visited more than a score of the world's largest cities, Richard Wallace, film director, will return to Hollywood the latter part of this month. He has been on a tour to study the picture market in the Orient and investigate the attitude of the people there toward American talking pictures.

The favor with which Hollywood's stars and films are received in China and Japan, is doing much to build up cordial relations, according to Wallace's report. Wallace and his wife will arrive in New York the 26th inst. and will proceed at once to Hollywood where he will resume his duties at Paramount studios.

Los Angeles Has No Choice!

Vote Yes on the Water Bonds Tuesday

One year ago I made this statement:

"I favor the proposed water bond issue, because with its expenditure we are assured of adequate water supply at least for the next fifteen to twenty years, and because the expansion of our water supply and facilities, as well as the settlement of the Owens Valley claims, is in the interest of the development of Los Angeles and surrounding territory in Southern California. As one who has always endeavored to work in harmony with and cooperate in those movements which are for the fuller development of Southern California I shall do what I properly can to support the Water Bonds."

Developments of the last year convince me more firmly than ever that this stand is sound . . . that it is the only stand on the water question that can be taken by any informed individual or institution with the future of Los Angeles at heart. We have no choice. Los Angeles must augment its water supply.

AUTO JUDGMENT TEST UP TODAY

State Motor Act Amendment Attacked as Invalid

Justice Court Jurisdiction Questioned in Action

Two Cases Will be Argued Before Court of Appeal

Jurisdiction of justice courts and constitutionality of an amendment to the State Motor Vehicle Act are scheduled to be argued today before Division Two, District Court of Appeal, in the Associated Realty Building.

Authority of a justice court is questioned in the case of Dan Cohen of Beverly Hills, who was convicted in a justice court in El Monte. Cohen applied for a writ of habeas corpus, asserting that a justice court has jurisdiction only within its own township.

Lester Thomas Lindley attacks Sec. 73, Paragraph G, of the Motor Vehicle Act in habeas corpus proceedings. The section and paragraph went into effect August 14, last, and provides that when a defendant is unable to pay within fifteen days a judgment rendered against him because of an automobile accident his registration and driver's or chauffeur's license shall be suspended until the judgment is paid.

Lindley was involved in an accident February 16, 1929, and named in a suit filed September 3, 1929. Through inadvertence and ignorance, he said, he allowed a judgment to go against him by default. It became final on November 26, last.

The petitioner contends that the amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act is unconstitutional if it is given retroactive application.

Aspirants to Bench and Others Honor Guests at Association Dinner

With a long list of honor guests, including candidates for the Superior Court bench, the judiciary campaign committee and the presidents of ten bar associations in Los Angeles county, the May dinner meeting of the Los Angeles Bar Association will be held Thursday evening at the Alexandria, with Norman A. Bailie presiding.

Dr. William B. Munro, expert on government affairs, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss "The World Court and America's Relation to It." Dr. Munro for the past ten years has been chairman of the division of history, government and economics at Harvard University.

YOUNG GORE WILL MAKE PLEA TODAY

Son of Theater Magnate Accused of Aiding Adler in Bank Hold-up

Accused of aiding in the robbery of the Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont avenue branch of the Seaboard National Bank of $3200, Charles Gore, 21-year-old son of Michael Gore, theater magnate, will enter his plea today before Superior Judge Wilson.

Young Gore is charged with assiting Harry Adler in the hold-up, in which the two drove up to the bank in Gore's machine. Adler then entered the bank and ordered the manager to hand him all the cash in sight. The bank official dropped to the floor and Adler threatened to blow his head off. He then grabbed the $3200 and ran.

The coupe of Gore was standing at the curb and it is charged that the pair made their escape in it. Adler, following arrest, assumed full blame for the robbery and told the investigating officers that he left Gore at the curb after informing him that he was going into the bank to change a $20 bill.

SETBACK HEARING SET

The resolution of intention for the establishment of setback lines in Thirty-seventh street between Vermont avenue and Raymond avenue has been adopted by the City Council and set for hearing June 24.

BELASCO SIGNS INA CLAIRE

After weeks of negotiation, Belasco and Curran, theatrical producers, have induced Ina Claire, credited with being one of the most popular and distinguished of the younger actresses on the American stage, to sign a contract for a brief engagement in both the Belasco Theater, Los Angeles, and the Curran Theater, San Francisco.

INA CLAIRE

Miss Claire personally selected her starring vehicle while on a recent trip to New York City. It is Donald Ogden Stewart's comedy-drama, "Rebound."

Miss Claire found the comedy one of the most delightful and amusing she had ever seen, it is said, and at once arrangements were made to secure it for her for the Pacific Coast. Belasco and Curran expect, it is announced, to bring out several of the New York cast to support Miss Claire. It is possible that Stewart will come also.

"We consider Miss Claire one of the most popular actresses in America," said Homer Curran of the producing firm yesterday. "Her last appearance here in 'The Last of Mrs. Cheyney,' was a theatrical sensation. Capacity attendance was the rule at every performance."

"We consider it a signal honor that we are permitted to present Miss Claire to Los Angeles and San Francisco theatergoers," stated Edward Belasco. "It definitely established California as an important theatrical producing center when a star of Miss Claire's standing consents to appear under the management of a western firm. This announcement will cause great comment in theatrical circles throughout the country."

Miss Claire has been enjoying a brief vacation at her Beverly Hills home, but will start rehearsals shortly, and it is stated that the first performance will be given the latter part of June.

Comedy Film Starts Today at Warner's

With a cast headed by Robert Armstrong and Barbara Kent and including Beryl Mercer, James Gleason, Julia Swayne Gordon, Claude Gillingwater, Arthur Hoyt, Mary Foy and Charlotte Merriam, "Dumbbells in Ermine," Vitaphone comedy, starts a one-week run today at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood.

The story, adapted to the screen by Harvey Thew, shows how a love-at-first-sight romance may be broken up by a small town's self-appointed reformer. James Gleason, who plays the role of Jerry's slangy trainer, wrote the dialogue. John Adolfi directed.

French Comedian Exhibits Versatile Talents

Ben Bernie and Jazz Band Clever Addition

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

He is a clever caricaturist of the stage, a personality of joy, and an entertainer de luxe. For these reasons, as well as his comedy and his songs, Maurice Chevalier held an audience fascinated last night at the Mayan Theater.

Chevalier presented something a little different in the way of a show. He gave a program in English and French, lasting nearly an hour, and even when he finally quit the stage, after several encores, there was a strong inclination on the part of his audience to ask for more.

Ben Bernie and his orchestra assisted, and furnished a clever prologue. Indeed, with their comedy nonsense and musical nonsense, they were a good half of the divertisement which began at the continental hour of 9.

When Chevalier first came on the stage at about 10 the audience stormed him with applause. They were an audience, in considerable part of film folk, and they tendered him an admiring ovation.

There was much French spoken about the lobby, too, which indicated that Chevalier's own countrymen were out in force to welcome him. Indeed, it was a gala event.

BURLESQUES AND SONGS

Chevalier has an inimitable style, and his public saw a new range for his talents in the burlesques that he did along with the songs and the talk. It was a refreshing sort of program, that doesn't classify conventionally, and which possessed an amazing interest.

First he sang "The Love Parade," preceding it with an amusing resume of the picture. Then he did an oddity—the story of two elephants, who lived in the south of France, "veer-ee happeely" and then suffered a separation from each other, when one went to Paris, and into a circus where he became a "veree bad boy."

There were "Louise," and "All That I Want is Just One Girl" from "Innocents of Paris," "Sweeping the Clouds" away from "Paramount on Parade."

But the number that won the crowd was the "Dites-moi, Maman," where Chevalier was genuinely on his native heath. Naughtily French this bit was, and Chevalier gave it with an irrepressible spirit, coming on the stage first as a boy with a hoop, then growing up into a military man, and finally becoming exceedingly coy with the brim of his soft hat turned up on the side.

He gave an imitation of an Apache, took off various comedians of the French stage, and wound up with the spicy "Valentina."

No easy game was it to keep these bits moving along at the required tempo, and he came forth perspiring in the final rounds, but not a bit daunted.

EFFERVESCENT STYLE

The program provided an intimate view of Chevalier skill and presence and of his smile, the piquancy of his humor—his effervescent gayety, persistent in its spell of sunshine, captured the first-night crowd. Really, only half the Chevalier personality is visible on the screen; when he is on the stage it acquires a wholly new glow.

Bernie, in an entirely different vein, furnished plenty of competition. Repartee between members of the band, their very original "Knights of the Round Table" and various hot musical excerpts were thoroughly diverting. Such bright lines as "When she dreams of an automobile ride she walks in her sleep" and "This song has not only set the world agog; it has set it a-ga-ga" brought the house down. And there were funnier ones perhaps, even than that, if one could but recall them.

You will have a chance to become more closely acquainted with Chevalier, should you go to see him, and will find his entertainment, as well as that of Bernie's, a breezy novelty.

PEMBERTON TO PRODUCE PLAYS HERE

Noted Theater Man Tells Plans; Believes City New Drama Center

BROCK PEMBERTON

His plans for the future, he said, comprise staging original plays and adaptations both in this city and New York, each independent of the other.

"Since coming here I have given close study to production from all angles," Mr. Pemberton said, "and have concluded that Los Angeles is a definitely segregated and self-supporting production sector.

"There appears to me to be a constantly increasing interest in entertainment provided by actors appearing in person. The talkies can be thanked for this; they have proven a valuable runner-up for the stage, having introduced a generation ignorant of the spoken drama, to the theater. The talkies have roused theatergoers to an appreciation of diction and enunciation and to a closer study of voice and the value of the spoken word."

COMEDY OF "CUCKOOS" HITS

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Those two comedians, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who lent gusto to the mirth in "Rio Rita" a few months ago, are back again, and they are the life of the party in "The Cuckoos" at the Orpheum Theater. They are really the star performers in this feature, which is all that its name implies. A fine entertainment for anybody in a holiday mood—plenty of laughter, on almost any pretext at all.

"The Cuckoos" was directed by Paul Sloane, and fashioned out of the book and music of "The Ramblers" by Guy Bolton, Harry Ruby and Bert Kalmar. Somewhere south of the border, presumably Tia Juana, is its locale, and it comes up to San Diego for a time. The players include besides the two comedians, June Clyde, Hugh Trevor, Dorothy Lee, Ivan Lebedeff, Mitchell Lewis and Marquerita Padula. And then, too, Jobyna Howland. A real assortment of bouquets should go to her, because more than once she rivals the male comedians of the picture, and it isn't the first time either that she has shown herself to be very funny on the screen.

There might not be so much to "The Cuckoos" were it not for the cleverness of the people who are in it, and the way in which they turn every situation into a riot of slapstick and monkeyshines. The lines are very smart to be sure, and the music is pretty, but there is nothing very impressive about the manner in which they are presented, except for two or three color sequences.

However, this is a laugh picture, and as such compares with other merrier and diverting attractions, like "Hold Everything" recently seen. With Woolsey and Wheeler it is at times funnier than any picture really has a right to be, and if anybody wants the dull clouds lifted the Orpheum is certainly the place to go right now.

Duncan Sisters Will Appear at Philharmonic

Back in 1916, two little girls made their debut at Tait's Cafe in San Francisco, billed as "two young yodlers." Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, with that start, were soon offered a contract on the vaudeville stage. Looking for a larger field, the sisters went to New York, appearing at Coney Island. Charles Dillingham saw their act and engaged them for a part in "She's a Good Fellow." They were instant hits and their subsequent careers have been very successful.

Two performances are to be given by the two noted players at Philharmonic Auditorium under the management of L. E. Behymer on the 29th and 31st inst. A program of comic, tragic and musical numbers will be offered, with George Grandee at the piano.

United Artists Books Maurice Chevalier Film

Maurice Chevalier's latest picture, "The Big Pond," will have its local premiere at the United Artists' Theater. This comedy-drama, from the stage play of the same name, will follow Lillian Gish's first talking picture, "One Romantic Night," which starts Wednesday.

"The Big Pond" presents the noted French comedian in a new role. For the first time he is seen as a modern hero in a strictly modern story. How he bucks American business and wins the heart of an American girl provides one of the best comedy-dramas Paramount has yet produced, it is claimed. The girl is Claudette Colbert.

Circle Birthday Bill Proffered

Patrons attending the Carthay Circle Theater tonight are promised a number of added features for the fiftieth presentation of "All Quiet on the Western Front," which will also mark the fifth anniversary of the theater.

SHAW PLAY TO START AT MASON

English Company Offers "Arms and Man;" Limited Run Scheduled

Maurice Colbourne, Barry Jones and their London company will make an initial bow to local audiences at the Mason Theater tonight, when they commence a limited engagement in Bernard Shaw's satire on war, "Arms and the Man."

Among the "pleasant plays" of Bernard Shaw, as he himself designates them, "Arms and the Man" is the most sparkling, it is said. As presented by this group of English players, it is claimed to be entertaining to a high degree.

Stars to Visit New California

Several of the leadings stars, directors and executives of the film industry have signified their intention of being present at the reopening of Fred Miller's California Theater on the 23rd inst., the management reports.

MURRAY HILL SPONSORS A LOVE MATCH

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Love's young dream in the old Murray Hill district of Manhattan; three mid-Victorian ladies in black flouncing futilely against the white light of dizzy modernity; one mistaken identity that leads to two . . . these are the factors that go to make a show at the President Theater. Yesterday matinee, "Elizabeth Sleeps Out," a play by an actor of parts known as Leslie Howard, received its local premiere. It proved to be an ambitiously homey little comedy, shortly florescent last season in New York as "Murray Hill," bright without being brilliant, and done to a turn by a company of Henry Duffy players.

There is, now and again, an air about Mr. Howard's piece—the faint redolence of stuffed sofas, a mention of a carriage and pair, a severe, changeless ancestral event in oils over the fireplace—but still only an air. The Tweedie sisters, ever so fleetingly, suggest characters in an Edith Wharton novel; they are drawn with fair consistency, but subject to the rules of the funny story Mr. Howard is bent on telling. And once more we are treated to the spectacle of one of these ladies—she happens to be Elizabeth Tweedie this time—indulging too incautiously in spirituous liquor, with the customary result.

It is Amelia Tweedie, really, who sleeps out. Amelia is, I should think, the niece of these three Tweedie elders—a nice girl, but one very decided on a matter she knows nothing about: Men. They are, she has fully made up her mind, unnecessary. And then one of the tribe invades her own home; when he is introduced to her as Worthington Smythe, her own cousin, Amelia faints.

Three weeks previously, Amelia had chanced to glance out of the brougham carrying her up Fifth avenue . . . squarely into the eyes of The One Man. Thereupon Amelia, briefly noting spots before her eyes, had swooned dead away. But this had been the single hint of male persuasion that she had been vouchsafed. She had never thought to see him again; when he walked into the first act, it was too much.

The development of this first-sight love occupies the better part of the second act, and also the best part of the play. The best for two reasons—one, because most of the charm of Mr. Howard's writing is centered therein, and the other because of the surprising fusion of shy maidenhood and womanly determination which an actress named Lurene Tuttle reveals in her part. Only momentarily, in her tears, I thought, did Miss Tuttle lose her grasp on the Amelia whom otherwise she has captured with rare delicacy and sensitiveness throughout.

Of the plot details, it shall have to suffice that an inheritance has been left by dear dead Aunt Esther for division between Amelia and a nephew, Worthington Smythe; that Smythe is too inebriated to attend the last rites for the departed; that a mysterious gentleman, temporarily describing himself as Alfred Wrigley of Crumbles' funeral parlors—"cheerful interment guaranteed"—attends in his place and his identity; and that when Smythe does arrive, still in the condition known as tight, there is a lot of explaining to be done all around. You know all about these comedies before you see them; but if you like them, the present one is more amusing than most.

The three ladies are played by Marian Lord, Bertha Creighton and Zeffie Tilbury. I thought Miss Lord, as Elizabeth, rather too emphatic. Paul McGrath makes a good-looking, satisfactory hero, and Edward Cullen grows more acceptable as the drunk with each act. Lowden Adams and Harry Hollingsworth complete the cast.

WORRY CLASSED AS SIN WORSE THAN GAMBLING

"If sin is a violation of the laws of God, worry is a sin," said Dr. Shepard. "If to be a Christian means to follow the teachings of Christ, then the worrier is un-Christian. From no other sin did Jesus point the way quite so often as from worry and its little sisters, the children of fear. My heart aches for those poor souls whose religion heaps woes and worries upon their hearts. They have so far distorted the vision of us all that we are likely to be afraid one is not duly righteous unless he is worried about the sins of the rest of the world. I wonder what would happen if all humanity would shift its emphasis of faith to be somewhat like that of Jesus, and measure one's faith by his freedom from fear and worry. What a scramble there would be to change habits and alter testimonies! How topsy-turvy the world would look to the reformer! We have not yet attempted the great attainment. Freedom from fear and worry is the greatest boon that could come to man."

ADJT. NETTIE BROWN DISCUSSES SALVATION

"When Salvationists give up religion, the religion that has made the Salvation Army what it is, then the work might as well stop, for the destiny of the organization for good will have been completed," declared Adjt. Nettie Brown in her sermon yesterday at Salvation Army Temple. Adjt. Brown spoke, in part, as follows:

"When Gen. Booth made the Salvation Army an institution to care for the whole man—body, mind, soul—he did the greatest thing any modern has done, for he went back to the concept of Christ. When we depart from that we are through. When we become merely a social service organization, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, caring for the fatherless, though we will be doing a great work and a good work, we will yet be failing to do the work that was set out for us. Religion first and last is the mainspring of Salvationism."

INDIAN SAYS WHITES LACK ART OF WALKING

"My white brother does not know how to walk," declared Mahawha, Cherokee Indian chief, in an address given yesterday at Figueroa Playhouse.

"Most people walk on their heels, thus doing untold injury to the spine and all the delicate nerves in the body, causing great fatigue," Mahawha said. "I take a twenty-mile walk about three times a week just to keep fit and return feeling as fresh as when I start out about 4 o'clock in the morning to greet the sun when the earth is more magnetic than at any other time of day and the air is purer, and all nature is waking up from its night's slumber."

OLD CHINA RELIGION THEME OF SERMON

The philosophy of Taoism, China, oldest and most profound religion, was discussed yesterday by Swami Dhirananda at Figueroa Playhouse. The speaker said in part:

"Taoism in its purity is not for those who seek God simply for worldly advantage or candied consolation. Only people with a hunger for the infinite can realize the profundity of this mystic and monistic philosophy, connected with the name of the great thinker and sage, Lao-tse, who lived 2500 years ago in China. Some of his utterances are like Chinese puzzles to the uninitiated. Tao is the 'way,' the invisible, inexpressible reality of the universe. 'The Tao that can be named is not the enduring and unchanging Tao.' When we are filled with Tao, which is God in His absolute aspect, then, acting, we act not and seeing, we see not.' Be still and feel the pouring light of that Tao; then fear, bondage and ignorance will gradually disappear. This noble philosophy of Taoism, under the baneful influences of priest-craft, has degenerated into a mass of mythologies and superstitions, but its immortal precepts, like 'recompense injury with kindness,' recalling that of the prophet of Galilee, have left indelible impress on the religious thought of that vast country."

HEATHENISM FOUND IN MODERN CHURCH

"Superstitions in the Churches" was discussed by Dr. Bruce Brown yesterday at South Park Christian Church. Dr. Brown said in part:

"The greatest difficulty in the way of Christianity is the fact that there is a wide divergence between the teaching and practice of the churches today and the New Testament church. Strange ceremonies and doctrines of heathenism have been absorbed like poisons introduced into the human body. The divisions that have weakened our forces and hampered every effort all have their inception in superstitions that have been lugged in from the world and labeled with Bible names. The most astonishing fact is that we are not divided over things in the Bible but over things that the Bible never mentions. We are not divided over baptism, but over the substitutes imported from savagery. Christian union, the demand of the age, will not come about by compromises here and there but by going back to the church as it was before the doctrines and commandments of men were brought in."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEXT IN CORINTHIANS

Paul's words to the Corinthians, "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh," constituted the golden text yesterday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals" in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon included these other words of Paul: "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I shew you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, contained the following statement:

"Mortals are not like immortals, created in God's own image; but infinite Spirit being all, mortal consciousness will at last yield to the scientific fact and disappear, and the real sense of being, perfect and forever intact, will appear."

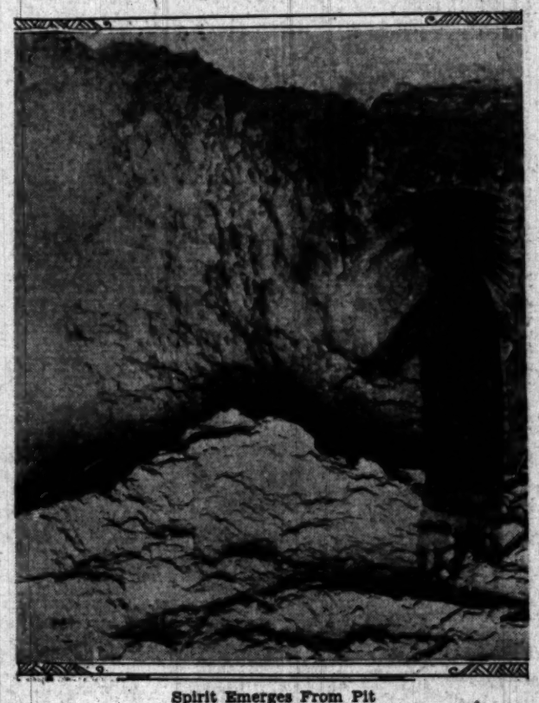
THIS GHOST'S STORY CLINKS

Knows Hiding Place of Gold Slugs



Spirit Emerges From Pit
Where Mexican group watches at zero hour for ghost of Indian chief to direct them to fortune cache.

WHISPERED tales of long-buried golden $50 slugs, strange, dark-robed shadows moving under midnight stars, the measured thumps of heavy picks digging into earth and the rattle of dry clods thrown from the black depths of a pit have all combined during the past week to disturb the peace and slumbers of residents living near the hilltops of Montecito Heights.

Police investigation of the indignant protests of citizens who have watched ten silent figures moving on the hill has revealed the operation of a strange Mexican cult. Detective Lieutenant R. F. Underwood of the Lincoln Heights Police Station, detailed to give a report of the midnight disturbers, yesterday said he found six men with four women squatted in a circle in the dry grass about the gaping mouth of a twenty-foot-deep pit. The watchers in guarded Spanish explained to the officers they were awaiting the appearance of Chief Cucamonga, a departed Indian.

Stooped and wearing only a black blanket to cover his wasted frame, the spirit of the old chief appeared each midnight near the top of the hill, the spokesman of the group explained, and stalking slowly over the top would pause to chant the story of a buried treasure, a horde of $50 early California gold slugs, worth thousands.

Only the correct and nightly instructions from the old chief will lead the group to the treasure, they believe.

PERMANENT CLINIC PLAN OF DOCTORS

Discoverers of Treatment for Cancer Will Give Details Within Week

Plans for the establishment of a permanent full-time cancer clinic in Los Angeles by Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber, codiscoverers of the extract, will be announced in detail within a week, Dr. Humber said yesterday.

It is probable, he said, that the clinic will be divided into three branches in this city and another will be established at Long Beach. Each clinic or branch will be under direction of a physician and staff personally selected by the discoverers of the treatment. They will continue to act in an advisory capacity.

Dr. R. W. Starr, staff physician of the Southern Pacific Railway, who has been assisting in the weekly clinics, yesterday made public a letter from a San Diego physician who, several weeks ago, refused a letter of introduction for a woman patient who wished to undergo the Coffey-Humber treatment. Another physician gave her the letter. She has had several injections of the extract and reports remarkable improvement.

The doctor who refused the request wrote that he had recently examined the woman and was amazed at the benefit thus far obtained. Other patients continue to report improvement.

All Large San Bernardino Growers on List

Guasti Tells Vineyardists Benefits of Pool

Southern California grape growers' acceptance of Federal Farm Board co-operation is increasing each day, with 60 per cent of the San Bernardino county acreage now signed up, according to Benton Ballou, southern representative, State organization committee, Federal Farm Board grape industry program. Seventy-five per cent of the Southern California acreage is in San Bernardino county, Ballou said.

"During the past week practically all of the larger vineyardists in Southern California signed contracts, affiliating themselves with one of the co-operatives in the proposed Federal Farm Board set-up of the grape industry," he said.

BIG OWNERS IN

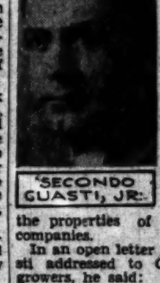
"These include the Italian Vineyard Company at Guasti, a 5000-acre property and the largest vineyard in the world; Garret & Co., Alta Loma Vineyards, Herman J. Myers and Benton Ballou. It is expected that the remaining Southern California acreage, which constitutes 15 per cent of the State's total, will be signed up soon.

"The support of Southern California growers, coming almost simultaneously with the news that independent packers in the San Joaquin Valley have signed contracts, gives promise of a successful issue to the growers' campaign which is for an $5 per cent acreage grape control in California."

PLAN SUCCEEDS

Formulated by C. C. Teague, California's representative on the Federal Farm Board, the government plan to organize and stabilize the grap industry is but a few months old, yet all through the State there is increasing evidence of the acceptance of the plan, according to the growers' organization committee.

The co-operation of an additional group of grape growers and manufacturers of grape by-products with a total ownership of 37,800 acres and a yearly production of 12,000 cars of grapes, with grape pool plans of the Federal Farm Board, was announced yesterday by Secondo Guasti, Jr., president of Fruit Industries, Inc. The corporation which Mr. Guasti represents includes the properties of nine vineyard companies.



SECONDO GUASTI, JR.

In an open letter which Mr. Guasti addressed to California grape growers, he said:

GUASTI'S VIEWS

"I am the owner of 5000 acres of vineyard in California and operate a by-products plant valued at more than $1,000,000. I am in favor of the government's grape industry program. It represents the only plan by which you and I can hope to obtain good prices for our fresh grapes and raisins. I have signed the new contract under the Federal Farm Board contract.

"About three years ago it became apparent to every grower that we were attempting to market too many fresh grapes. There were also too many raisins. To make matters worse there was no control over distribution and we were all sending too many carloads to one market, or too few to another and the whole system of marketing was wasteful and very costly to every one of us.

"A year ago we realized that the only hope for the fresh grape and raisin markets was to manufacture by-products from that proportion of the crop which would otherwise become a surplus and destroy both markets.

FARM BOARD PLAN

"The Federal Farm Board when it started its investigation of the grape industry five months ago requested Fruit Industries, Inc., to extend its plan of a system of co-operative by-product plants so that

TROJAN CO-EDS WIN HONORS

One Given Trophy, Other Phi Beta Key

Misses Doris Tennant and Lucille Huebner

AMONG the prominent co-eds at University of Southern California who have been awarded special honor are Miss Doris Tennant, who has served as president of the Women's Self Government Association during the past year, and was awarded the Town and Gown trophy at the banquet Wednesday evening as having made the greatest contribution to the university in student activities, and Miss Lucille Huebner, who was elected president of the W.S.G.A., officiating as Miss Tennant's successor next year.

Miss Huebner is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority and was elected last week to Phi Beta Kappa.

George Morgan of San Diego, was solemnized the 14th inst., in the Wee Kirk 'o the Heather, Glendale, with Rev. Glenn Calkins of Riverside officiating.

The bride was charming in a gown of eggshell satin princess model with long tight sleeves, her veil of tulle caught into a cap and she carried white roses and sweet peas, while the maid of honor, Miss Alice Casebeer, wore turquoise blue chiffon and carried an armful of yellow and pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Charlotte Felt, in salmon crepe and Miss Madeline Calkins in the same shade, carried arm bouquets of orchid sweet peas. Barba Watts and Doris Watts, flower girls, wore frocks of blue and rose voile, respectively, and carried rose petals in silver baskets. Otto Nieman served as best man and George Casebeer and Ralph Stark ushered, while Beatrice Casebeer, cousin of the bride, presided at the organ and Mrs. Carlotta Fjelstrom sang.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony, and after a honeymoon motoring north, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will make their home in San Diego.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Constance Armstrong, whose wedding with Gilbome W. J. McMillan is to be an event of June 14, was the honor guest at a surprise shower Wednesday evening given at the home of Miss Frances McKay by members of Sigma Delta Chi Sorority, of which Miss Armstrong is a member. Misses McKay, Camille Ingen, Jean Gillette and Dorothy Dell Doak are to be bridesmaids at the ceremony, and Miss Dorothy Byrnes is to be maid of honor.

Annual Women's Formal

Five hundred students at University of Southern California were present at the largest annual women's formal banquet ever held at the Trojan university Wednesday evening in the student union, given jointly by the Women's Self-Government Association, the Y.W.C.A. and Women's Athletic Association.

Held every spring to bestow public recognition upon the co-eds who have been most outstanding in student activities during the year, this banquet serves as a final get-together of all women students, providing an occasion for the presentation of honorary awards. Miss Doris Tennant presided as toastmistress and was awarded the Town and Gown Cup by Mrs. Von Klein-Smid, as the girl making the greatest contribution to the university in student activities, a similar cup being given Miss Betty Tibbott by the Trojan Y.W.C.A., for her services to that organization.

Honor scrolls were given Misses Doris Tennant, Isabel Loftus, Bonnie Jean Lockwood, Betty Ferris, Pauline Mather, Sarah Fay, Florence Wachter, Jean Vaughn, Grace Wright and Ruth Goldman as being the most outstanding girls at the University, presented by Dean Crawford, while Miss Gwendolyn Patton received the Pi Lambda Theta trophy for scholarship and achievement in the school of education.

Nivous Sack received the Rho Chi award and the Alpha Chi Alpha, honorary journalism sorority cup, was given Miss Jessica Heber, the former editor of the Wampus, monthly humorous magazine.

Five senior co-eds were rewarded for eminence in athletics by Southern California honorary sweaters, Misses Helen Rockwell, Lucinda Dumpke, Elizabeth Quinn, Ruth Runker and Doris Tennant, while the Women's Athletic Association gave a ring to Miss Florence Wachter for services and superiority in athletics.

Mortar Board (national honorary organization for senior women who are most proficient in activities) elections were announced to include Misses Lucille Huebner, Janet McCoy, Dorothy Beech, Miriam Brownstetter, Helen Peterson, Helen Pargellis, Alberta Dudley, Mary Reasoner, Virginia Monosmith and Winifred Biegler.

Leftover Fish

Leftover fish should be used the next day or not at all. It may taste all right and still cause illness if kept a couple of days, as the trouble begins near the bone and may show no signs of decay from the outer meat.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, May 18. (Exclusive) To the smart woman, there is no detail of the wardrobe which is unimportant. Especially in America, where legs are lovely and silk both beautiful and durable, stockings are of prime importance. They have a fashion trend as definite, and perhaps as changing, as that of any other part of the ensemble. Last year all the world was comprised of devotees to sun-tan. Stockings naturally took the bronze tints of the skin. But the toasted biscuit shades are no longer as outsanding as they were. A new cast has fallen across the stocking color range. We call it "blue fox." You know the shade of a blue fox, the depth of its color. Try to approximate it in your street stockings. It is not gray, but nearer beige overcast with dull blue.

All your stocking wardrobe should be darker than it was last year. I think this develops from the vast popularity of the tailleur. The beige hyphen between hem and shoe breaks the long lines which are now so desirable. Even, for evening clothes, in instances where the dress is particularly long and of an interesting color, women are having their hosiery dyed to match their frocks. This return to a once very smart and always becoming style will be welcomed by many women who hated to see it outmoded. An amusing evening stocking note from Paris says that some women are wearing beige stockings and slippers as complements to black evening gowns.

To Shine or Not to Shine

One of the most exciting things that has happened to stockings in recent months is the development of the lustre-less surface. Last spring I was one of the "bright young things" who tried wearing her stockings inside out because they looked so much sheerer and had no sheen. This seems to have been the actual genesis of the new stocking. Their original weave was apparently the normal one reversed, though now they have been improved far beyond that. Also it is said that the sheenless stocking does not waterspot. However that may be, there is no doubt that it is most becoming to the leg. If you choose your shades cleverly, it should be almost impossible to tell whether or not you are wearing a stocking at all, with your white summer sport clothes.

Shorts for Sports

Sport stockings are in a way more important than they have ever before been, simply because they are worn with the shortest skirts of the day and with the less-than-knee-length shorts. There are certain classical conventional stockings which are always appropriate, such as the lisle stocking with a clock. Cooler are the Saxon lisle mesh stockings. The imported angora socks for tennis are a boon to the serious player. For riding, great comfort may be had from lisle and silk, combined.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

VEAL MOUSSE

One cupful of finely chopped cooked veal, one tablespoonful of gelatine, one-fourth of a cupful of cold veal stock, one cupful of hot veal stock, one cupful of whipped cream, one-half of a green pepper, finely chopped, one pimiento, cut in small strips, one teaspoonful salt, seasoning of paprika. Chop the meat very fine freeing it from all fat and gristle. Soak the gelatine in the cold stock for five minutes, then dissolve it in hot stock, add the meat and the seasonings. Allow to cool, stirring it occasionally. When it begins to harden fold in the stiffly whipped cream. Pour into a mold, that has been rinsed out in cold water decorate the sides with the pimiento and green pepper, cut in thin strips. Chill thoroughly, unmold on a platter, garnished with lettuce, water cress, olives and radishes and serve with a green mayonnaise.

RHUBARB AND ORANGE JAM

Wash and slice the rhubarb, to each two cupfuls, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, and the grated rind and pulp of three medium-sized oranges, be sure and discard the seeds, and the white pith. Place the mixture in a sauce pan and cook it slowly for two hours. Place it in hot sterilized jars and paraffin when cold.

LETTUCE SAUTE

Wash as many medium-sized heads of lettuce as are necessary for service. Remove the outside leaves, place them in a sauce pan and add enough boiling water to keep from burning. Cook them slowly for ten minutes, drain them, and place in the colander and pour cold water over them. Press the water out and dry them carefully with a soft cloth. Have ready in a saute pan, one-fourth of a cupful of butter, place the lettuce in this and allow to heat through, turning it once. Season it with salt and white pepper, and serve immediately.

STRAWBERRY FOAM

One tablespoonful of gelatine, one cupful of cold water, the whites of three eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of strawberries, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Soak the gelatine in the cold water, dissolve over steam, then mix with it the sugar, and the lemon juice. Strain the jelly and set it aside until beginning to harden, as soon as it is partially firm, beat the whites of the eggs to a froth, then whip the jelly into them, a litle at a time. When it is a smooth sponge, fold into it the berries that have been washed and dried. Place the mixture in a mold and set in the ice box for several hours before serving.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

An Unpleasant Job

When the frying pan has been used for onions or fish and you do not relish cleaning it, soak it during the meal with a strong solution of ammonia and water. It will take away odor and the pan will wash readily.

Dry Lettuce

Lettuce that is prepared just before serving should be wrapped in a large cloth and whirled around in a circle a couple of times. Then the lettuce will be perfectly dry before the dressing is applied.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Pray never give way to despair;
'Twill all end right somehow, somewhere.
—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Many, many times has Nanny Meadow Mouse been greatly frightened. Every Meadow Mouse is greatly frightened many times. Fright is a part of the daily life of the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. Most of them barely escape with their lives time and again. So perhaps it is well that they recover quickly from fright. As Danny Meadow Mouse says: "When a thing's over, it's over; so why worry about it?"

Nanny Meadow Mouse ordinarily would have forgotten her fright almost the instant it was over, but the fright she had just had was so unusual that she couldn't forget it so easily. Just think how you would feel if you were in a dark box and a great giant picked up that box and carried you off in it, swinging it back and forth and finally tossing it away to land with a crash. Just try to think how you would feel, and then you will know somewhat how Nanny Meadow Mouse felt. You see, she was in an old oil can that Farmer Brown's Boy had picked up and finally thrown into the bushes, where it would be out of sight. Of course, he hadn't known that Nanny was in it.

When that can landed in the bushes it happened to fall in such a way that it remained standing upright. Now, as you know, the only entrance to the can was in the top. After the shock of the landing of the can on the ground, Nanny lay shivering and shaking for a few minutes, wondering what would happen next. Looking up she could see the blue, blue sky—just a wee bit of it—through the little round doorway. Of course, being inside that can, she could see nothing of what Farmer Brown's boy was doing. She strained her ears and she heard his footsteps gradually sounding fainter and fainter. Finally all was still. Presently she faintly heard the notes of Carol the Meadow Lark singing over on the Green Meadows. A hornet buzzed for a few moments at the little round doorway and then went on. Nanny's heart then stopped beating so fast.

"I'll wait a few minutes more," thought she, "and then I'll go out and have a look around. That great giant certainly has gone away. I don't know what has happened, but I have a feeling that I am a long way from where I was when that giant came along."

Of course, he hadn't known that Nanny was in it

So Nanny waited a few minutes and then she prepared to go out. Until that very minute she hadn't realized that the only doorway that she had was now in the roof, so to speak. You see, when she had made that old can her home it had been on its side and the little round doorway had, of course, been just where it always should be. Now the can was standing upright and that round doorway was above her head. When she realized this Nanny had another fright. She couldn't climb the sides of that tin can. Of course, not! No one, no matter how good a climber, can climb a smooth tin wall. She couldn't jump up to that little round doorway. She tried and tried, but it was of no use. She was a prisoner! There was no doubt about it—she was a prisoner! The worst of it was, she couldn't see but that she would have to remain a prisoner.

"Oh dear! Oh, dear!" cried Nanny. "I shall have to stay in this dreadful place until I starve to death! I can eat my bed, but then I shalyl starve. Oh dear! O dear!"

Nanny's bed was made of grass and Nanny eats grass. That is why she said that she could eat her bed. Poor little Nanny Meadow Mouse! Do you wonder that she was in despair!

DOES YOUR BABY REFUSE EVERYTHING BUT MILK?

The baby who is nursed too long or bottle-fed beyond the first year is almost certain to refuse all other food except milk. Here are three letters in the same mail bewailing the fact that a baby of eight months won't eat cereals, a baby of nine months (exclusively breast fed) won't accept vegetables and a boy of fourteen months, still bottle-fed, takes very little other food. And also is sleeping with his mother and father! Very, very bad, that last.

The following advice is intended for all of you, Mrs. H. S. G., Mrs. Wm. B. and Mrs. G. R. Please take it personally.

In the case of the fourteen months old boy, he should be put into a bed of his own today. No more night feedings, which he probably won't demand when sleeping alone, and no more bottle feedings. Just stop them without further delay. We offer a leaflet on "Cup Feedings" which covers this step in detail, and which you may have for the usual self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed with your request.

Give the child three meals a day, at seven, twelve, and six-thirty or seven at night. Orange juice and cereal for breakfast and a cup of milk if he will drink it, but no dramatics if he refuses.

For the noon meal offer any variety of vegetables, toast or bread, egg or chopped meat, and a milk dessert. Milk from cup if he will take it.

If he will accept a small cup of milk he may have one between this meal and his supper. At supper time give him cereal, stewed fruit and cup of milk again.

The breast fed child of nine months should be weaned immediately. Our leaflet on that subject covers this thoroughly. Will you send the necessary self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for it? Give four meals a day only, and offer sieved or mashed ripe bananas in place of the cereal. Try all types of cereal, don't force any one kind, and see that they are well cooked, delicately warm, served with milk and a little sugar. Give baby an opportunity to feed herself and if no particular quantity is forced, almost any food offered will be devoured.

For the child who refuses vegetables, use them in soup or sieve them and add them in small quantities to some food the child does like. Try all kinds, because some babies refuse one kind and will willingly eat another. In this feeding proposition there is no such word as "fail" either in the bright lexicon of youth or in the mother's vocabulary. She is smarter than baby and it is her duty to manage ways in which the child will get a varied diet of the proper solid foods, without making an issue of it. Tact is superior to force always.

The child who is overfed on milk very often loses his appetite for other foods. Our best authorities now are voicing what has been a common opinion for some time—that too much milk is the cause of lack of appetite and it may be ended when less milk is given to drink, so that baby has the appetite to want and accept other foods.

GOOD FOOD COMBINATIONS

Those who have strong digestive organs are inclined to ridicule the idea of good food combinations because they sometimes eat meals of inharmonious conglomerations and apparently suffer no immediate ill effects. Even doctors sometimes fall into this error by trying food combinations upon themselves. I was, myself, gifted with a strong digestive apparatus and I did not realize the importance of food combinations until I began prescribing to sick, run-down patients.

Those who are afflicted with weak digestive organs or who suffer from certatin diseases, such as eczema, asthma or rheumatism, for example, must learn to be especially careful with their food combinations if they hope to become permanently well. Sometimes sick individuals are so sensitive that the least mistake in combining their food produces almost immediate and severe discomfort. It was from watching this type of patient that I first got my clew as to the importance of food combinations. Those who are not so sensitive to changes in the diet may not notice the ill effect of wrongly combining foods, but I am satisfied, nevertheless, that an injurious effect results which if not immediately apparent is cumulative in effect over a series of years, and gradually wears down the constitution so that one may become susceptible to serious diseases later in life.

I write frequently in my daily articles about the importances of food combinations, and for the benefit of those who have not yet learned to combine their food properly, I endeavor to occasionally outline lessons on food combinations.

You have probably heard that the digestion of food begins in the mouth. This is true, but in reality only one kind of food is digested by the saliva, and that one food is starch. Other foods, such as meat, greens and fruits are not digested in any way in the mouth except that chewing breaks up these foods into small particles. The ptyalin or digestive ferment in the saliva acts only upon starch and partly converts it into sugar. This digestion of starch by the ptyalin continues for several minutes after the starch has entered the stomach until the hydrochloric acid of the gastric juice becomes too plentiful.

The stomach, itself, puts out large quantities of gastric juices, especially for the purpose of converting proteins into soluble substances. The digestive juice of the stomach has no effect whatever upon the starches, greens and sugars except to make them sour because of the hydrochloric acid contained in the gastric juice. The stomach's juices do not have any action upon digesting starch as there is no part of the gastric juices which has the property to act upon starch. As the food passes out of the stomach into the small intestines, the bile, which is alkaline, is mixed with the food, and if the mixture is already too acid, the bile is capable of converting it into a liquid alkaline, and the remaining food is then acted upon by the amylopain, steapsin, tryspin and intestinal juices. These ferments chemically digest the different food elements and can handle any mixture if enough bile has been combined with it. The chief difficulty seems to be in getting bad mixtures through the stomach and into the intestines without setting up a conflict between the digestive juices of the stomach and those of the intestines.

Coarse Sugar

Avoid the coarse granulated sugar that seems to flood the market every now and then. It is hopeless in cake baking and is not even nice to serve for tea and coffee.

"SPIRIT" BEAUTY DIRECTS DIGGING

Pasadenan Avers "Senorita" Guides Treasure Hunt

Police Summoned in Belief Grave Being Prepared

Digger Wants to Excavate Two Acres in Search

PASADENA, May 18. — Directed to the spot by the spirit of a beautiful woman, Meyers S. Rochelle of 477 West Claremont street, reported to police today that he will seek permission to excavate two acres of land bounded by Armada Drive and Zanja street in an effort to locate treasures of the early California missions.

Late last night, the police received a report that two men were digging a grave at the foot of a giant palm tree in a wooded estate off Zanja street.

Rushing to the scene of the asserted grave digging, Detective Lieutenants Harry Thomas and Edward Ewing discovered Rochelle, and an old prospector whom he had employed, throwing earth from a hole which measured eight feet long and six feet deep. A lantern and batery of candles had furnished illumination for their strange labors.

Rochelle explained that he is the descendent of an early California family possessed of a tradition that one day its members would regain their riches through following the directions of the ghost of a beautiful senorita.

He asserted that three weeks ago, while passing the Armada Drive and Zanja-street intersection, he saw a vision which made him certain that he had been selected to retrieve the family fortune.

"A beautiful lady spirit floated over the palm tree and whispered so clearly that I could make no mistake, 'Dig all about here and you will be rich!'" Rochelle explained to the suspicious officers.

"I could not find the owner of the property, who lives in Los Angeles, so I thought I better do the digging at night to avoid trouble."

This morning, Rochelle was given time off from a local laundry where he is employed, in order that he might fill up the hole before the owner of the property learned of his activities.

"As soon as I can locate the owner and get permission my partner and I will dig up every foot of ground in that vicinity, because there was no mistake about the vision and I know the gold is there," was his parting shot as he scurried back to the laundry.

Chess Carnival Will be Held

SIERRA MADRE, May 18.—Chess players of San Gabriel Valley cities have been invited by the Chamber of Commerce here to join the Sierra Madre Chess Club in a San Gabriel Valley "chess carnival," to be staged here on June 21, executives of the chamber announced today.

The event will mark the ninety-third anniversary of the birth of Paul Morphy, greatest United States chess player. Games will not be restricted to expert players, however, officials stated.

Matches will be arranged with teams from the twenty-two cities having membership in the San Gabriel Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Boy Winner as Baker of Cake

ONTARIO, May 18.—Honors in cake baking, ordinarily belonging to girls, have been taken from them by Eddie Thomas, 14-year-old boy, member of a club in South Campus avenue.

When Mrs. F. L. Jones, mother-directer of the boys' club and a similar club for girls, announced a cake-baking contest, the boys entered into it with willingness, and the product produced by Thomas was declared the sweepstakes winner.

Five boys and eight girls entered the contest.

REDLANDS JUNIORS IN ORIGINAL COMEDY

Martha Logan

REDLANDS, May 18.—Prominent among the juniors at the University of Redlands, who are preparing the annual junior night production which will be given Tuesday evening, at the Redlands High School auditorium, is Miss Martha Logan of Long Beach. She will carry the leading co-ed role in the snappy original musical comedy, which was written and is being directed and produced entirely by members of the class of '31.

An original theme song, written by Wabe Wolfe of Redlands, Ila Mull of Pasadena and Dot Gardner of Baldwin Park, will be one of the principal features of the production. Position of director is being filled by Miss Betty Claas of Corona, who has been prominent in university dramatic circles, and who was reader for the Women's Glee Club on its recent Southern California tour.

The junior night production is an all-class project, the cast calling for a large number of students, and the production staff demanding the abilities of many more. Angus Hull of Denver, is the business manager, and is assisted by Class President Ivan Cummings of this city.

Song of Crows to be Hushed With Shotguns

ONTARIO, May 18.—The crow song, familiar and taunting to the ranchers of the district south of Ontario will be silenced, or at least demoralized for a while, Wednesday.

A shooting campaign against the crows is being arranged to rid the ranching community of the huge birds that feast on the young walnuts, grain crops and pheasants' eggs.

If the crow war is not successful Wednesday it may be continued until it is.

Ranchers complain that they are losing their young crops to the avaricious crows, and the only logical method of halting the depredations is via the shotgun route.

MERGER OF LIBRARY BRANCHES DROPPED

TEMPLE CITY, May 18.—The proposed merger of the county branches of the Temple City and South Santa Anita libraries has been dropped, at least for the present, according to B. K. Wilson, president of the Temple City Chamber of Commerce. The proposal to merge the branches was opposed by both communities. Should an agreement be reached at a future time on a consolidation, a site satisfactory to the patrons of both libraries will be sought.

MUSICIAN WINS RENOWN

Young Covina Resident Writes Composition to Be Heard at Festival in Germany

COVINA, May 18.—Famous as a composer of modern music, Roy Harris, who has spent the last several seasons in New York where music critics acclaimed the first performance of his composition for the string quartet, is now visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harris, of West Puente street.

The Harris family moved to Covina when the young composer was 5 years of age. He attended the Lark Ellen grammar school here and was graduated from the Covina Union High School in June 1916.

Modern classical in treatment, Harris's work has won fame and attention both in America and Europe where he studied in 1928 and 1929 under a Guggenheim Fellowship appointment. Harris's work was selected last month to represent the United States at the International Festival of Moderne Music in Europe, at Frankfort.

American Portrait, a symphony in four movements which was completed last fall, will have its premiere performance at Rochester, N. Y., in November. Its second performance will be given in New York City next February. This work is for full orchestra.

Harris's early musical education began locally. In his high school days he studied harmony under Arthur Farwell in Los Angeles. Later he studied orchestration under Modeste Altschuler of Los Angeles, and Arthur Bliss, British composer then living in Santa Barbara. In New York Harris studied counterpoint under Risario Scalero, and while in Paris on the Guggenheim scholarship, he studied Boulanger.

Valencia Prices Highest of Year

COVINA, May 18.—Citrus growers here who made shipments of Valencias over the week-end, received the highest prices of the year for their fruit, according to George Hutchinson, secretary of the Covina Fruit Exchange.

While prices are high, local fruit is not yet matured in large quantities, and much of it being "light," sweating processes have had to be prolonged.

For this week last year, Hutchinson's figures show, local Valencias averaged only $2.65 f.o.b. Covina. Providing warm weather continues in the East and if the market is not glutted by the Valencias maturing at one time, prices should remain at a substantially higher figure than for many years, officials believe.

Storm Over Dismissal of Two Oceanside Teachers

Reinstatement to Be Sought; Board Backs Suffield

OCEANSIDE, May 18.—Student opposition to dismissal of two popular teachers at Oceanside-Carlsbad Union High School and contemplated removal by the school board of two more, may come to a climax tomorrow, when resignation of C. L. Suffield, principal, will be demanded by about 400 of the 425 pupils enrolled. At any rate, this was the assertion made here today by a student leader and member of a committee appointed by pupils at a "revolt" assembly Friday to seek removal of Suffield and reappointment for the next school year of the dismissed teachers.

If Suffield declines to resign, some of the students say they will refuse to attend any more classes this year, will not return to school next year, and tomorow will stage a protest parade through Oceanside's business district.

Rebellious students assert they are backed by their parents and by seventeen of the nineteen members of the school teaching staff. The revolt is aimed against refusal of the school board to reappoint C. E. Line, for two years aviation and auto shop instructor, and Lee Durham, vice-principal and woodshop teacher.

The school board has not reappointed Miss M. B. Holderman, English and journalism teacher, and Mrs. Minnie MacPherson, Latin and English teacher. Both have been at the school two years.

"The school board has reappointed Suffield for next year and will be firm in its support of him," E. C. Batcheldor, president of the board said today. The principal, the school board president said, "has done a great work at the school in the one year he has been there."

Selling Class Addresses Now Under Inquiry

PASADENA, May 18. — Charges that a local school employee is selling names and addresses of candidates for graduation from Pasadena Junior College and John Muir Technical High School at 3 cents a name to a Los Angeles advertising firm are being investigated by John A. Sexson, school superintendent, it was learned today.

Local merchants assert that the school authorities refused to release the names of graduation candidates on the ground that orders to withhold the names and addresses of pupils were issued following the Hickman case. The merchants feel that if the lists have been released that they should be supplied to local stores without charge.

"If such a list has been supplied by a member of the school staff, that person is guilty of a serious violation of trust," Sexson asserted. "Information concerning pupils enrolled in the schools is strictly confidential and should not be released to outsiders under any circumstances."

As soon as one of the lists offered by the Los Angeles firm is placed in his hands, Sexson intimated that he will employ a private detective to trace the source of the "leak."

Azusa Planning for Memorial Day Ceremonies

AZUSA, May 18.—Memorial Day ceremonies in which cities of the San Gabriel Valley will participate, will be held Friday, the 30th inst., beginning at 9:30 a.m. in Oakdale Cemetery, according to plans formulated by the Chamber of Commerce.

The program is now in the hands of H. M. Salisbury, who will be presiding officer of the day, assisted by L. G. Sheldon of Glendora and William Hoogendyk of Covina.

The American Legion posts and auxiliaries throughout the valley will participate and the Woman's Relief Corps, Boy Scouts and other patriotic organizations will take part in the decoration of graves. Ivan Pyle, Covina Legionnaire, has been selected to be grand marshal. The Citrus Union High School band under the direction of W. H. Potter will render music for the occasion.

The day will be climaxed with an 'old-timers'" picnic held annually in Gum Grove, a quarter mile east of the corner of Azusa and Sierra Madre avenues, north of here.

Valencia Pack Now in Stride

REDLANDS, May 18.—Packing of Valencia oranges in the Redlands district swung into its real stride this week. Most of the packing-houses are busy now, although not as busy as they would be provided there was more seasonable weather. It has been impossible for the pickers to get into the groves much this week, cloudy and damp weather making it impracticable to pick for several days.

There will be steady shipments of Valencia oranges from now until the close of the season from this district. Most of the houses will be busy off and on during the summer, for no effort is made to rush Valencia oranges to the market. The light crop makes it possible to spread the fruit out so there will be a keen demand all the time and little competition with other fruits.

PERSONNEL OF FLYERS ANNOUNCED

Sixteen Pilots, Fourteen Co-pilots Fly on Western Division of T.A.T.-Maddux

GLENDALE, May 18.—The T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines took a census today of the flying personnel operating over the western division which extends from Clovis, N. M. on the east to San Francisco on the north and Agua Caliente on the south, all radiating from this city. Detailed data concerning each aviator was assembled by Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, chief of operations.

Additional to Tomlinson himself and Felix Preez, flight superintendent and chief pilot, there are sixteen pilots and fourteen co-pilots. The oldest man is 55 years of age, the youngest but 22 among the pilots. The oldest co-pilot is 38, the youngest 24.

One pilot has more than 7000 hours in the air to his credit; three more than 5000; four more than 4000; six over 3000; and four more than 2000. All co-pilots are also expert mechanicians, and all except one have more than 2000 air hours to their credit. The one exception has almost reached the 1800-hour mark. All pilots are licensed transport pilots with the highest rating issued by the United States government.

"We have ten trimotored airplanes on the western division," said Tomlinson, "and we think we have as fine a flying personnel as with any transport company in the world. Three-quarters of all our aviators are either army or navy trained, and absolutely every man is what is quite correctly called "a natural-born flyer." There are such men, just as there are natural born writers, musicians, actors and the like, and our flying personnel are all airmen by nature."

Asphyxiation Nearly Takes Forgetful Girl

SANTA MONICA, May 18.—Absent-mindedness almost caused the death last night of Autie Campbell, 16 years of age, of 309 Broadway, and her father, J. O. Campbell.

Miss Campbell intended to bake some bread but after she had placed the dough in the oven and turned on the gas she forgot to ignite the gas. She went into the living-room of her home and sat there with her father, both of them oblivious of the fact that they were slowly being asphyxiated.

Just as Miss Campbell became unconscious, her father became aware of a strange drowsiness in himself and when he looked up and saw that his daughter had apparently fainted, he roused himself and half carried and half dragged her to the lawn outside the house, although he was very faint himself.

Neighbors called the police and by the time they arrived, the open air had completely revived the elder Campbell, but it was necessary to take the girl to the County Health Clinic and work over her there before she could be revived.

TEACHERS' RESIDENCE RULING PUT IN FORCE

SAN GABRIEL, May 18. — All teachers in the San Gabriel grammar school district must reside in the district, according to action of the board of school trustees in voting to enforce an old ruling requiring all instructors to reside within the district. It will go into effect twelve weeks after the start of the fall semester. The ruling affects only a small part of the fifty-two teachers, according to Conrad E. H. Hale, school superintendent, and only four instructors, who own homes outside the district, will be seriously inconvenienced.

BOY'S BRUISE BRINGS DEATH

San Diego Lad Apparently Incurs Only Minor Injury When Struck by Auto, But Soon Afterward Dies

SAN DIEGO, May 18.—San Diego's traffic death toll stands today at twenty-one following the death late last night of Eugene Macevicz, 12 years of age, who succumbed in his home, 930 Thirty-first street, to injuries received last Thursday when he was knocked from his bicycle at Twenty-eighth street and National avenue by an automobile driven by C. B. Davis of this city.

When the accident happened the police ambulance was called to the scene, but the boy, according to Dr. Paul R. Brust, emergency surgeon, refused medical treatment. The boy's father reached the scene about the same time and took the lad home. His injury at that time was a bruise on the head.

The following day, the police were told last night, the boy was taken to a local hospital where X-ray photographs were made but no broken bones nor fractures were discovered. Yesterday, however, Eugene was said to have complained of a severe headache and suddenly fainted last night. Dr. Brust said death might have been due to a blood clot on the brain.

Members of the fire department and the police ambulance crew worked with the boy more than an hour trying to restore life but their efforts were without avail.

Peter Pan Club Building Will be Opened Soon

REDLANDS, May 18.—Probably the most beautiful building in Bear Valley will soon be opened, Percy E. Hicks, well-known engineer, reported today on his return from a business trip to the valley. This is the clubhouse of the Peter Pan Country Club being developed by the Big Bear Land Company on the old Shay ranch at Baldwin Lake.

The building is an immense structure in rustic finish with every convenience. It is beautifully finished inside with two immense and striking fireplaces. One in the ladies' parlor is constructed of white marble from Arctic Canyon and the stones are set with green mortar.

Hicks says the road to the valley is in good condition. There is no snow on the road, although from Green Valley over to the dam there is plenty of snow along the road.

COMMODORE IN NAVY OF DENMARK EXPIRES

SAN CLEMENTE, May 18.—Word was received here today by cable of the death in Copenhagen, Denmark, of Commodore Sir Regnar Hammer of the Royal Danish Navy, 75 years of age. Commodore Hammer was internationally known from his exploration work in Greenland in 1897 to 1899, and had the distinction of being one of very few foreigners who were given the title of "Sir" in England, this title being bestowed upon him for special services rendered during the World War. An only son, Capt. Haakon H. Hammer, well known from his association with Roald Amundsen, is now a resident of San Clemente and Los Angeles.

Rev. Evans Will Resign Corona Church Pulpit

CORONA, May 18.—Coming as a distinct surprise this morning was the announcement made from the pulpit by Rev. Charles E. Evans, pastor of the First Congregational Church, that next Sunday he would tender his resignation as pastor of the church, and that he would appreciate it if his resignation was accepted immediately.

In explanation of his contemplated action Rev. Evans stated that he felt it his duty to be nearer his parents, both of whom reside in Canada and are well advanced in years. Their health has not been of the best during recent weeks, he said, and he feels that the 3000 miles which separate them is more than he can conscientiously permit to exist.

Rev. Evans came here six years ago and since that time has been pastor of the local church. He has been popular and his intention to sever his connection with the church and community will be deeply regretted by all who know him, it is declared.

It is expected the church members will accept his resignation when it is offered next Sunday, but not without sincere regrets.

He was president of the Rotary Club and proved to be one of the most capable men to hold that office. He was sent as a delegate to the international convention of Rotarians held in Brussels, Belgium, three years ago.

Constableship Candidates Out

REDLANDS, May 18.—There will be several candidates in the field for the office of constable of Redlands township, it is reported. Joe Rivera, who has been constable since 1888, has announced he will not make the race but some of his friends say that they will file papers for him and that he will be elected.

Those who intend to be candidates are John Stocker of the Redlands police force, Roy Shaw, Mel J. Ruahen, a former police officer of Ontario, and I. Jones of Mentone.

Rivera laughs now and says his being elected forty-two years ago was a fluke. "There were seven candidates in the field and everyone said I did not have a chance but the vote was so split up I went over with several votes to spare," he says.

COUPLE WED SIXTY YEARS

Dr. and Mrs. Francis Corey of Alhambra Observe Their Anniversary in Recalling Useful Lives

ALHAMBRA, May 18.—Today Dr. and Mrs. Francis E. Corey of 132 South Third street are happily reviewing sixty years of married life. Their anniversary was observed quietly at home with only a few close friends and relatives present. They have lived in Alhambra twenty-nine years.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis Corey

They were married on May 18, 1870, in a big colonial mansion known as Wightmere, near Westboro, Mass. Dr. Corey was then a recent graduate of the medical school of Harvard University. The young couple made their home in Westboro, where Dr. Corey practiced his profession.

In 1901 they came to California and settled here. Two years later Dr. Corey was appointed city health officer in which office he served for twenty-one years, when he retired after fifty-four years of medical practice.

Outstanding among the many changes which Dr. Corey has witnessed has been the progress in medical science. When he was a medical student, he recalls seeing for the first time bacteria under a mierscope. It was shown to him by Oliver Wendell Holmes, who was then an instructor in Harvard.

Mrs. Corey is 83 years of age, while her husband is 84. They have one son, Robert P. Corey, also a resident here.

P.-T.A. OFFICERS CHOSEN

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 18.—Mrs. P. W. Brown has been elected president of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Carmelita school for next year. Mrs. Howard Laurent will act as vice-president, Mrs. Albert A. Weston, secretary; Mrs. Ida Fahnstock, treasurer; Mrs. Peter T. Frederickson, historian, and Mrs. Leroy Kelly, auditor.

SANTA MONICA, May 18.—Under the auspices of the Masonic Club of the University of California at Los Angeles, the Wentworth Players will stage the comedy, "Kempy," next Friday night at the new Masonic clubhouse, Westwood. Proceeds will be used for general activities of the club. Martha Wentworth has been rehearsing the same cast, which made a hit with the play at the Miles Memorial Theater in this city.

San Diego Official Gives Praise for Co-operation in Employing Local Labor

SAN DIEGO, May 18.—Local contractors now working on city jobs have given the city 100 per cent co-operation in enforcement of specifications requiring San Diego labor on the work, A. V. Doeddel, city purchasing agent, has informed the City Council.

The purchasing agent, who was appointed to enforce the local labor specification in municipal contracts, specifically mentions Charles and F. W. Steffgen, R. F. Hazard Contracting Company, O. U. Miracle Company, F. G. Fenton and Ernest Ward as contractors with whom the city has experienced no trouble over labor.

Difficulties over labor have been experienced with every outside contractor awarded work recently, reports to the Council show. The Western Pipe and Steel Company, which has the contract for laying seventeen miles of steel pipe between Lower Otay Reservoir and the city limits, is reorganizing its crews to comply with labor specifications.

A total of 170 men are now being employed under the city water works and pier contracts, the Council was informed.

Sleepwalker Breaks Window

GLENDALE, May 18. — While walking in his sleep early this morning, W. T. Morgan, 28 years of age, walked through a French window in the ground floor bedroom of his home at 1201 Moncado Drive.

He awakened immediately and found a cut in his right arm bleeding so profusely that he called up the police department, saying he was alone in the house and feared he might bleed to death if the flow was not stopped.

An ambulance was sent from the Glendale Emergency Hospital and, after having his arm sewed up there, he was returned to his home.

Half of Church Funds Raised

CHINO, May 18. — Seeking to raise $35,000 for construction of a new Methodist church here, workers in less than two days raised half of the amount, according to report today by Attorney Ralph C. Homan, secretary of the campaign.

The public in general is subscribing to the fund. The new church will be erected at Sixth street and Riverside Drive. The old church building is to be moved to the southeast corner of the property where it will be made over into a social hall, with stage, dressing-rooms and kitchen. A Spanish-type parsonage is also to be built adjoining the church. Rev. Harry Branton is pastor.
